AWARD

From the order of reference it will be clear that the alleged industrial dispute is purported to be between two sides, on one side being Messrs. East Bengal Engineering Works and their seven contractors named separately and on the other side there being the workmen of the said seven contractors represented by East Bengal Engineering Works Union. Accordingly separate notices were issued on the Company, the seven contractors and also the Union concerned. So the Company, the Union and also the contractors have entered appearance separately and filed their respective written statements. The case of the workmen as represented by the said Union is as follows:

The Company concerned is a prosperous one and is owned and managed by the famous "Roys" of Bhaigyakul. The Company has 250 workmen as their direct employees and another 150 workmen alleged to be under different contractors. But the Company has appointed these contractors only to deprive certain workmen of their just and equitable dues. The contractors are really agents of the Company and the so-called workmen employed by the contractors are really employees of the Company for all practical purposes. It is also urged that the workmen under the contractors do the same works and duties as the regular and direct employees of the Company. It is pointed out that though the employees under the contractors do similar duties and attend similar jobs, they are actually paid much less than the regular employees. They are deprived of other amenities also which are normally enjoyed by the regular employees of the Company. So the Union urges that there should be no discriminatory treatment between the direct employees of the Company and the indirect employees under the so-called contractors. The parties having failed to settle their dispute amicably, the present reference has been made to this Tribunal for settlement of the dispute in respect of different matters mentioned in different issues.

The Company's case on the other hand is in short this:

The Company denies that the said seven contractors are really pseudo-contractors or agents of the Company. It is urged that these contractors are really genuine contractors for labour and the employees working under the contractors get their wages, etc., from the contractors themselves. The Company has got nothing to do with the contractors' employees directly. The contractors are actually paid at varying rates according to some schedule on the basis of outturn or work done by the contractors. The contractors had been paying to their own employees in their own way and the Company has no say or responsibility in the matter. It is the definite case of the Company that there is no relationship of master and servant between the Company and the contractors' workmen or employees. It is also pointed out that of the seven contractors mentioned in the order of reference, three ceased to be contractors of the Company by the time the written statement was filed by the Company. It is accordingly contended that there is no industrial dispute between the Company and the workmen under the said seven contractors.

It may be mentioned in this connection that this reference was made to this Tribunal on the 25th of March 1959 and the Union filed its written statement on 1st May 1959. The Company filed its written statement on 15th June 1959. According to these statements Shri N. R. Ghosh, Shri S. N. Das, Shri Rajen Adak and Shri Biren Ghorai were the four contractors who were working as contractors by the middle of 1959. The other three ceased to be contractors before that date. These four contractors also appeared before this Tribunal and filed separate written statements. The substance of the written statements of these four contractors is that they were for all legal purposes, independent labour contractors of the Company and not agents of the Company as alleged. They all admit that they had contract with the Company to execute certain jobs for the Company and they used to employ their own labour for executing these jobs. It is also conceded by them that they were required to do those jobs for the Company on account of temporary and fluctuating increase of work in the Company, the nature of work being essentially temporary and casual type. Thus, these four contractors clearly state that their workmen have no relationship of master and servant with the Company direct. Besides these four contractors, two of the other three contractors who ceased to have any connection with the Company by the time the reference was made also appeared before this Tribunal and filed separate written statements. Shri S. K. Routh and Shri B. B. Pal were the two contractors who thus filed written statements. Their contention was that they were independent contractors, executing jobs on contract with the Company and they used to employ their own labour. According to these contractors, these contracts were of a very short duration and temporary, and the number of workers also were few and fluctuating. The workers working under the contractors were all temporary and casual and they had no relationship of master and servant with the Company. It may be pointed out in this connection that Shri P. K. Kundu (No. 3 in the order of reference), contractor, neither appeared before this Tribunal nor filed any written statement.

Before I proceed further I may point out that this reference has rather a chequered career. I have already mentioned that this reference was made early in 1959 and by the end of 1959 the Company raised a preliminary objection alleging that the workmen of the contractors not being employees of the Company the reference so far it concerns the present Company is incompetent. It was insisted that this preliminary point should be decided first before going into the evidence on the merit of the different issues. My learned predecessor in office by his order No. 12, dated 18th December 1959, directed that the decision regarding the preliminary point raised on behalf of the Company should be reserved and would be decided after the hearnig of the case in full on all points. The Company felt aggrieved as a result of this order and moved the Hon'ble High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. This rule was finally disposed of by the Hon'ble High Court, on the 4th of December 1962 with a certain direction. The direction of the Hon'ble High Court in this connection is:

> "The best course for the Tribunal is to take all evidence, on all the points referred to it, and thereafter to decide the preliminary point, first of all, and if it overrules the preliminary point, then only to come to its decision on other points."

In accordance with this direction of the Hon'ble High Court this Tribunal called upon all the parties to come before this Tribunal with all their evidences. Accordingly evidences as adduced by the parties were taken on all the points at issue on 22nd April 1963. Arguments were heard at length on the following day. It may be mentioned in this connection that some witnesses were examined on behalf of the Company and the workmen, but no oral evidence has been adduced on behalf of the contractors, though, Shri C.L. Ganguly, Advocate, was present at the Tribunal on behalf of the contractors on both the days of hearing.

So, before I consider the different issues on merit, I must see whether the preliminary objection raised on behalf of the Company actually prevails or not.

According to the Company the very order of reference shows that the present industrial dispute has been initiated by the workmen of the seven contractors mentioned in the order of reference and these workmen having no relationship of master and servant with the Company, incidentally mentioned in the order of reference, no industrial dispute can be raised by these workmen against the Company as such. On the other hand, the workmen's contention in their written statement appears to be that these workmen are really employees of the Company though apparently they are serving under the contractors. It is alleged that the contractors are mere agents of the Company and there contractors have been set up by the Company only for depriving the workmen of their just dues. But I may at once mention that there is not an iota of evidence before this Tribunal to prove that the contractors are really Company's own agents or creatures set up with a malafide intention. Rather it is conceded by the President of the Union as well as other witness examined on behalf of the workmen that the workmen working under the contractors are really contractors' men, paid by the contractors and controlled by them. It is nobody's case that contractors' men were employed by the Company or paid by the Company directly. Shri B. K. Bhattacharjee, the President of the Union, admits that the labour contractors supply labour to the Company and thus, these workmen belong to a different category of workmen, though working in Company's workshop. It is also clear from the evidence that the contractors are paid by the Company according to the actual outturn of work in accordance with accepted schedule of rates whereas the workmen working under the contractors receive their wages from their masters, the contractors, at time rate. It is also admitted that the Company has no disciplinary control over the contractors' labour. From the deposition of O.P.W. 1 Shri P. K. Roy it will be clear that the contractors' own men or contractors themselves supervise the work of labour force, employed by the contractors who receive renumeration for their work on the basis of actual outturn. In fact, this case of the Company is supported by the written statements of different contractors also. It is urged on behalf of the workmen that the Company pays the amount of statutory contribution to State Insurance Fund for the contractors' employees also. It is well known that under the State Insurance Scheme, contractors' employees also are treated for that Act only as second degree employees of such Companies and contribution for such employees also is incumbent upon the Company. But in the present case it is clear from Company's witnesses that the amount contributed on account of contractors' men is actually paid by the contractors themselves though such contribution may be carried to proper authorities or deposited by or through the Company. So, deposit of State Insurance contribution does not alter the relationship. It is sufficiently clear that terms and conditions of employment by contractors are quite different from those of direct employees of the Company. So, there is hardly any scope for doubt that the Company has no relationship of master and servant with the employees of the contractors and there cannot be any industrial dispute between the Company and contractors' workmen. This question was raised on another occasion also in an industrial dispute between this Company and its direct employees on a reference by Labour Department Order No. 841, dated the 19th November 1947, and in that dispute the direct employees of the Company not only conceded that labour contractors were independent persons but actually prayed for abolition of labour contract system for obvious reasons. The Learned Tribunal decided that the employees under the contractors could not be raised to the categories of Company's employees and the relief sought in that connection was refused. Of course, in that dispute the contractors' men or the contractors were not parties and so, they were not bound by that decision of the Learned Tribunal. But the evidence before this Tribunal also established beyond any shadow of doubt that the labour contractors and the employees of such contractors were not Company's employees for all legal purposes. So I think, no industrial dispute can actually be raised between the workmen under the contractors mentioned in the order of reference and the Company and as such the preliminary objection raised on behalf of the Company must succeed. So this Tribunal loses jurisdiction to hear and determine the reference between the Company and the contractors' workmen. The direction of the Hon'ble High Court is that this Tribunal should decide the preliminary point first of all and if this Tribunal overrules the preliminary point, then only it is to come to its decisions on other points. As I am unable to overrule the preliminary objection raised on behalf of the Company, I am afraid, I am unable to decide the other points mentioned in the order of reference. However, it may be pointed out, it is not very clear what is the real implication of the direction of the Hon'ble High Court. If it is intended that in case of Company's success in the preliminary objection, the Tribunal shall have no jurisdiction whatsoever, to decide any point of this reference against anybody, the matter stands here and this Tribunal has got nothing further to do. The Learned Advocates for the Company and contractors seem to be of the opinion that this Tribunal cannot do anything further in view of the direction of the Hon'ble High Court. In other words, it is urged that in that case the dispute if any, between the contractors and their workmen also, cannot be heard or determined in this reference. On the other hand, the Learned Advocate for the workmen contends that in view of the preliminary objection, this Tribunal may at best, lose jurisdiction to determine the dispute between the Company and contractors' men only. It is urged on behalf of the workmen that in spite of preliminary objection the different issues should be decided by the Tribunal, assuming the seven contractors mentioned in the order of reference to be the first party, and their workmen to be the second party. But I may point out that the implication of the order of reference does not appear to be so. The dispute, if any, is between the Company's seven contractors as such and the workmen of the said seven contractors. It is sufficiently clear before this Tribunal that the seven persons named in the order of reference have long ceased to be Company's contractors even. So the seven persons mentioned in the order of reference are no longer Company's contractors and there is no dispute to be decided between Company's contractors and their workmen. From the written statement filed by the contractors it will be clear that out of the seven persons mentioned, only four were working as contractors under the Company when written statements were filed by the workmen. It is also clear that by now none of the seven contractors is actually working as contractors under the Company. It also appears that some of those persons may not be in the land of living any longer. So the dispute as raised is irretrievably mixed with the contractors' status in relation to the Company itself and I am afraid, this Tribunal is not in a position to determine the different issues as between the seven persons named in the order of reference for they have ceased to be Company's contractors. The only grievance of the workmen was that they were ill-paid by the contractors, compared with the direct employees of the Company. But these workers have long ceased to be directly or indirectly interested in the Company, because their masters also have lost all touch with the Company itself long before. So, I am afraid, the real import of the direction of the Hon'ble High Court appears to be that this Tribunal need not decide anything if the preliminary objection of the Company succeeds.

However assuming for argument's sake that this is yet an industrial dispute to be adjudicated between the seven persons mentioned in the order of reference and their employees, let me consider in brief, if the issues mentioned in the order of reference can or should at all be determined in the present reference. Though one Advocate appeared at the time of hearing to watch the proceedings on behalf of few of those persons formerly working as contractors, none of the contractors has actually appeared before this Tribunal and no witness has been examined on their behalf. On the other hand, not a single workman now working under those persons or contractors has actually appeared before this Tribunal or deposed in this case. Shri B. K. Bhattacharjee (P.W. 1) happens to be the President of an Omnibus Union whose membership is not limited to this Company or the said contractors. He has no personal knowledge regarding terms and conditions of service of contractors' men. The other witness Shri Ambika Ch. Roy was at one time an employee of Shri Surendra Nath Das, formerly employed by this Company as a contractor. But Shri Das is also long dead and Shri Roy also is no longer an employee of the Company or anyone of the contractors. So it is difficult for anybody to determine all or any one of the six issues raised in this dispute with reference to those said seven persons or contractors on the statement of Shri Roy alone who has ceased to have any community of interest with other workmen of the said seven persons. Company's witnesses also have no say in the matter because they are not expected to know what are the terms and conditions of employment between the contractors' men and the ex-contractors. So, in the face of these facts and circumstances, I am of opinion that this Tribunal is not in a position to make any award in respect of different issues raised between the seven persons designated as contractors and their employees if any. It also appears that most of the employees formerly employed by the contractors were only temporary or casual workmen. There is no evidence that they were regular employees or that their service was continuous. So, even if the dispute be maintainable between the seven named contractors and their workmen, I think, no award can be made or should be made in view of paucity of materials for the purpose. So, in any view of the case, the workmen of the contractors are not entitled to any relief whatsoever in the present reference.

This is my award.

Grant of advance to class IV Central Government Employees for the purchase of table fans.

The undersigned is directed to state that the President is pleased to decide that Class IV Central Government staff may be sanctioned advances for the purchase of table fans on the following terms and conditions:—

1. General.—The advance will be interest-bearing and will bear the same rate of interest as that chargeable on advances for the purchase of conveyances.

2. Authorities competent to sanction the advance.—Heads of Offices (declared as such under rule 10-A of the Delegation of Financial Powers Rules, 1958, or under paragraph 3 of the Central Financial Rules, Volume I, as the case may be) will be competent to sanction the advances in respect of non-industrial staff and "Heads of Industrial Establishments" in respect of industrial workers.

3. Elegibility.—The advance may be granted to Class IV Government servants who are living in houses which are provided with electricity and have a plug point and who do not already have a fan in the house. In the case of industrial establishments, employees drawing pay in a scale the maximum of which does not exceed Rs. 110 will be eligible for the advance.

Note.—The advance should not be granted to a Class IV Government servant who is under suspension.

4. Amount of advance.—The amount of advance will not exceed Rs. 100.00 nP. or the anticipated price of the table fan, whichever is less.

Note.—If the actual price paid is less than the advance taken, the balance should forthwith be refunded to Government.

5. Conditions of sanction.—(i) The advance should be applied for in the form prescribed in the annexure to this Office Memorandum.

(ii) The surety of a permanent Central Government servant of comparable or higher status should be obtained before the advance is sanctioned to a temoprary Government servant. (iv) The Government servant, who draws an advance under these orders, should, within one month from the date on which he draws the advance, furnish a certificate, giving full particulars of the fan purchased with the advance, and the cash receipt obtained for the amount actually paid for it. If the fan is not purchased within the stipulated period, the full amount of the advance drawn, with interest thereon for one month, must be forthwith refunded to Government. This condition should always be mentioned in the letters sanctioning such advances.

6. Recovery of advance.—Recovery will be made in ten equal instalments from the paybill of the Government servant concerned. It will commence with the first issue of pay after the advance is drawn. The authority sanctioning an advance may, however, permit recovery to be made in a smaller number of instalments if the Government servant receiving the advance so desires. The amount of interest calculated in accordance with paragraph 25 of the General Financial Rules, Volume I, will be recovered in one instalment. The recovery of interest will be made from the paybill of the month following that in which the repayment of the principal has been completed. The amount of each instalment will be rounded off to the nearest rupee; any balance being recovered in the last instalment.

Note.—In cases, where paybills for a month are disbursed before the end of the month, an instalment in repayment of an advance recovered through the pay bill will be taken as having been refunded on the first of the following month, the normal date for the disbursement of pay.

7. Head of account.—The advance and its recovery should be adjusted under "Sec. P—Loans and Advances by the Central Government—Loans to Government servants—Other advances".

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Everett Steamship Corporation, P-35 India Exchange Place, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Everett Hansa Employees' Union, 104 Raja Dinendra Street, Calcutta-4. (G. O. No. 7768I.R., dated 13th December 1961). (Case No. VIII-385/61.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

Present:

Shri R. Bhattacharya, Judge, Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Shri P. Bhattacharya.

For the Company: Shri R. Goswami, Assistant Legal Adviser, Bengal Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

By the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 7768I.R./IR/4L-16/61, dated the 13th December 1961, the present industrial dispute between Messrs. Everett Steamship Corporation (hereinafter called the company), P-35 India Exchange Place, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by the Everett Hansa Employees' Union (hereinafter described as the Union), 104 Raja

Dinendra Street, Calcutta-4, has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication with the following issues:—

(1) Privilege leave for all categories of employees and facilities for accumulation of such leave.

(2) Free medical aid.

(3) Tiffin allowance or free tiffin.

(4) Service rules including rules regarding confirmation in service and disciplinary measures.

Both the parties appeared and submitted their written statements.

The case of the union is that an industrial dispute was raised in the month of August 1960. As the conciliation proceedings failed, the dispute has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication. The union claims the following reliefs:—

(1) Privilege leave of one month every year accumulative up to three months,

(2) Sick leave on full pay for one month annually,

(3) Yearly paid casual leave for fifteen days,

(4) Free Medical Aid to all categories,

(5) Tiffin allowance per capita at the rate of Re. 1.00 and 0.75 nP. for the middle class employee and the subordinate staff respectively,

(6) Gratuity at the rate of one month's wages for each year of service,

(7) Overtime wages at double rates.

(8) Service Rules and Leave Rules,

(9) Leave and Holidays for the subordinate staff and Watch and Ward,

(10) Working hours of all categories,

(11) Profit sharing bonus for 1958-59 and 1959-60 at the rate of 3 months earning per year, and

(12) Quarters for subordinate and Menial staff.

The case of the company, in short, is that it is a Shipping Company incorporated in Manila. Its business consists mainly of acting as agents of the two other companies viz., Everett Orient Line and American Main Line Ltd. In addition the company gets some "tramp agencies" from time to time. In India the company has branches in Calcutta, Bombay and Delhi. The Calcutta Branch is the party to the present proceeding. Forty-seven workmen are employed in the Calcutta Branch. They include clerical and subordinate staff, and in addition there are six non-workmen, two of whom are Indians. The company has been suffering loss each and every year. The conditions of service of its workers compare favourably with those of the comparable concerns in the region. Originally in the charter of demands there were 12 demands, now claimed in the written statement of the union, but out of those 12 demands, only disputes regarding four of them as mentioned in the order of reference have been sent to this Tribunal for consideration. The union, therefore, cannot claim any relief in respect of 12 demands made in its written statement, but their claim should be confined to the four issues mentioned in the order of reference, viz., privilege leave, free medical aid, tiffin allowance or free tiffin and service rules regarding confirmation in service and disciplinary measures. The union cannot also claim any economic demand not mentioned in the order of reference. The company submits further that the leave facilities are reasonable, and the workmen cannot claim any free medical aid from the company. The workmen cannot also claim free tiffin or tiffin allowance. There are service rules of the company, and they are properly followed by the company. In the written statement of the company rules regarding confirmation in service and disciplinary measures have been stated. The company, on the whole, opposes the claims of the union in every respect.

The issue No. (1) relates to privilege leave for all the employees, and facilities for accumulation of such leave. It should be mentioned in this connection that both the parties have relied upon several documents filed by them, and they have been marked exhibits, and no oral evidence has been adduced in this case by any party. The union has filed a copy of the rules regarding leave. This is Ext. 1. The contention raised from the side of the union is that every workman should earn privilege leave to the extent of 30 days every year, and that the privilege leave should be allowed to accumulate up to 90 days at a time. According to the rules prevalent to the company, leave is granted as follows:—

Privilege leave (subject to the exigencies of the office)

(a) Those with service under 5 years—14 days annually.

(b) Those with 5 years service and over—21 days annually.

(c) Those with 10 years service and over--28 days annually.

The rule regarding privilege leave cannot be called very liberal, but at the same time it cannot be said that this is unreasonable. I, therefore, do not like to interfere with the existing rules on consideration of the existing rules regarding casual and sick leave.

Regarding the claim for free medical aid to the employees, the submission of the union is that the company should allow privileges as granted by Hansa Line at Calcutta as enumerated in Ext. 27, a copy of the circular of the said company. The submission of the company in this respect is that it has no sufficient fund to allow the privileges as granted by Hansa Line. Moreover, the State is to render free medical aid to the employees. There is no evidence before me that the financial condition of the company is very bad at present. The company has not submitted its latest balance sheet. The number of the workmen of the company is not heavy. I have considered the relevant portion of Ext. 27, and I make the following provisions regarding free medical aid:—

The company will make arrangements with its own doctor to attend to the members of its staff, as may be necessary. Any member of the staff who needs medical attention will be given, at his request, a formal slip by the company, with which he can call on the doctor of the company on appointment. In case where the member is very ill and not in a position either to attend office or to call at the chamber of the company's doctor, arrangement will be made by the company, upon request from the member concerned, to have the company's doctor called at his residence if he is in Calcutta city. Any medicine, patent or otherwise prescribed by the company's doctor will be supplied by the company, and the cost of such medicine or medicines supplied by the company shall not exceed a sum of Rs. 60 per year. Fees, if any, payable to any outside doctor must be borne by the staff member concerned, and the company shall not be bound to pay for the medicines prescribed by any doctor not recommended by it. The company, however, may, at its discretion, grant larger amount for the treatment of a member of its staff, or may make arrangement for hospitalisation at its own cost. Free consultation by an Eye Specialist will be arranged by the company wherever it is necessary, but the cost of spectacles will be borne by the staff-member concerned.

On the question of tiffin allowance or free tiffin, the company has submitted that it is not bound to supply free tiffin or to give any tiffin allowance to any workman. From the side of the workmen it has been argued that there is a custom and practice in the local shipping concerns for providing tiffin allowance to the workmen. There is no evidence worth the name to prove any such custom or practice. My attention has been drawn to Ext. 3, which is a letter from the Secretary of the Gladstone Lyall & Co. Ltd. Employees' Union stating that the clerical staff of Messrs. Gladstone Lyall & Co. Ltd. have been getting tiffin allowance at the following rates:—

Clerical staff at the rate of 0.62 nP. per full working day.

Subordinate staff at the rate of .37 nP. per full working day.

I have also considered Ext. 19, a letter of the President of Everett-Hansa Employees Union stating that some other companies are also giving tiffin allowance to the workmen. There is no evidence in this case to prove or to indicate even that the wages earned by the workmen of Everett Steamship Corporation are unreasonable or less than the standard income of the workmen of the shipping concerns. It is admitted before me by the parties that the company gives two cups of tea every day to each workman. The company, of course, says that the free tea is supplied as a matter of grace. According to the company, its workmen are 47 in number. I am not satisfied that the company is a losing concern at present. When the company supplies free tea to the workmen, I should rather suggest that there should be some accompaniments with the tea. From the argument advanced from the side of the union, it appears that the workmen will prefer tiffin allowance to free tiffin. On consideration of the facts of this case, I am inclined to allow some tiffin allowance in favour of the workmen. This allowance will save the company from incurring expenditure in connection with the supply of free tiffin or tea. The company need not in that case take any trouble to supply any free tea to the workmen. In these circumstances, I hold that a lump sum of Rs. 7 per month to each workman would be sufficient as tiffin allowance.

The last issue relates to Service Rules regarding confirmation of service and disciplinary measures. Under this head the union claims amendments of rules regarding sick leave framed by the company. The relevant rules will appear in Ext. 1. The claim of the union is one month's sick leave per year with full pay. I have considered Ext. 1 in details regarding the provisions of sick leave. Besides sick leave, the company allows privilege leave and casual leave. I do not think that the rules relating to sick leave are unjust or unacceptable.

Shri Bhattacharjee has also submitted on behalf of the union that the rate for overtime work allowed by the company should be raised. The relevant rules will appear in Ext. 2. It runs as follows:—

"Any member of the staff required to work overtime will be paid at the rate of one rupee for each hour or part of an hour worked with a minimum of one hour. Subordinate staff will be paid at .50 nP. per hour on the same basis.

(a) On weekdays calculated from 5 p.m. and on Saturdays calculated from 1-30 p.m.

(b) Any overtime worked must be approved in advance by Departmental Heads concerned."

I do not think that the rate fixed is unjust. The rate may not be very generous but I cannot say that it is unacceptable. There is no provision regarding the rate for overtime work during the holiday. The company should allow overtime allowance to any workman at the double rate of daily wages if any worker is to work during a holiday beyond his duty hours.

No other argument has been advanced from the side of the union regarding the Service Rules of the company. It has been conceeded by Shri Bhattacharjee that the rules regarding confirmation in service, and those regarding disciplinary measures as stated in the written statement are acceptable. It is admitted by the company that the Service Rules of the company have not been printed in a book form. This is highly undesirable. The company must at once get all the rules of conduct and service printed in a book form, and those books should be circulated amongst the employees for their information and knowledge.

No other claim or demand has been made during the argument before me and the other claims in the written statement of the union are outside the scope of reference.

In view of my findings above, the issues referred to this Tribunal are thus disposed of, and this award must be implemented within two months from its publication in the "Calcutta Gazette".

For the Union: Shri Patit Paban Pathak.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Department order No. 211.R./IR/7L-62/60, dated the 3rd January 1961, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Shree Hanuman Jute Mills, 76 Jogendra Mukherjee Road, Ghusury, Howrah (hereinafter referred to as "Company") and their workmen represented by Hanuman Jute Mills Majdoor Union, 26/1 Dayaram Naskar Lane, Ghusury, Howrah, (hereinafter referred to as "Union"), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication is as follows:—

Issue

Whether the existing piece-rates for Carpet-Weavers are justified? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

AWARD

After service of usual notices both the parties entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. From some time after the filing of the written statements, the parties started negotiations for an amicable settlement and I also gave them every opportunity to come to an agreed settlement, if possible. This negotiation for settlement really continued for many months. I did not hesitate to grant them sufficient time for this purpose because the dispute related to fixation of piece-rates in respect of various items or designs of carpets. From the schedule annexed to the compromise petition it will appear that the parties wanted me to revise piece-rates in respect of at least 27 different varieties of jute carpets. One can easily imagine that there is no short-cut to revision of piece-rates without a proper and thorough enquiry into the matter which involves motion and time study also in respect of these jobs. So if the entire thing would have been left to me for adjudication I might have to appoint an Assessor for assessment of proper rates or revision of rates. However, after protracted negotiations, the parties came to an agreed settlement in respect of most of the disputed items and filed a joint petition of compromise on 22nd April 1963. I have carefully gone through the terms of settlement and I think the terms are quite fair and reasonable. So, the petition of compromise may be safely recorded. But I may point out in this connection that out of 27 disputed items, the parties could come to an agreed settlement in respect of 24 items only. They could not however, come to an amicable settlement in respect of 3 (three) piece-rates for jobs done on Wilton looms. It was settled between the parties that the dispute regarding revision of rates of these 3 items should be placed before this Tribunal for its decision and that they would abide by the decision of the Tribunal unconditionally. On the date on which this petition of compromise was filed, the parties decided not to adduce any further evidence in respect of the 3 disputed items. They only made their respective submissions in respect of these 3 items. They, however, wanted me to visit the Mill once for a look of the Wilton looms, and try to understand the operations or jobs done on these Wilton looms. Accordingly, I paid a visit to the Mill on 23rd April 1963 and formed an idea in respect of operations and jobs done on these type of looms. After carefully considering all the facts and circumstances and the submission made by the parties, I think the existing piece-rates in respect of the 3 disputed items may be slightly revised upwardly. It has been conceded before me by both parties that at first the Company suggested that the existing rate of Rs.14.06 nP. in respect of first disputed item on Wilton loom should be revised and fixed at Rs. 14.30 nP. The Management did not agree to any upward revision of the other 2 disputed items. On the last date of hearing, the Learned Manager for the Company submitted that the weavers working on this type of looms were already drawing higher wages than other weavers working on other type of looms. It is also urged that in case of further upward revision the products of these types of looms will not be able to compete with similar products in the market because in that case the costs incurred, will be too uneconomic. The Learned Representatives for the workmen of course, does not admit that the products will suffer on account of excessive cost as alleged, in case of an upward revision. I may simply observe that these Wilton looms are rather improved and complicated types of looms and the weavers thereon are required to be a bit more vigilant and efficient, if not physically, at least mentally. This loom is electrically operated and requires a cautious and delicate handling no doubt. It may be, more or excessive physical strain is not called for from the weavers, but nevertheless, the weavers who operate these looms, are to get a bit of training before they efficiently run the same. It is also to be noted that if no upward revision is made, however slight it may be, when all other weavers are getting actually some sort of upward revision in piece-rates, the weavers working on these machines may feel psychologically injured and this may tell upon their efficiency too. So after carefully considering all the circumstances I direct that the revised piece-rates in respect of jobs done on Wilton looms should be as follows:—

Quality.	Size.	Existing rate per yd. in nP.	Revised rate per yd. in nP.
Wilton	14½ × 18"—27"	14·06	14·30
	14½ × 18"—54"	21·09	21·25
	14½ × 13"—27"	13·20	13·40

Slightly extra expense may be more than compensated by the contended and willing labour, and may prove more economic.

This is my decision in respect of the 3 disputed items left for my adjudication.

Accordingly it is directed that the petition of compromise be recorded and an award be passed in terms thereof. With regard to the 3 items left for my decision, the rates are fixed as above. The petition of compromise will be made part of this award and marked as Annexure 1.

This is my award.

2. The Company has been introducing new machineries and method of work for improving the types of yarn for the use of Carpets Manufacture which may considerably increased the present rate of production without there being any extra effort on the part of the workmen concerned. The Company reserve the right to revise the rate in the light of the increased production in question.

Under the circumstances it is hereby prayed that your honour will be graciously pleased to accept this agreement together with chart of the revised rate attached hereto and marked "A" and to pass an award in accordance therewith and to pass such order or orders as it may be deemed fit or proper.

AWARD

This is an application under section 33A, Industrial Disputes Act complaining of alleged contravention of the provisions of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act in regard to the service conditions of the applicant, Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerjee, a former employee of the Kanchrapara Municipality, during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings in respect of another dispute between this municipality and its employees referred to this Tribunal by Government order No. 3623I.R./IR/14L-14/60, dated 19th July 1960.

The relevant case put forward by the applicant may be briefly summarised as follows.

The applicant was employed in this municipality in various capacities for more than 25 years and he discharged his duties honestly and efficiently. There were and are no sanctioned rules or standing orders of the municipality governing the conditions of service of its employees with regard to removal, retirement, etc., and the employees were allowed to continue in service even after attaining the age of 55 years if they were otherwise fit. On or about 1st April 1961, the municipality changed the conditions of his service in utter disregard of the provisions of sections 33(1) and (2), Industrial Disputes Act and also the relevant provisions of the Bengal Municipal Act and also the principles of equity and justice. The change in the conditions of service consisted of forcing him to retire from the municipal service, which amounted to his removal from service illegally and unjustifiably. The complainant was finally put out of office on and from 1st October 1962 by the municipality and this action of the municipality was illegal, unjust, irregular, motivated and malicious. The complainant prays that the municipality be directed to refrain from altering the conditions of his service in any manner and to restore him to the substantive post of Head Clerk-cum-Accountant which he was holding before his illegal retirement and removal.

The municipality has filed a written statement in reply to the application filed by Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji. The relevant case put forward by the municipality in its reply may be briefly summarised as follows:

The applicant, Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji, was an employee of the municipality. By a letter dated 30th September 1959, he was intimated that he was due to retire on 31st March 1960 when he would reach the superannuation age and he might take leave preparatory to retirement, if he so desired. After this intimation, Shri Banerji prayed for an extension of his service by his letter, dated 30th January 1960 and he was granted extension for one year up to 31st March 1961. On 3rd February 1961 Shri Banerji prayed for a second extension of his service, but this prayer was rejected by the municipality's letter, dated 24th March 1961. After this, Shri Banerji took payment of all his dues in full and final settlement of all his claims. Then the Commissioners of the municipality appointed him as a Special Officer for a period of one year only on a separate application made by him and in consideration of the fact that one of his sons was seriously ill, Shri Banerji duly accepted the appointment and all terms and conditions attached thereto. It was a new appointment for him. The post of Special Officer was abolished by the municipality with effect from 1st April 1962 and Shri Banerji's appointment as Special Officer automatically ceased with effect from that date. As the municipality needed the services of a competent officer to pursue its water supply augmentation scheme, the Commissioners selected Shri Banerji for the post in order to help him and he was appointed as a Special Officer for pursuing the Water Augmentation Scheme for a period of six months only under slightly altered terms and conditions which were fully accepted by Shri Banerji without any protest by his letter dated 31st March 1962. This period of six months was to expire on 30th September 1962. On 10th September 1962 Shri Banerji made an application for further extension of service, but the Commissioners, after due consideration of his prayer at a meeting, rejected it. In terms of the special appointment given to Shri Banerji for a period of six months from 1st April 1962, his appointment terminated with effect from 1st October 1962, and from that date, he ceased to be a municipal employee. Though no specific rules have as yet been framed by the municipality with the sanction of the State Government relating to retirement of municipal employees on superannuation and other service conditions, the municipality has been following the principles laid down in the West Bengal Service Rules in the matter of retirement. This position was clearly admitted by Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji in his application dated 3rd February 1961 for second extension of service. There was, therefore, no alteration in the conditions of service of Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji in contravention of the provisions of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act in the matter of his retirement after extended period of service and his automatic removal from service after the expiry of the period of special appointment for six months from 1st April 1962. The provisions of section 33 cannot apply to the case of Shri Banerji and so, this application under section 33A does not lie.

The facts stated in the written statement of the municipality regarding the service career of Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji in this municipality have not been disputed at the hearing and these have been clearly proved by evidence, oral and documentary, produced by the municipality and also to some extent by the evidence of Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji, the applicant himself. Exhibits A to E, letters and other documents referred to by the municipality in its written statement, which stand admitted, clearly prove the facts alleged by the municipality. It is not disputed that Shri Banerji attained the age of 55 years on 31st March 1960. It is practically an undisputed position at the hearing that though no definite rules have as yet been framed by the municipality with the sanction of the State Government under section 75, Bengal Municipal Act relating to the service conditions of its employees, including retirement on superannuation, the municipality is, as a matter of practice, following the Government service rules in regard to the matter of retirement on superannuation. O.P.W. 1 Shri Jagadish Chandra Das, the Vice-Chairman of the municipality, has stated this in his evidence. Significantly enough, he made his statement on this matter in his cross-examination. This position is clearly admitted by Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji in his application dated 3rd February 1961 for second extension (Ext. D). It is thus clearly established that as a matter of practice, the superannuation age of municipal employees was fixed at 55 years. In accordance with this practice, Shri Banerji was given notice of retirement with effect from 1st April 1960 by the municipality's letter dated 30th September

1959 (Ext. B) on 30th January 1960, Shri Banerji made an application for extension of his service (Ext. C). This clearly indicates that he clearly took it for granted that he was to retire on superannuation with effect from 1st April 1960 according to the existing practice of the municipality. He was given extension of service for one year in the same post and on the same conditions of service. Then on 3rd February 1961, he made an application for a second extension of service (Ext. D). This application was duly considered. The Commissioners decided not to grant him any further extension of his service, but he was appointed as a Special Officer for one year with effect from 1st April 1961 and this post of a Special Officer was practically created for him to afford him some help and relief (vide Ext. E). The term of this post expired on 1st April 1962 and the post was abolished. Still, Shri Banerji was not thrown out of employment. Upon his application dated 31st March 1962, he was given another special appointment as an Officer for pursuing the water supply augmentation scheme of the Municipality for a period of six months from 1st April 1962. His service conditions were slightly altered upon his appointment in the new post. Up to 31st March 1962 he got his full emoluments as at the time of his retirement after extension of service for one year with effect from 1st April 1961. In this new appointment for six months, his emoluments were slightly lower. I am fully satisfied from the facts discussed above that the municipality acted with utmost consideration and sympathy and in perfect good faith in favour of Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji by keeping him in service up to 30th September 1962 after he attained the age of superannuation according to the practice followed by this municipality in conformity with the Government service rules, at first by giving him extension of regular service for one year and then by appointing him to a special post for a further period of one year by way of a new appointment and finally by giving him a further appointment for six months in connection with the water supply augmentation scheme. I am fully satisfied that the municipality acted with the best of motives in keeping him in service in the aforesaid manner for 2½ years after he attained the ordinary age of superannuation and there was nothing mala fide in the action taken by the municipality with regard to him. I find that every application made by him was sympathetically considered up to his last appointment in connection with the water supply augmentation scheme and it appears from the evidence that he had to go after holding a special post in the water supply augmentation scheme for a period of six months, because there was no further need for that post. It was not certainly possible or permissible for a public body like the municipality to incur unnecessary expenditure for a post which was not needed simply to provide a particular employee. It is clear, however, that the municipality went to the utmost in trying to help this employee by keeping him in employment in some form or other as long as it was possible. The municipality must be held to have acted legally and regularly by insisting on his retirement on attaining the age of 55 years, because the admitted position is that the Government service rules in this respect were being followed in this municipality as a matter of practice. As already indicated above, he was given the privilege of one year's extension of regular service after he attained the ordinary age of superannuation. None of the actions of the municipality in regard to this employee, Shri Gobinda Chandra Banerji, since he attained the ordinary age of superannuation according to the practice followed by the municipality in conformity with the Government Service Rules can be said to be in contravention of any of the provisions of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act. Section 33(1), Industrial Disputes Act can have no application in the present case, because none of the matters arising out of the action taken by the municipality in regard to this employee was connected with the dispute in respect of which adjudication proceedings were pending before this Tribunal under Government order No. 3623-I.R./IR/14L-14/60, dated 19th July 1960. There is no case under section 33(2)(a), Industrial Disputes Act in regard to any of the actions taken by the municipality in connection with his extension of service or new appointments in the special posts, already discussed above. The insistence of this municipality upon his retirement on superannuation at the age of 55 cannot be held to amount to alteration in the conditions of his service so as to come under section 33(2)(a), Industrial Disputes Act, in view of the facts about superannuation of the employees of this municipality, already discussed above. It was held in an almost similar case of Mohini Sugar Mills Ltd. versus Hasan (A) and others by the Patna High Court [LLJ 1962 (II) page 389] that when there was evidence to show that the workman had agreed to be bound by the service rules framed by the managing agent's Company which managed the public limited company under which directly the workman was employed and the workman had been superannuated according to such rules, in the absence of any certified standing orders of the public limited company itself regarding superannuation, the superannuation of the workman would not amount to alteration of his service conditions within the meaning of section 33(2)(a), Industrial Disputes Act, nor would it amount to discharge or dismissal within the meaning of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act and so, no approval of the Tribunal before which the other dispute was pending for adjudication was necessary. In regard to the alleged alteration in the service conditions during the pendency of the adjudication proceedings in respect of another dispute, no approval of the Tribunal is required. Approval is required only in a case falling under section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act and retirement of a workman on superannuation does not amount to discharge or dismissal within the meaning of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act. This position was clearly laid down in the case of the Patna High Court just referred to above. In the present case also, the retirement of the workman on superannuation on the expiry of the period of the extension for one year granted to him after he attained the ordinary age of superannuation of 55 years could not certainly amount to any alteration in the conditions of his service under section 33(2)(a), Industrial Disputes Act; nor a discharge or dismissal from service within the meaning of section 33(2)(b), Industrial Disputes Act. Similar must be the case with regard to his automatic termination of service after the expiry of the period of the special appointment last held by him for a period of six months from 1st April 1962. Thus, there was no contravention of any of the provisions of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act in regard to this workman and on merits also the actions taken by the municipality in regard to him and complained of in the present case cannot be said to be illegal, unjustified or mala fide. The action taken by the municipality must be held to have been fully justified and bona fide. Accordingly, this application under section 33A must fail.

In the result, the present application under section 33A, Industrial Disputes Act, is dismissed on contest. The applicant is not entitled to any relief. I award accordingly.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Chunking Dyers & Dry Cleaners, 3/A Harington Street, Calcutta-16, and their workmen represented by Laundry Workers' Union, 107 Lower Circular Road, Calcutta-14. (Case No. VIII-337|61.)

AWARD

The above dispute over the Issues given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department Order No. 5996-I.R./1R/11L-430/61, dated the 26th October 1961.

Issues

(1) Bonus for 1958 and 1959.

(2) Introduction of Pay Scales.

On the final date fixed for hearing of the case after preliminary proceedings and some adjournments (11th April 1963), a petition of compromise signed by the sole proprietor of the Company and some persons said to be workmen of the Company was filed before this Tribunal. None appeared for the Union and no step was taken on its behalf up to 27th April 1963 which was fixed for consideration of the compromise petition and objections, if any, by the Union. It seems that the Union has ceased to take any interest in the case because the workmen have settled the dispute amicably with the Company. According to the terms of compromise embodied in the joint petition the workers by way of amicable settlement have withdrawn all their claims against the Company and so, there is a joint prayer for a "no dispute" award. As the workmen have amicably settled the dispute with the Company and there is joint prayer for a "no dispute" award without any objection from the Union or any one else, I accept the position arising out of the joint petition and accordingly make a "no dispute" award in terms thereof. A copy of the joint petition is made a part of the award as an Annexure.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issues given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 7056-I.R./IR/10L-232/61, dated the 21st November 1961, and the subsequent Addendum No. 163-I.R./IR/10L-232/61, dated the 15th January 1962. In the order of reference dated 21st November 1961, there were issues 1 to 4. Issues 5 to 7 were added by the Addendum dated the 15th January, 1962.

Issues

1. Medical facilities.

2. Sick leave.

3. Whether the dismissal of Shri Tileswar Kurmi is justified? To what relief, if any, is he entitled?

4. Whether the termination of service of Sarbasri Shyampada Chakravorty, Krishnabilas Chatterjee, Babu Nandan Mishra, Gopal Banerjee and Subal Chandra Das is justified? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

5. Revision of basic wages, grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance.

6. Proper categorisation of workmen on the basis of work done and extension of incidental benefits.

7. Quarters or House allowance.

The dispute relates to the engineering industry carried on by Messrs. Damodar Enterprises Ltd. under the name and style of Damodar Iron and Steel Works at Raniganj. This industry is at present the only business of this Company. The general issues Nos. 1 to 5, 6 and 7 were first raised in the Union's charter of demands dated 24th June 1961 [Ext. 1(a)]. The Company did not accept these demands. The dispute was taken up for conciliation by the local Assistant Labour Commissioner, but the conciliation proceedings failed to achieve any settlement. So, finally the Government made the present reference including therein the two other specific issues Nos. 3 and 4 relating to dismissal of one worker and termination of service of five workers respectively. The workman, Shri Tileswar Kurmi, covered by Issue No. 3 was dismissed on 23rd June 1961 and of the five workmen covered by Issue No. 4, one was discharged on 15th September 1961 and the rest on 13th September 1961.

I now proceed straightaway to take up the issues for decision. The relevant facts and the respective cases of the parties relating to each issue will be stated and discussed under the particular issue.

casual leave as per Standing Orders of the Company Ext. C. Considering the overall facts and circumstances, I think it would be proper and reasonable to allow 4 days sick leave with full pay in a year, in addition to the other leave now admissible to these workmen, as an interim measure pending final decision of this issue in the omnibus reference.

In the result, I leave Issue No. 5 open for decision in the wider scope of the omnibus reference on an industry-cum-regionwise basis, subject to the condition that the status quo in respect of wages and wage structure, as admitted by the Company in paragraph 1(a) of its reply to the Union's charter of demands (Ext. 1) shall be maintained; and I also leave Issue No. 2 open for final decision in the omnibus reference, subject to the condition that pending final award in the omnibus reference on this issue, these workmen shall get 4 days sick leave with full pay in a year in addition to the other leave now enjoyed by them as an interim measure.

These issues are disposed of accordingly.

Issue No. 3: Whether the dismissal of Shri Tileswar Kurmi is justified? what relief, if any, is he entitled?

It is an admitted position that this workman was charge-sheeted for defying the authority of Shri Niranjan Das, the General Foreman of the Factory and misbehaving with him, he submitted his reply to the charge-sheet and then there was a domestic enquiry in presence of the workman himself and the Union Secretary, Shri Gopal Banerji who helped and represented him at the enquiry, the enquiring officer found him guilty and on the basis of the finding of the enquiring officer, he was dismissed by the Company, with effect from 28th June 1961. Exhibit D is the charge-sheet. It also contains the reply of Tileswar Kurmi. The charge was formulated in the following terms:—

"Today (2nd June 1961) at about 8-30 a.m. when Shri Niranjan Das, General Foreman, in course of his supervision of foundry work, was examining the job which you were then doing, you challenged his authority and asked him to walk out. The matter was brought to the notice of the Chief Engineer of the Factory by Shri Das and the Chief Engineer made matters right and asked you not to behave in that manner and explained to you that Shri Das was the General Foreman and was authorised to visit all shops of the factory. In spite of all these, you again challenged Shri Niranjan Das's authority to visit the foundry when Shri Das happened to go there at about 9-30 a.m today, behaved very rudely with him and asked him to walk out of the foundry immediately.

Your action in challenging the authority of Shri Niranjan Das, General Foreman, behaving rudely with him and asking him to walk out of the Foundry has been objectionable and counts as insubordination and disorderly behaviour during working hours at the Establishment. These are acts of misconduct on your part."

The workman was suspended by the Company's letter, dated 5th June 1961 (Ext. E). The admitted enquiry proceedings contain the signatures of the workman himself, Shri Tileswar Kurmi [Exts. M, M(1) and M(2)] and also the signatures of Shri Gopal Banerji, the Union Secretary, [Ext. N(1)]. P.W. 2 Shri Tileswar Kurmi has admitted that there was an enquiry regarding his charge-sheet and he was present at the enquiry. He has, however, said that he was not asked anything but was only told to put his signature and accordingly he put his signature and came away. He has denied that Shri Gopal Banerji was present at the enquiry. The enquiry was held by Shri F. Michael, who was then the Chief Engineer of the factory. He has since left the Company's service. The enquiry proceedings were recorded by Shri Dukori Nath Chatterjee, the Accountant of the Company. He has proved the whole recorded enquiry proceedings and has testified that the proceedings took place in presence of Shri Tileswar Kurmi, who made a statement and also produced his own witnesses, who were examined and the Company examined some witnesses in presence of Shri Tileswar Kurmi, who cross-examined them and Tileswar Kurmi was represented by Shri Gopal Banerji. Exhibit N comprises the whole enquiry proceedings including the report of the Enquiring Officer. The proceedings fully bear out the evidence of Shri Dukori Nath Chatterjee. It shows that the Company's witnesses, Shri Niranjan Das, the General Foreman, and Shri Jitendra Kumar Chakrabarty, Clerk, Foundry Shop, were examined in presence of Shri Tileswar Kurmi, who declined to cross-examine Shri Niranjan Das but cross-examined Shri Jitendra Kumar Chakrabarty and Shri Kileswar Kurmi's own statement was recorded and the witnesses cited by him, Charu Gope, Bhagirath Karmakar, Sree Chand Ram and Singhasan, were examined. The enquiry was held on two days —18th June 1961 and 20th June 1961. I am satisfied that it was a very fair and proper and thorough enquiry and the charge-sheeted workman was given every opportunity to participate in the enquiry and he actually participated in the enquiry with the Union Secretary, Shri Gopal Banerji, and had the fullest liberty and opportunity to meet the charges against him and place his defence against the charge. When the preceedings of the enquiry were of such nature, it must be held that the enquiry itself was bona fide and no element of unfair labour practice was involved in it and it conformed to the principles of natural justice. There was no basic error or perversity in the charge, which was quite definite and specific. The Enquiring Officer submitted a long report finding the workman guilty of the charge and giving reasons in support of his finding. It is a pretty long report in which he discussed the evidence produced before him at the enquiry. I have considered his report in the light of the recorded proceedings of the enquiry and I am satisfied that his finding was quite reasonable and bona fide. It was not certainly perverse or baseless. The charge against him was a serious one involving gross misconduct on his part and the punishment of dismissal was certainly proper for such an offence under the Standing Orders of the Company [vide paragraph 14(b) of the Standing Orders (Ext. C)]. In the above view of the facts concerning the charge-sheet, the enquiry and the workman's dismissal on the finding of the Enquiring Officer, the dismissal must be upheld.

The Union has challenged the enquiry as a mere show in its written statement. This contention must be at once rejected in the view that I have taken about the nature of the enquiry proceedings. It has next been contended that this workman was victimised for his Union activities. Particular mention has been made of the fact that he was the first signatory for the meeting for formation of the Union. There is nothing to prove that he was the first signatory for any meeting for formation of the Union. No doubt, the charter of demands [Ext. 1(a)] was submitted on 24th June 1961. But the action taken by the Company in issuing the charge-sheet and following it up by an enquiry cannot be said to be motivated by a spirit of victimisation arising out of the submission of the charter of demands, because the charge-sheet was issued on 2nd June 1961 in regard to an incident in the factory on that date and the enquiry proceedings were held and completed by 20th June 1961 and these were all before the submission of the charter of demands with the Union's letter, dated 24th June 1961 [Ext. 1(a)]. There is absolutely no ground or reason for supposing that the charge-sheet was issued in a spirit of victimisation because of the Union activities of this workman. It is not proved that he was a very prominent and active member of the Union. The charter of demands was not signed by him or by any worker. It was sent with a letter signed by the Vice-President. No doubt, his dismissal took place on 28th June 1961 [Ext. N(1)], a few days after the submission of the charter of demands on 24th June 1961. But the dismissal was not an isolated event and it was not an abrupt and summary dismissal. It was effected after serving him with a charge-sheet and after holding a fair and proper enquiry regarding the charge against him. The root of his dismissal lay in the charge-sheet and the enquiry. In these circumstances, the mere fact that the dismissal letter was issued just a few days after the submission of the charter of demands cannot be a ground for holding that the Company launched upon a career of victimisation against the workmen for the charter of demands and Shri Tileswar Kurmi was the first victim. As I have found that this workman was dismissed after a fair and proper enquiry in conformity with the principles of natural justice regarding the charge-sheet issued to him accusing him of misconduct arising out of his behaviour with his superior officer, the General Foreman in the factory, and there was no spirit of victimisation and no unfair labour practice in connection with the action taken by the Company against him, the dismissal based upon the finding of the Enquiring Officer must be accepted by the Tribunal without an enquiry into the merits of the dismissal independently of the domestic enquiry. Of course, I may place it on record that the Company has not produced any independent evidence in support of the charge against the concerned workman. But that is immeterial when the enquiry itself has been held to be fair and proper and in accordance with the principles of natural justice and the dismissal has been found to be based upon the finding of the Enquiring Officer which was not baseless or perverse and there was no element of victimisation or unfair labour practice in the Company's action.

I now take up the Union's contention that in any case the dismissal was bad in law and it contravened the provisions of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act, because it was made during the pendency of the conciliation proceedings before the Conciliation Officer without taking his permission or approval. As the facts stand, Tileswar was dismissed for a misconduct not connected with the dispute over the charter of demands and so if the dismissal was made during the pendency of the conciliation proceedings, it would fall under section 33(2), Industrial Disputes Act and necessarily, it will be governed by the proviso to that section which requires that no such dismissal shall be made unless the concerned workman has been paid wages for one month and an application has been made by the employer to the authority before which the conciliation proceedings are pending for approval of the action taken by the employer. In the present case, it is an admitted position that the requirements of the proviso were not complied with in connection with the dismissal of Tileswar Kurmi. The Company has contended that the dismissal did not take place during the pendency of the conciliation proceedings, but it took place before the commencement of the conciliation proceedings over the charter of demands and so, there can be no question of any contravention of the provisions of section 33 in regard to this dismissal. The evidence discloses that the charter of demands was sent to the Company on 24th June 1961. The position on this date was that the enquiry regarding the charge-sheet issued to Tileswar had been completed. The report of the enquiring officer was submitted after this date, on 27th June 1961 (Ext. N) and then this workman was dismissed by the Company's letter, dated 22nd June 1961 [Ext. E(1)]. It appears that the copy of the charter of demands was sent to the local Assistant Labour Commissioner and the Assistant Labour Commissioner by his letter, dated 10th July 1961, to the Company (Ext. E) first asked for the Company's comments on the demands. After the Company sent its comments to the Assistant Labour Commissioner with its letter, dated 18th July 1961 (vide Ext. 1), the Assistant Labour Commissioner first issued notice for a joint conference on the subject on 9th August 1961 [Ext. L(1)]. Upon these facts, it must be held that the conciliation started and became pending with effect from 9th August 1961 when the Assistant Labour Commissioner for the first time decided to hold a joint conference of the parties over the subject in dispute by issuing the notice. Issue of a notice for joint conference was certainly the first step in the conciliation proceedings and before that, there were no conciliation proceedings properly so called. This view was expressed in the case of the Tata Collieries Labour Association vs. The Management of the Digwadih Colliery by the Labour Appellate Tribunal (1963 LAC, page 639). In my view, the conciliation proceedings over the charter of demands must be deemed to have commenced and become pending according to law on and from 9th August 1961 when the Assistant Labour Commissioner issued notice for joint conference over the charter of demands and before that, the conciliation proceedings had not started and were not pending. But the dismissal of Tileswar Kurmi had taken place long before 9th August 1961—it was on 29th June 1961. I hold, therefore, that the dismissal did not take place during the pendency of the conciliation proceedings and, therefore, section 33, Industrial Disputes Act did not and could not apply to this dismissal and the Company was not required to comply with any provision of that section. The Union's contention that the dismissal was bad for non-compliance with the relevant provisions of section 33, Industrial Disputes Act is, therefore, rejected.

On the above findings, I uphold the dismissal of this concerned workman, Shri Tileswar Kurmi. He is not, therefore, entitled to any relief. I award accordingly under this issue.

Issue No. 4: Whether the termination of service of Sarbasri Shyamapada Chakraborty, Krishnabilas Chatterjee, Babu Nandan Mishra, Gopal Banerjee and Subal Chandra Das is justified? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

Shri Gopal Chandra Banerji has sworn an affidavit stating that he has settled all his disputes with the Company and has collected his dues in full and final settlement of all his claims and he has no other or further claims against the Company including the claim of reinstatement. This affidavit has been filed before this Tribunal. No challenge has been raised against this affidavit and the Union has given up the case relating to Shri Gopal Banerjee in view of this affidavit. The affidavit must, therefore, be accepted and a 'no dispute' award in respect of this workman must be made. Accordingly, I make a 'no dispute' award in respect of Shri Gopal Banerjee under this Issue.

We are now left with four remaining workmen. The Union's case in respect of these workmen is briefly as follows. On a false plea that they were probationers and their services were not satisfactory, the Management terminated their services on different dates. These workmen had completed their training course successfully and were working for long periods. They were made to sign papers under duress from time to time. Among these workmen, Shyampada Chakravorty and Subal Chandra Das were members of the executive committee of the Union and the remaining two were members of the departmental committee and this fact was known to the Management. The Company has put forward the following case in respect of these workmen. They were initially taken in as trainees. On completion of their training, they were put on specific jobs as probationers for six months. During the probationary period, their services were found unsatisfactory. The Company, therefore, terminated their services. Some other probationers whose services were found satisfactory were confirmed. They were never made to sign papers under duress and the Company did not know that they were members of the Union executive committee or departmental committee. The Company acted in a bona fide manner in terminating the services of these probationers.

None of these workmen has come forward to give evidence at the hearing in support of the case put forward on their behalf and to deny the Company's case in respect of them. Of the two witnesses examined on behalf of the Union, none has said a word directly about any of these workmen. The two witnesses examined on behalf of the Union are Shri Haradhan Roy, Vice-President of the Union, and Shri Tileswar Kurmi, the concerned workman of Issue No. 3. The Union has produced letters of Ext. 2 series, certificates of Exts. 3 series, the letter Ext. 6(e) from the Regional Assistant Labour Commissioner to the Company regarding Shyamapada Chakrabarty and Babunandan Mishra and Ext. 7(a), the letter from the Union to the Assistant Labour Commissioner concerning the termination of services of these workmen, in support of its case in respect of these workers. Letters of Ext. 2 series are admitted by the Company and the Company has produced the office copies of these letters with acknowledgments signed by these workmen [Exts. F to I(1)]. By these letters, these workmen were offered employment in different capacities after successful completion of their training periods. So, it is clearly established that they were initially taken in as trainees and after the completion of their training periods, they were offered employments under the Company. The offers clearly indicated the wages that they were to get on employment. Exhibit O series are the letters of employment issued to these workmen in pursuance of the offers of employment made to them after successful completion of their training periods and after acceptance of those offers. In Ext. O series there are letters issued to some other persons in addition to these concerned workmen. These letters show that they were all appointed as probationers for six months with effect from different dates and it was clearly stated in these letters that they would enter into permanent employment under the Management on their successfully completing the probationery periods with approved services. It clearly appears from the letters of Ext. O series that these concerned workmen accepted their letters by putting their signatures on the copies kept with the Company. Exhibit J series are the letters whereby the services of these workmen were terminated within their probationery periods on the ground that their works during the probationery period were unsatisfactory. These letters indicated that the workers accepted the letters by putting their signatures on the copies kept with the Company. None of these workmen has come forward to deny his signature in any of the Company's letters concerning him and there is absolutely no evidence to prove that their signatures in these letters were taken under duress. The facts referred to in those letters have been substantially testified to by O.P.W. 3 Shri Champalal Chamarai, the Works Manager. As against his evidence, there is absolutely no evidence on the Union's side to prove that the facts stated in the letters and testified to by O.P.W. 3 were not correct. O.P.W. 3 Shri Champalal Chamaria has no doubt stated that there were adverse reports of the Supervisor against these probationary workmen and their services as probationers were terminated on these adverse reports. The adverse reports have not been produced. But the non-production of the adverse reports will not be material and will not necessarily falsify the Company's case regarding the termination of the services of these workmen on the ground of their unsatisfactory works during the probationary period, in view of the fact that none of these workmen has come forward to give evidence against the facts stated in the Company's letters and testified to by O.P.W. 3 Shri Champalal Chamaria and to deny them and there is practically no evidence against the Company's evidence consisting of the said letters and the testimonies of O.P.W. 3 Shri Champalal Chamaria. I am fully satisfied from the evidence that all these letters were duly received and accepted by these workmen, as indicated by their signatures in the Company's copies, and there is no substance in the Union's case that they were made to sign some letters under duress. Upon the evidence produced before me, I am perfectly satisfied that after the completion of their training periods, these workmen were employed as probationers for six months and their services were terminated during the probationary periods, as their works were not found satisfactory. On behalf of the Union, emphasis has been laid on the fact that in the admitted list of workers of this Company (Ext. 9), the names of some of these workmen, Babunandan Mishra, Krishnabilas Chatterjee and Shyamapada Chakravorty appears with their designations, but without any remark that they were probationers. In my view, this fact cannot necessarily disprove the position that these workmen were really employed as probationers after completion of their training periods, as proved by the Company's evidence, referred to and discussed above. In this list, only the working designations of these workmen were given for certain purposes and there was no necessity to show them as probationers. After having reached the position that these workmen were employed as probationers for six months after completing their training periods, and their services were terminated during their probationary periods, on the ground that their works were unsatisfactory, we are now to determine whether the Company was justified in so terminating their services and whether the action of the Company in terminating their services was bona fide. It is now well-settled that a probationer in an industrial undertaking is not a permanent employee but is an employee on a provisional basis and his continuance in service would depend upon his working to the satisfaction of the Management. The definition of 'probationer' as given in this Company's Standing Orders substantially conforms to this position. The definition is given in clause (d) of section 2 of the Standing Orders. The Management has certainly the right to terminate the services of a probationer whose work is not found satisfactory without going through the formalities of a charge-sheet and a departmental enquiry. It is one of the fundamental rights of the employer in exercise of his management function. The Management can also quite legally terminate the services of a probationer within the probationary period on the ground that his work has been unsatisfactory. A probationer may be appointed with a view to filling up a permanent vacancy but his appointment is always provisional and subject to his working to the satisfaction of the Management. Upon the facts proved in the present case, I am satisfied that the services of these probationers were terminated in a bona fide manner by the Company on the ground that their works were not satisfactory during the probationary period. The facts disclosed by evidence cannot reasonably point to the position that they were victimised for their connection with the Union. There is practically no evidence to prove that they were very active and energetic members of the Union and carried on Union activities which were not liked by the Company. None of the witnesses examined for the Union has spoken a word about this. The Company's decision as to whether the work of a particular probationer is satisfactory or not must be accepted so long as it is not proved to be mala fide or motivated. There is no proof in the present case that the Company's decisions regarding the unsatisfactory works of these probationers were mala fide or motivated. The Union has produced three certificates granted to three of these workmen by the then Chief Engineer [Exts. 3 to 3(b)]. These appear to be general certificates and the certificates certainly do not relate to their works as probationers after their appointment as probationers. These certificates were issued pretty long before the termination of their services in September 1961. These certificates appear to have been issued after the completion of their training periods. The Company has proved by producing the chart, Ext. P, that the position at the time of the termination of these workmen was that there were 13 probationers in all, among whom 8 were confirmed and 5 were discharged and these 5 are covered by the present issue. This shows that the Company after an examination of the works done by the probationers retained a majority of them and discharged a minority on the ground of their unsatisfactory works.

On the findings and for the reasons given above, I decide that the termination of service of these four concerned workmen, Sarbasri Shyamapada Chakravorty, Krishnabilas Chatterjee, Babu Nandan Mishra and Subal Chandra Das by the Company was justified and they are not entitled to any relief. I award accordingly under this Issue.

Issue No. 6: Proper categorisation of workmen on the basis of work done and extension of incidental benefits.

In the charter of demands, Ext. 1(a), the Union, after complaining that there were a good number of cases amongst the employees where the employees were not properly designated and were kept at a lower grade, though the jobs performed by them were of a higher grade with higher benefits and there were many jobs which were not properly evaluated and categorised, resulting in lower remuneration and less to workers, finally suggested that "there should be a complete study by a group consisting of members nominated by the Management and the Union (with equal representation) within a stipulated time and the finding should be given effect immediately the study is over" [para. 1(b) of the charter of demands]. The Company filed a Category Chart showing different categories of workers and the classes of workers under each category. The chart is as follows:—

"Category Chart

(1) Unskilled: Mazdoors, Jr. Chippers and Helpers.

(2) Semi-skilled: Junior or Assistant Moulders, Jr. Pattern Maker, Furnaceman, Grinders, Jr. Shappers, Jr. Turner, Crain Operator, Jr. Fitter, Hammer Man, Blacksmith, Jr. Marker, Mason, Jr. Welder, Coreman, Electric Helper, Jr. Carpenter, Chipper.

(3) Skilled: Turner, Fitter, Shaper, Electrician, Pattern-maker, Moulders according to working efficiencies.

This categorisation is said to be now in force. This position has not been denied or disputed at the hearing before me. There is no evidence before me to show that the chart is wrong or unfair. Prima facie the chart appears to be quite fair and proper. The general categorisation of the workmen into (1) unskilled, (2) semi-skilled, (3) skilled and (4) highly skilled has been practically accepted by the Union. But, it has been contended on behalf of the Union that there may be cases where the classes of workers shown under the different categories are not fair and proper. It is not possible for this Tribunal to make a decision on this point without going deeply into the nature and technicalities of the work done by different classes of workmen and this would require assistance from technical man. In the award of the First Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, a similar issue was raised, but the Tribunal did not attempt a final and conclusive decision of the Issue. The Tribunal made the following observations in course of discussions of this issue. "It will be very difficult to standardise jobs and their nomenclature over so many different kinds of industry. In a single company, it would be possible to make a rough and ready division of workers into the categories, unskilled, semi-skilled, skilled and highly skilled. But even if it were to confine our attention to one individual company, difference of opinion would be likely to arise regarding classification of particular workers, which would be difficult for us to resolve without the assistance of an expert assessor." That Tribunal did not finally decide that issue but according to the contentions of the concerned Unions, recommended to the Government "that a committee of experts should be appointed at an early date to go into this question; and we make no attempt at classification of the workers of the different industries into categories." (Award of the Omnibus Engineering Tribunal, published in the "Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary", Part I, dated the 3rd July 1948, pages 553 to 589.) The same difficulty about classification of workers or group of workers under the different general categories, which are practically not disputed, arises in the present case also and upon the materials before me, it is not possible for me to strictly particularise the classifications of workers under each category. As already indicated above, prima facie the general categorisation and the particular classifications under each category, as shown in the Company's chart, appear to be quite fair and proper and so, it is accepted, subject to the condition that if any specific dispute is raised about any particular classification or classifications under any of the general categories, there may be further conciliation regarding the dispute and upon failure of the conciliation, there may be further adjudication regarding the particular dispute. The Union's suggestion in the charter of demands quoted above holds little possibility of complete and final settlement of the dispute about particular classifications under each of the general categories and I am of the view that the representatives of the parties to the dispute in the suggested study group would hardly agree in resolving such a dispute.

Accordingly, I accept the Category Chart of the Company with the classifications of workers under each category, subject to the condition that if any dispute arises in future regarding a particular class or classes of workers falling under a particular category or categories, the parties to the dispute will be at liberty to have it resolved through the processes of conciliation or adjudication according to law. I award accordingly under this issue.

Issue No. 7: Quarters or House allowance.

The Union's claim under this issue as given in the charter of demands stands thus:—

> "Family quarters should be provided to every workers or in lieu, a house rent should be given to them at the monthly rate of Rs. 10 or 10 per cent. of total wage, whichever is greater.
> For building the quarters the scheme of Industrial Housing should be put to effect."

The Company's reply to this demand as given in Ext. 1, the reply to the charter of demands, stands thus:—

> "We have already applied to the Industrial Housing Scheme but it is not yet sanctioned. As soon as the same is sanctioned we will start building quarters. You will appreciate that we have started Factory only in the middle of 1958 and in that short period it is very difficult to provide cent. per cent. housing."

The same position has been taken up in the written statement of the Company in this case and it has been further contended that industrial housing is a matter for the state and not an obligation upon a particular employer and that upon the Company's application, the Industrial Housing Scheme has sanctioned 100 tenements to be built by the Company for its workers and the tenements will be constructed as soon as essential raw materials like cement, etc., are made available. It is also stated that with the present wage structure and with the present financial position, the Company is not able to shoulder any further financial burden by way of house rent allowance. Exhibit E is a letter from the Housing Department of the Government to the Company, dated 28th November 1961, whereby sanction was accorded to a non-recurring grant of Rs. 1,25,500 and a loan not exceeding Rs. 2,51,000 for the Company's project for construction of sixty double-roomed and forty small two-roomed tenements in single-storied buildings under the Subsidised Industrial Housing Scheme near this factory site at Raniganj. I am satisfied from the evidence that the Company is alive and alert to the housing problem of its workmen in the factory and has already moved in the matter and has secured Government grant and loan for construction of 100 tenements for its workers of this factory, but the construction will be made as soon as essential materials like cement, etc., are secured by the Company. I have already indicated under another issue that the Company's financial position is not very sound and since this factory began to operate in 1958, it suffered loss every year except in 1960 when it made some profit. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, I do not consider it fair and reasonable to place any burden or liability on the Company by way of house rent allowance to its workers. But, at the same time, I direct that the Company shall take every possible step to finish the construction of the tenements for the workers for which it has secured Government loan and grant under the subsidised Industrial Housing Scheme as soon as possible and without the least available delay. I award accordingly under this issue.

No. 1949-I.R./IR/8L-6/61.—14th May 1963.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 268-I.R./IR/8L-6/61, dated the 19th January 1961, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Sarat Textile, 9 B. T. Road, Calcutta-2, and their workmen represented by Cotton Textile Workers' Union, 7 Rani Rashmoni Road, Calcutta-13, regarding the issue mentioned in the said order, being a matter specified in the Second Schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred to the Third Industrial Tribunal for adjudication;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Industrial Tribunal Shri Bhagabati Prosad, a workman of the said company, made a complaint in writing to the said Inustrial Tribunal against the said company alleging that the said company had dismissed the said workman concerned in such dispute;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Industrial Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, filed by Shri Bhagabati Prosad, workman, against Messrs. Sarat Textiles Ltd., 9 B. T. Road, Calcutta-2, in connection with Government order No. 268-I.R./IR/8L-6/61, dated the 19th January 1961.

Miscellaneous Case No. 15 of 1962 under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Shri Bhagaabti Prasad, c/o India Chemical and Therapeutical Works Ltd., 9 B. T. Road, Calcutta-2—Applicant

Messrs. Sarat Textiles Ltd., 9 B. T. Road, Calcutta-2—Opposite party.

For the Complainant: workman: Shri A. R. Das Chaudhury, Advocate.

For the Company: Opposite party: Shri J. C. Chakravarty, Pleader.

AWARD

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act filed by Shri Bhagabati Prosad, an employee, against his employer (Messrs. Sarat Textiles Ltd.) complaining of contravention of the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act in the matter of his dismissal from service.

Petitioner's case is that he was employed as a Fireman in the Boiler of the Company's factory but he was wrongfully removed from service because of his trade union activities as a member of the executive committee of the Union. He has further alleged that the company contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act in not applying in time for approval of the action taken and in not tendering the one month's wages as prescribed by the proviso to section 33(2)(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act. So, his prayer is for relief of reinstatement with wages for the period of forced unemployment.

The Company has denied the alleged contravention of the legal provisions.

The relief sought for by the petitioner in the complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is for his reinstatement in the job he was holding under the Company with back wages.

Admittedly there was an application under section 33(2)(b) filed by the Company seeking this Tribunal's approval of the action taken against the said workman in dismissing him from service. That application has been dealt with and disposed of after hot contest. In that case the Company failed to score success. The application has been rejected and approval asked for has been refused. Therefore, the consequential result would be that the concerned workman Bhagabati Prosad be deemed never to have been dismissed or discharged and would remain in service of the employer. That is the view of the Hon'ble Supreme Court expressed in the case of Straw

Board Manufacturing Company Ltd. reported in 1962(4) F.L.R.403. In that case at page 407 Their Lordships observed as follows:

> "* * * If the Tribunal does not approve of the action taken by the employer, the result would be that the action taken by him would fall and thereupon the workman would be deemed never to have been dismissed or discharged and would remain in service of the employer. In such a case no specific provision as to reinstatement is necessary and by the very fact of the tribunal not approving the action of the employer, the dismissal or discharge of the workman would be of no effect and the workman concerned would continue to be in service as if there never was any dismissal or discharged by the employer * * *".

Therefore, in the circumstances any further consideration of the complaint does not arise. The case is accordingly disposed of.

AWARD

This is a complaint arising out of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, filed by Shri Haripada Goala against Tulsiram Lakshmi Debi Jaiswal Hospital. The application was at first filed before the Second Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, wherefrom it came to this Court on 15th February 1960 under Government Notification No. 1916-I.R., dated 13th May 1958, for disposal, the parties being previously informed of the same. After a few adjournments there was a talk of compromise between the parties and 22nd November 1962 was fixed for the result of the talk of compromise. On that date the parties filed a joint petition of compromise, comprising the terms of settlement with regard to the industrial dispute but before making the award my predecessor in office was transferred elsewhere. So today was fixed for disposal of the case in terms of the petition of compromise. I have gone through the petition of compromise with care. The terms of settlement are fair and reasonable. Therefore, in terms of settlement embodied in the petition of compromise I pass a compromise award on acceptance of the terms thereof and dispose of the matter accordingly. The petition of compromise marked annexure "A" do form a part of the award.

AWARD

The Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by order No. 5708-I.R.|IR|11L-397|59, dated the 5th November 1960, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the abovementioned dispute to this Tribunal for its adjudication.

This dispute was previously referred to the First Labour Court by G. O. No. 234-I.R./IR/11L-297/59, dated 18th January 1960, for adjudication which has been replaced by the Sixth Industrial Tribunal constituted under Notification No. 3115-I.R.|IR|3A-6|59, dated the 21st June 1960, and has in consequence been abolished by Notification No. 3508-I.R.|IR|3A-9|59, dated the 11th July 1960.

The Schedule

Whether the termination of employment of Shri Babujit Das is justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?

This reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, relates to the termination of employment of Shri Babujit Das (hereinafter referred to as Shri Das) who was a night watchman in the factory of Messrs. Satyanarayan Rice and Oil Mills (hereinafter called the Company).

The Alipurduar Rice and Oil Mills Mazdoor Union (hereinafter called the Union) alleges that Shri Das who was a night watchman of the Company was dismissed from service with effect from 24th May 1959 on the ground that while on duty as a night watchman between 2 a.m. and 4 a.m. on 23rd May 1959 a torchlight and a spear were stolen from his custody without his knowledge as he had been sleeping on duty. The Union states that the allegation was false, that no enquiry was held against Shri Das and the order of dismissal passed by the Company is illegal and unjustified. The Union prays that the order of dismissal may be set aside, and Shri Das be reinstated with all his back wages from the date of his termination of employment. The Union further alleges that Shri Das was dismissed from service for his Union activities and it was a clear case of victimisation.

The Company in its written statement denies the allegations of the Union that Shri Das was illegally dismissed from service or that the termination of service was unjustified. It is the case of the Company that Shri Das was one of the night watchmen who was required to guard the property of the Company and his period of duty was from 2 a.m. to 4 p.m. on 23rd May 1959. It is alleged that one Shri Rudal Singh, another night watchman who was on duty till 2 a.m. of 23rd May 1959 handed over the torchlight and the spear to Shri Das and in the morning, it was ascertained that Shri Das was sleeping while on duty from 2 a.m. to 4 a.m. and that the torchlight and the spear had been stolen from his custody. The Company further states that Shri Das left for his native village in the evening of 23rd May 1959 without taking any leave and so the Company sent the charge-sheet dated the 26th May 1959 to his native village in the district of Mazaffarpur in Bihar, that the workman concerned sent a reply to the charge-sheet, dated 31st May 1959, and that after consideration of the charges against the workman and his reply, and in view of the complaint made against him by another night watchman Shri Rudal Singh, the workman under reference was informed by a letter, dated the 8th June 1959, that his services had been terminated with effect from 24th May 1959.

It is now to be decided whether the termination of the services of Shri Das is justified.

Decision

The case was heard at Alipurduar on 12th March 1963 and 14th March 1963. The workman under reference Shri Das never appeared to give evidence before the Tribunal. The Union examined three witnesses. P.W. 1. Shri Rana Sen is the Secretary of the Union. He admits in his cross-examination that Shri Das was never an office-bearer or a member of the executive committee of the Union. He even had nothing to prove that Shri Das was a member of the Union at all. He has no personal knowledge about the facts and circumstances under which Shri Das was dismissed from service. So his evidence is of no avail to the workman under reference. It is alleged by the Company that Shri Das admitted having lost the torchlight and the spear while he was supposed to be on duty from 2 a.m. to 4 a.m. on 23rd May 1959 and this admission was said to have been made in presence of Shri Sitaram (P.W. 2) and Shri Ramjan Kha (P.W. 3) and another person. These two witnesses who were employees of the Company are no longer in service of the Company. They are interested witnesses, inasmuch as their services had been terminated by the Company before they came to give evidence. So, I cannot place much reliance upon them. I have already said that the workman concerned Shri Das did not appear to give evidence before the Tribunal. The Company has filed a complaint made by Shri Rudal Singh, another night watchman of the Company (Ext. F) in which that night watchman stated that he had been on duty up to 2 a.m. on 23rd May 1959 and that he had made over the torchlight and the spear to Shri Das at 2 a.m. on 23rd May 1959 and that it was ascertained in the morning that the torchlight and the spear had been stolen from the custody of Shri Das while he was sleeping when he was supposed to guard the property of the Company. It appears that the Company issued a charge-sheet to the workman concerned by registered post and that the workman concerned sent a reply. It is the case of the Union that the workman concerned left Alipurduar on 23rd May 1959 at about 9 p.m. after obtaining leave from the Company. The Company denies that Shri Das ever went on leave from night of 23rd May 1959. There is nothing on the side of the Union to prove that Shri Das went away on leave from 9 p.m. on 23rd May 1959, and this itself is a gross misconduct for which Shri Das was liable to be dismissed from service. O.P.W. 1 Shri Satyanarayan Agarwala says that he made an on-the-spot-enquiry but it was not done in a regular way by recording evidence of witnesses. In any event, the proprietor held some kind of enquiry before any letter of termination of service was issued. As it was a case of gross misconduct for a night watchman to sleep on duty even if there is no loss of Company's property during duty period, the Company was justified in dismissing him from service even without an elaborate enquiry if the Company was satisfied on the basis of a complaint by another Chowkidar that the workman under reference was sleeping on duty when the articles in his custody had been stolen. I have said that the workman under reference never came to give evidence to deny that he had not been on duty between 2 a.m. to 4 a.m. on 23rd May 1959 or that no torchlight or spear had been stolen from his custody. This being the case, the evidence against the workman under reference is more or less ex parte, but I have considered the evidence adduced by the Union and also by the Company and have taken into consideration the facts and circumstances of the case that I have discussed above, and I am of opinion that the termination of employment of Shri Babujit Das by the Company is justified. He is therefore not entitled to any relief. This is my award.

The index number for Terai area stepped up by 2 points from 117 in June to 119 in July 1962 and remained steady at the same point in August and September. The index number, however, rose up again by 4 points to 123 in October, remained stationary at the same point in November but finally dropped by 9 points to 114 in December 1962.

The rise in July was mainly due to rise in the price of Rice and a few clothing items while that in October was caused by a rise in the prices of Rice, Paddy, Vagetables, Saree, Shirting, Tobacco, etc. The fall in December was the result of a drop in the prices of Rice, Paddy, Potato, Dhuty, Saree, Printed cloth, etc.

PART VI.—Bills introduced in Parliament of India Reports of Select Committees presented to Parliament; and Bills published before introduction in Parliament.

LOK SABHA

The following Bill was introduced in Lok Sabha on the 7th September, 1956:—

BILL No. 55 OF 1956

A Bill to provide for nationalisation of the existing Light Railways in the country and for matters connected therewith.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Seventh Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (a) This Act may called the Indian Nationalisation of Light Railways Act, 19 .

(b) It extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.

(c) It shall come into force on such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

Nationalisation of Light Railways.

2. On and from the date appointed in this behalf by the Central Government, the management and ownership of all Light Railways in the country shall vest in the Government of India.

Rights and obligations after nationalistaion.

3. On and from the vesting of the Light Railways under section 2, the Central Government shall take charge thereof and shall have all the rights and obligations as the former had prior to the said vesting.

Compensation.

4. As for compensation to be paid to the previous owners of these Railways in respect of acquisition of their rights, title and interest, the provisions governing payment of compensation under the Air Corporations Act, 1953 shall apply mutatis mutandis. XXVII of 1953.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The state of passenger amenities on the existing company owned Light Railways is so bad that there seems to be no other effective solution than nationalising them and thus pave the way for their development. The existence of these Railways is not only an anachronism in the present state of affairs of our country but also not in keeping with the last declared Industrial Policy of the State. This Bill is intended to achieve the objective stated above.

Hence the Bill.

JHULAN SINHA.

NEW DELHI;

The 30th July, 1956.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

It is estimated that the capital at charge over the Light Railways in India comes to about four hundred and eighteen lakhs which will have to be compensated for.

No exact idea is possible now of the amount of recurring expenditure over the maintenance and running of these lines but surely it will be nearabout a crore of rupees per year.

LOK SABHA

The following Bill was introduced in Lok Sabha on the 17th December, 1956:—

BILL* No. 92 OF 1965

A Bill further to amend the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Seventh Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Central Excises and Salt (Second Amendment) Act, 1956.

Insertion of new section 3A.

1 of 1944.

2. After section 3 of the Central Excises and Salt Act, 1944, the following section shall be inserted:—

Emergency power of Central Government to increase duties of excise.

"3A. (1) Where, in respect of any excisable goods, the Central Government is satisfied that the duty of excise leviable thereon should be increased and that circumstances exist which render it necessary that immediate action should be taken, the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct an amendment of the First Schedule to be made so as to provide for an increase in the duty of excise leviable:

Provided that such increase shall not exceed fifty per cent. of the duty of excise leviable on the goods immediately before the issue of the notification.

(2) Every such notification shall be laid before Parliament, if it is sitting, as soon as may be after the issue of the notification, and if it is not sitting, within seven days of its reassembly, and the Central Government shall seek the approval of Parliament to the notification by a resolution moved within a period of fifteen days beginning with the day on which the notification is so laid before it; and, if Parliament makes any modification in the notification or directs that the notification should cease to have effect, the notification shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be, but without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done thereunder.

(3) Where, under any notification issued under this section the duty of excise leviable on any excisable goods is increased, for so long as the notification is in force there shall be levied and collected in respect of any like goods when imported into India as an addition to and in the same manner as the duty of customs leviable thereon under the First Schedule to the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, an amount which is equivalent to the additional duty of excise leviable in pursuance of any such notification.

(4) For the removal of doubts it is hereby declared that any notification approved by Parliament, whether with or without modifications, may be rescinded by the Central Government at any time by notification in the Official Gazette."

(5) This section shall cease to have effect on the thirty-first day of December, 1957 but such cesser shall not affect the continuance of any notification approved by Parliament and in operation at the time of such cesser.

*The President has, in pursuance of clause (1) of article 117 and clause (1) of article 274 of the Constitution of India, recommended to Lok Sabha, the introduction of the Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In the present price situation, it may be necessary both for encouraging exports and for mopping off excessive profits to make quick changes in excise duties. The object of the Bill is to give powers to Government to raise, by notification, existing excise duties subject to a maximum of 50 per cent. of the existing rates. Where excise duties are so raised, the import duties will also be increased correspondingly. The notifications so issued will be placed before Parliament for subsequent approval.

T. T. KRISHNAMACHARI.

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897 (III of 1897), the Governor is pleased to prescribe the following temporary regulations for the prevention and control of small-pox and for the medical inspection, isolation, observation and surveillance of persons suffering from, or suspected of being infected with, small-pox in the said districts for a period of three months:—

TEMPORARY REGULATIONS FOR THE PREVENTION AND CONTROL OF SMALL-POX.

1. In these regulations unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

Notices

2. If in any case the Health Officer considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of small-pox he may forthwith take such steps as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reasons why such work has been carried out.

3. If any measure which the Health Officer has by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice the Health Officer shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Costs and compensation

4. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of an order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the State Government except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession, in which case the expenses shall be paid by such person:

Provided that where the conditions which led the Health Officer to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the person in possession of the property, the State Government may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The State Government may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer in carrying out the measure under regulation 3 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

5. The State Government shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

Provided that no person shall receive any compensation for anything done or suffered under these regulations if he has failed to carry out an order issued under these regulations. 14. When a patient has been removed from a house for isolation under regulation 10, the State Government shall provide for him free of charge a suitable place, with necessary attendants, diet, etc.

Notices

3. If in any case the Health Officer considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of cholera he may forthwith take such step as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reason why such work has been carried out.

4. If any measure which the Health Officer has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice, the Health Officer shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

(2) The State Government may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer in carrying out the measure under regulation 4 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

6. The State Government shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

The undersigned is directed to state that the President is pleased to decide that Class IV Central Government staff may be sanctioned advances for the purchase of table fans on the following terms and conditions:—

1. General.—The advance will be interest-bearing and will bear the same rate of interest as that chargeable on advances for the purchase of conveyances.

2. Authorities competent to sanction the advance. —Heads of Offices (declared as such under rule 10-A of the Delegation of Financial Powers Rules, 1958, or under paragraph 3 of the General Financial Rules, Volume I, as the case may be) will be competent to sanction the advances in respect of non-industrial staff and "Heads of Industrial Establishments" in respect of industrial workers.

3. Elegibility.—The advance may be granted to Class IV Government servants who are living in houses which are provided with electricity and have a plug point and who do not already have a fan in the house. In the case of industrial establishments, employees drawing pay in a scale the maximum of which does not exceed Rs. 110 will be eligible for the advance.

Note.—The advance should not be granted to a Class IV Government servant who is under suspension.

4. Amount of advance.—The amount of advance will not exceed Rs. 100.00 nP. or the anticipated price of the table fan, whichever is less.

Note.—If the actual price paid is less than the advance taken, the balance should forthwith be refunded to Government.

5. Conditions of sanction.—(i) The advance should be applied for in the form prescribed in the annexure to this Office Memorandum.

This condition should always be mentioned in the letters sanctioning such advances.

6. Recovery of advance.—Recovery will be made in ten equal instalments from the paybill of the Government servant concerned. It will commence with the first issue of pay after the advance is drawn. The authority sanctioning an advance may, however, permit recovery to be made in a smaller number of instalments if the Government servant receiving the advance so desires. The amount of interest calculated in accordance with paragraph 25 of the General Financial Rules, Volume I, will be recovered in one instalment. The recovery of interest will be made from the paybill of the month following that in which the repayment of the principal has been completed. P. N. Mookherjee, J:

This is an election appeal under s. 116A of the Representation of the People Act, 1951 (Act 43 of 1951). It seeks reversal of the order of the Election Tribunal below, setting aside the appellant's election to the House of the People from Constituency No. 34 (Burdwan Parliamentary Constituency), a single member constituency for the Lower House of Parliament. The election was held in February 1962, the dates of polling being the 19th, 20th and 22nd of that month. There were two candidates including the appellant. The appellant was declared elected on March 1, 1962, he having secured 155,485 votes as against his rival Subiman Ghosh, respondent No. 3 herein, who obtained 123,015 votes. The election was challenged and the instant proceeding was started on April 10, 1962, upon an application, filed by two voters of the above Constituency, who are now the first two respondents before us. The rival candidate Subiman Ghosh is the remaining respondent No. 3 in this appeal.

The challenge to the appellant's election was founded, broadly, on two grounds, namely, (i) that he was, at the relevant date, the holder of offices of profit under the Government, both Central and State, which disqualified him from standing in the election in question under Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution, and (ii) that he (the appellant) was guilty of corrupt practices, which vitiated his election and made it liable to be set aside. The relevant and necessary details under the first head will be presently stated in brief. On the second ground, further details are unnecessary, as this ground was not pressed before the Lower Tribunal and, apparently, abandoned, the applicants (respondents Nos. 1 and 2) choosing to rest their case solely on the first ground aforementioned and confining their challenge to the appellant's election to and within the limits of Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution.

The appellant entered contest and, while admitting the broad basic details or allegations of fact, as given in the first two respondents' application, controverted their allegation that he was the holder of any office of profit under the Government, either State or Central, so as to be unfit for standing in the election under Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution. The contest, so raised, was thus, primarily one on a point of law, though, as we shall notice hereinafter, it involved also a small question of fact, necessary for a comprehensive treatment of the said point of law.

To turn, now to the specific allegations, relevant for our present purpose:

(1) That the appellant, a Chartered Accountant himself, was a partner of the firm of Auditors, carrying on business under the name and style of G. Basu & Co.;

(2) That the said firm of Auditors was the auditor of amongst others, the Life Insurance Corporation of India, Durgapur Projects Ltd., and Hindusthan Steel Limited, on certain remunerations;

(3) That, as auditor as aforesaid, the said firm was holding offices of profit under the Central Government and, accordingly, the appellant, as a partner of the said firm, was also holding such offices of profit;

(4) That the appellant was also a Director of the West Bengal Financial Corporation, he having been nominated or appointed as such by the West Bengal State Government, and such appointment or nomination carried with it the right to receive fees or remuneration as director as aforesaid; and

(5) That the holding of the aforesaid directorship of the West Bengal Financial Corporation on nomination by the State Government upon the usual fees or remuneration, payable to a director by the said Corporation, made the appellant the holder of an office of profit under the State Government too.

The above basic facts are not denied. Indeed, they are all admitted, namely, that the appellant is a partner of the firm of auditors G. Basu & Co.; that the said firm is the auditor of the Life Insurance Corporation of India, Durgapur Projects Ltd, and Hindusthan Steel Ltd., and receive remuneration as such, that the appellant is also one of the nominated directors of the West Bengal Financial Corporation, such nomination having been made by the State Government of West Bengal; and that he receives the usual fees or remuneration of a director as aforesaid It is contended, however, that even on these facts, the constitutional disqualification under Art 102(1)(a) of the Constitution is not attracted In essence, the parties differ broadly upon the above point of law alone, namely, the inference to be drawn from the above admitted facts, though, as we shall notice hereinafter, this difference embraces also a small question of fact.

Before the Tribunal below, the dispute "so far as the first three concerns are concerned, though broadly confined to the above point of law, was a little more broad-based in that, there, the appellant contended, further that appointment as auditor did not amount to the holding of an office or, for the matter of that, of an office of profit and that the mere fact that he was a partner of the firm of auditors, so appointed, did not make him the holder of any such office. No such extreme contention was, however, pressed or put forward before us and the learned Advocate General, with his usual fairness and in his usual brevity and 'to-the-point' argument, chose to confine himself, so far as the said three concerns, namely, the Life Insurance Corporation of India, Durgapur Projects Ltd and Hindusthan Steel Ltd, were concerned, only to the question whether the above admitted facts were sufficient to make the appellant, as partner of the firm of auditors G. Basu & Co., the holder of an office of profit under the Government, to wit, the Central Government, so as to bring him within the mischief of the disqualifying Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution. I may just add here that, upon principle and authority, a more extreme argument would have been untenable and it could only have raised a smoke, too thin to obstruct vision and liable to be cleared up in no time With regard to the West Bengal Financial Corporation, however, the submission was broader and there, the further question was raised whether the appellant's directorship of the said concern involved the holding of an office of profit at all. To these different contentions, I shall address myself in due time.

Before turning to the relevant Article, I deem it necessary to make a few preliminary observations. The essence of democracy lies in true representation of the people. It is essential, therefore, that the elected representatives should not be open to any influence or temptation, which may stand in the way or their serving truly the people of their constituency. Possibility of such influence or interest or semblance of any such temptation is sufficient disqualification unless law provided to the contrary. That, indeed, is the ruling concept, underlying the relevant parts of our Constitution. Parliament, no doubt, is supreme but it is so within the limits of the Constitution. It has powers in certain cases, to lay down exceptions and, while so authorising Parliament, the Constitution itself has provided certain exceptions. The exceptions, however, are exceptions to the above fundamental approach and principle and should be read as such and strictly construed. Corruption in election and corruption in the elected representatives are equally reprehensible and courts should be vigilant about it and prevent within the limits of the Constitution and permitted and relevant legislation, possibilities or chances of corruption, to keep pure, unsullied and unturmoiled the resplendent and transparent stream of representation. Conflict of duty and interest in the elected representatives should be avoided and they should be removed from all possible traces or semblance of influence which may deter them from discharging their duties to the electors or the people. As I have remarked on an earlier occasion upon a like or allied provision [s.7(d) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951], disqualifying provisions, like the present [Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution] "have been a familiar feature of election laws from very early times. They are based on a sound, solemn and salutary principle, which democracies or democratic constitutions can ill afford to spare or ignore. Their purpose is to guarantee the purity of the legislature and of the administrative machinery as well and it has been variously put by various eminent Judges and noted authorities, but always with an eye to the guarantee of purity of the legislature and administration and to keep the source or the fountain head of law and the stream of administration unsullied and free from corruption. The basic standpoint is 'to prevent conflict between interest and duty which would otherwise inevitably arise' [per Lindley L. J. in Nutton V. Wilson (1889) 22 Q.B.D. 744 at p. 748] and to prevent the member concerned from being exposed to temptation or even to semblance of temptation [per Lord Esher M. R. in the same case Nutton v. Wilson (1889) 22 Q.B.D. 744 at p. 747]. That, indeed, 'has never been questioned'" (vide Brojo Gopal Das and others v. Kalipada Banerjee and others, A.I.R. 1960 Cal. 92 at p. 98). The context also makes it plain that such provisions should receive, though, undoubtedly, within the limits of the Constitution and governing statutes, a wide interpretation to prevent the mischief, which might otherwise follow. Indeed, it is only reasonable that they receive the widest connotation and application, consistently, of course, with the letter,—and, if I may respectfully add, the spirit, —of the Constitution and the relevant statutes. Such construction may, no doubt, entail some hardship and some sacrifices, may be vital and considerable, and may demand a strong spirit of service and sacrifice from the intending candidates, but that in probably well both for the elector and the elected. Service of the people may not be possible or consistent with conflicting personal interest and such interest or possibility or chances thereof should be removed and obliterated, unless expressly permitted or tolerated by the Constitution or appropriate legislation, before one can hope or aspire to be a people's representative. Exigencies or practical considerations may justify exceptions but, of that, the Constitution and competent legislation are the only source and authority. There is grave risk in holding otherwise and the lurking danger, which underlies a different approach, may vitally endanger and undermine and even destroy the Constitution.

To quote, now, the relevant provision [Art. 102(1) (a) of the Constitution]:

> "Article 102: (1) A person shall be disqualified for being chosen as, and for being, a member of either House of Parliament—
> (a) If he holds any office of profit under the Government of India or the Government of any State, other than an office declared by Parliament by law not to disqualify its holder;

No other disqualifying provision or disqualification is relevant for our present purpose. In the course of argument, reference was made by the learned Advocate General to s. 7(c) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, but the contesting respondents explicitly stated and affirmed that their case is not founded on any provision of law save and except Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution and that they do not challenge the appellant's election except under that provision. This, indeed, is abundantly clear from the original petition, filed by them before the Election Tribunal, upon which the instant proceeding was started and upon which the same is founded, and they alleged and allege no other disqualification against the appellant's competency to stand for this particular election. Before the Tribunal, some reference appears to have been made to s. 8(e) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, possibly with a view to show that the appellant's directorship of the West Bengal Financial Corporation would not be a disqualification for the purpose of his present election but, as the Tribunal rightly pointed out, the said saving section [s.8(e)] refers only to the disqualification under s. 7(c), which is not relevant here and no part of the case of the contesting respondents.

In the context, the whole case rests on Art. 102 (1)(a) of the Constitution and, thus, the enquiry is limited to two points: (i) whether the appellant, at the material date and time, held an office, to wit, an office of profit, and that, again, under the Government, State or Central, and (ii) if so, whether Parliament has prescribed any protective or exempting provision in respect of the same.

This last part almost answers itself and answers itself in the negative, as the learned Advocate General has made it clear that the appellant does not contend that there is any such protection or exemption in the instant case, once it is held that he holds an office of profit under the Government, either as a partner of the auditor firm G. Basu & Co. in their capacity as auditors of the first three concerns, or, as a director of the fourth concern, West Bengal Financial Corporation and as the appellant, notwithstanding the fullest opportunities in that behalf, has not produced any materials before the Court, presumably within his power, to avail himself of the possible exemption under s. 2(a) of the Parliament (Prevention of Disqualification) Act, 1959, or otherwise, thus inviting, as a matter of law, an adverse presumption against him under s. 114(g) of the Indian Evidence Act, apart from the position that the onus to prove his eligibility for such exemption, if any, is upon him and that onus has not been discharged. To this part, I shall return later in greater details, after I have dealt with the main or the more vital part of the problem, namely, whether the appellant did, at the relevant date or time, hold an office of profit under the Government.

As I have said earlier, there is no dispute here that the appellant, as partner of the firm G. Basu & Co., who are auditors of the first three concerns, holds an office of profit. The question, however, is whether he holds such office under the Government. The answer, in my opinion, should be in the affirmative, although the grounds for so holding would be slightly different, at the outset, though not in the end, in the case of the first concern from the other two. The test, in each case, is the same in the ultimate analysis, although the process of reaching and applying that test is slightly different in the two cases. That test, as I read it on the authorities, depends on the seat of effective control over the office in question, such control being manifested and determined, primarily by the power of appointment and power of dismissal, though, in some cases, the source or the fund, out of which the remuneration is paid, may also require consideration and may usefully aid the final conclusion. This last factor, however, is, normally, of comparatively minor importance and is often neutral and not decisive by itself (vide Maulana Abdul Shakoor v. Rikhab Chand and another, 13 E.L.R. 149, at pages 157 and 158; vide also Dr. Deo Rao Lakshman Ananda v. Keshav Lakshman Borkar, 13 E.L.R. 334, at page 345). But there may be cases, where it may be of some importance and may even prove to be the ultimate determinant. In this connection, the following passages from the judgment of the Supreme Court in Moulana Abdul Shakoor's case, supra, may be usefully and conveniently quoted:

> "The power of the Government to appoint a person to an office of profit or to continue him in that office or revoke his appointment at their discretion and payment from out of Government revenues are important factors in determining whether that person is holding an office of profit under the Government, though payment from a source other than Government revenue is not always a decisive factor." (vide p. 157). (Vide also the pointed reference to the test, in the above matter, of the power of dismissal in the Government in the same page).
> "No doubt the non-payment from out of the revenues of the Union is not always a factor of any consequence but it is of some importance in the circumstances of this case" (vide p. 158).
> "The power of appointment and dismissal by the Government or control exercised by the Government is an important consideration which determines in favour of the person holding an office of profit under the Government but the fact that he is not paid from out of the State revenues is by itself a neutral factor" (vide p. 158).

And they, by themselves, amply support the above propositions.

Substantially, to the same effect, are also the observations of the Bombay High Court in the case of Dr. Deo Rao Lakshman Ananda, supra, where the relevant test is broadly stated in these terms:

> "Principal tests for deciding whether an office is under the Government are (1) what authority has the power to make an appointment to the office concerned, (2) what authority can take disciplinary action and remove or dismiss the holder of the office? and (3) by whom and from what source is his remuneration paid? Of these the first two are more important than the third one." (vide p. 345).

Speaking for myself, I would even go further to hold that where the powers of appointment and dismissal are vested in different authorities and the remuneration is paid by another, the office should be deemed to be held under all of them, if a wide connection and construction be preferable, as it should be under Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution and like provisions. Indeed, if the power of appointment be in a particular authority, it may well be said that the office is held under it (vide M. Ramappa v. Sangappa and others, A.I.R. 1958 S.C. 937 at p. 939; see also Gazula Dasaratha Ram Rao v. State of Andhra Pradesh and others, A.I.R. 1961 S.C. 564 at p. 570) and no less logical would it be to hold that the office is held under the authority, which wields the power of dismissal or pays the remuneration. For a strict determination no doubt; that is, where a single authority has to be found, it may well be necessary to consider the cumulative effect of all the above factors and stress on the one or the other may depend on the circumstances of the individual or particular case but where, as here, a liberal and wide interpretation is preferable, it is safer to hold that the office is held under the seat of control in the shape either of the power of appointment or the power of dismissal or the source of the remuneration or the like.

Admittedly, Durgapur Projects Ltd. and Hindusthan Steel Ltd. are Government companies within the meaning of s. 2(18), read with s. 617, of the Indian Companies Act, which governs them. Appointment of their auditors, therefore, is governed by the provisions of s. 619(2) of the Act. To the same effect, are the relevant articles in their respective Articles of Association and that had to be so as any different or contrary provision in that behalf would have offended the statute and would, thus, have been void on that ground. In accordance with the above, the appointment of the appellant's firm G. Basu & Co. as auditors of the above companies was "by the Central Government on the advice of the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India" and so also was or would be its re-appointment, if any [vide the above s. 619(2) and Arts. 152(a) and 143(a), respectively of the Articles of Association of the above two companies, following and in conformity with the said relevant statutory provision]. It is, thus, ex facie and in express terms, an appointment by the Government, to wit, the Central Government, which, in the premises, is the appointing authority and is so under the above Central Act. It follows, then that, in the absence of a provision or indication to the contrary, the same Central Government would be the dismissing authority and would have the power of dismissal in the matter under s. 16 of the Indian General Clauses Act, which stands in these terms:

> "Where, by any Central Act or Regulation, a power to make any appointment is conferred, then, unless a different intention appears, the authority having for the time being power to make the appointment shall also have power to suspend or dismiss any person appointed whether by itself or any other authority in exercise of that power."

The learned Advocate General argues that there is, in the instant case, such contrary provision or indication and he points out to us s. 224(7) of the Indian Companies Act. This sub-section expressly refers to and applies to an appointment under s. 224(1) and it may be a matter of some argument whether it is intended to apply to an appointment under s. 619. It is arguable, however, that, under the scheme of the statute, s. 619 really incorporates itself into s. 224 and becomes part of it except to the extent of inconsistent provisions, which it overrides, so that an appointment under s. 619(2) is, so far as Government companies are concerned, really and for purposes of the Act, an appointment under s. 224, to wit, s. 224(1), thus attracting to it sub-section (7) of the said section. This view receives some support and confirmation from the language of s. 619 [vide sub-section (1)]. Be that as it may, the position, even under s. 224(7), would be that the dismissal would be subject to the plenary control of the Central Government and, virtually and in substance, as I put it during argument, such dismissal would be by the said Government. This, indeed, follows from the pre-requisite of the Central Government's previous approval [vide s. 224(7)]. It is needless to emphasise that, in matters like the present, the substance counts and prevails and not the form. The net result would, thus, be that, in the matter of the auditors of the above two companies, the power of appointment and the power of dismissal would both be with the Central Government and their remuneration also would be fixed by the said Government [vide s. 224(8)] of the Indian Companies Act and Arts. 152(a) and 143(a), respectively of the Articles of Association of the two companies, already referred to and even though, undoubtedly, such remuneration would be paid by the two companies concerned, that would not make any difference in the ultimate conclusion that the said auditors would be holding office under the Central Government, there being, at any rate, sufficient and requisite control, vested in the said Government, in the matter of the said auditors (vide Maulana Abdul Shakoor's case and Dr. Deo Rao Lakshman Ananda's case, supra).

The same, in substance, is the position in regard to the Life Insurance Corporation of India too and the same would be the conclusion. This Corporation may not, strictly, be a Government concern, notwithstanding the Government's contribution of its entire initial capital (vide s. 5) and large amount of Government control, envisaged and prescribed in and under ss. 4, 6, 18, 21, 25, 27, 48 and 49. It may, on the other hand, well be an autonomous statutory body, being, as the statute says (vide s. 3), a body corporate, having perpetual succession and a seal of its own and capable of suing and being sued in its own name, and may, thus, be regarded as a separate and independent legal entity, distinct from the Government. It may or may not also, even be a body or authority under or subject to the control of the Government, strictly so called. Under the statute, however, which created it, the appointment of its auditors is regulated and controlled by s. 25, which, to quote only its relevant part, runs as follows:

> "Section 25(1) The Accounts of the Corporation shall be audited by auditors duly qualified to act as auditors of companies under the law for the time being in force relating to companies and the auditors shall be appointed by the Corporation with the previous approval of the Central Government and shall receive such remuneration from the Corporation as the Central Government may fix.
> * * * * *
> (3) The auditors shall submit their report to the Corporation and shall also forward a copy of their report to the Central Government."

It is clear, then, that, so far as this appointment of auditors is concerned, it is well under the control, —the effective control, as I put it during argument, —of the Central Government. Virtually and in substance, then, this also is a case of appointment by the Central Government, or, in other words, the power of appointment, or, more accurately, effective power in that behalf, lies with the Central Government. No person can be appointed auditor of this Corporation except with the previous approval of the Central Government. His remuneration also is to be fixed by the Central Government. Thus, in the matter of this appointment, the Central Government holds the whip hand and can dictate terms. Essentially, then, it is appointment by the Central Government, however much in form it may be made by the Corporation. The Act, again, does not provide for or deal specifically with the power of dismissal and, in the premises, the power of dismissal, in this case, too, would, in my opinion, vest in the Central Government under the aforesaid s. 16 of the Indian General Clauses Act. Even otherwise, the power of dismissal must, logically and on principle, be, in law, subject to the previous approval of the Central Government in line with the above statutory power of appointment, so that effective power in that behalf would be in the Central Government. In the ultimate analysis, then, this also would be a case where the relevant power of appointment and dismissal of auditors, or, at least, requisite and sufficient control in that behalf, would be in the Central Government and, even though their remuneration—but that, again, as fixed by the Central Government,—has to be paid by the Corporation, upon the test, laid down above (vide the cases cited), the appellant, in this case, too, would be holding an office of profit under the Central Government.

For holding an office of profit under the Government, one need not be in the service of the Government and there need not be relationship of master and servant between them. He need not be a Government servant. The Constitution itself makes a distinction between the holder of an office of profit under the Government and the holder of a service under the Government. It also distinguishes them from the holder of an office of profit under a local or other authority subject to the control of the Government. In the several relevant provisions [vide Arts. 58(2), 66(4), 102(1)(a), 191(1)(a) and 309 to 314, etc.], different and appropriate expressions have been used and these should not be confused. To hold an office of profit under the Government, a person need not be in the service of the Government and need not be the holder of a service under it or a Government servant. His remuneration, also, need not come from Government funds. It will be enough, if the Government holds the power of appointment and dismissal in the matter, or wields sufficient control over the same (vide the cases cited). On similar tests, the holder of an office of profit under a local or other authority, however, much such authority may be subject to or under the control of the Government, would also be different from the holder of an office or profit under the Government, as, in such cases, the power of appointment, and dismissal, or, at any rate, effective and sufficient control in the matter, would be in the local or other authority concerned. Distinction also exists between one, serving under the Government, and one in the service of the Government (vide Raja Bahadur K. C. Deo Bhanj v. Raghunath Misra and others, A.I.R. 1959 S. C. 589 at pp. 594-5).

On the above distinctions, the decisions, cited by the learned Advocate General, namely, Tamlin v. Hannaford (1950) 1 K.B. 18; G. Narayanaswamy Naidu v. C. Krishnamurthi and another 14 E.L.R. 21; Subodh Ranjan Ghosh v. Sindri Fertilisers and Chemicals Ltd. and another, A.I.R. 1957 Pat. 10; and Sm. Ena Ghosh v. State of West Bengal and others, A. I. R. 1962 Cal. 420, are all distinguishable and they will have no bearing on the instant case. The test here does not depend upon the particular concern being a servant or agent of the Government or a department of the same or under its control. The accent is on the holder of the office of profit,—whether he holds such office under the Government,—and the tests in that behalf are, on the authorities, as already explained, different and not necessarily the same as for service under the Government, or, for the matter of that, under an agent, servant or department of Government, or for the holding of an office under a local or other authority subject to or under the control of the Government, including an agent, servant or department of Government. The cited English authority, on which the learned Advocate General so strongly relied, was concerned with the question whether a statutory body like the British Transport Commission was an agent or servant of the Crown or a department of Government so as to be entitled to its (Crown's) immunities and privileges against the law of the land. With all respect to the learned Advocate General, I am unable to see how that decision, can be of any real assistance in the matter, now before us, or can have any relevance here, in view of the distinctions, stressed above by me.

Clearly also, the two cases, reported in A.I.R. 1962 All. 128 (Joti Prosad Upadhya v. Kalika Prosad Bhatnagar and others) and A. I. R. 1962 H. P. 52 (Siri Ram and another v. Niranjan Singh and others) are basically different and distinguisable in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in Moulana Abdul Shakoor's case, supra, as the holders of the offices of profit, there concerned, as, before the Supreme Court, upon the findings in the respective cases, held the offices, not under the Government but under an authority under or subject to the control of the Government.

Lastly, comes the West Bngal Financial Corporation. It is a body corporate, established under s. 3, read with s. 2(b) of the State Financial Corporation Act, 1951 (Act 63 of 1951), having perpetual succession and a common seal and capable of suing and being sued in its own name [vide s. 3(2)]. The appellant is a director of this concern. He has been nominated to it by the State Government, namely, the Government of West Bengal, under s. 10(a) of the Act. He holds this office at the pleasure of the said Government [vide s. 11(1)], his nomination and tenure as director as aforesaid, that is, including tenure of his said office, depending upon the said (State) Government [vide ss. 10(a) and 11(1)], reference to s. 13, which confers express power of removal of any director, nominated or otherwise, in certain contingencies, being unnecessary and irrelevant in the present instance. It is clear, therefore, that the power of appointment or nomination and dismissal, that is, removal from office or termination of the office, is vested in the State Government, which is sufficient to make the appellant the holder of an office under the said Government. On behalf of the appellant, reference was made, during arguments, to ss. 12 and 16 of the above Act to show that the appellant, as director as aforesaid, is neither a salaried official of the Corporation (as in s. 12), nor a servant of the State Government (as in s. 16) but that is wholly irrelevant for our present purpose, as, on the tests, laid down hereinbefore, the appellant would still be, upon what has been stated above, a person, holding an office under the State Government. In the permises, the only further question, which remains and needs consideration, is whether the appellant's aforesaid office is an office of profit. That question prima facie answers itself against the appellant, when, admittedly, he receives fees or remuneration for it. It was, of course, open to the appellant to rebut this prima facie position. He could have done it by showing that the fee or remuneration, which he receives, cannot be considered as profit in law for purposes of the above office, in view of the Parliament (Prevention of Disqualification) Act, 1959 [vide s. 3(i),], read with s. 2(a), or, possibly, by showing, in the alternative, that, as a matter of fact, it cannot be considered as profit in the light of the decision of the Supreme Court in Ravanna Subanna v. G. S. Kaggerappa, A. I. R. 1954 S. C. 653 at pp. 656-7. He has, however, chosen not to place any material before the court in that behalf, notwithstanding the fullest opportunities, given to him for the purpose, and, has, thus, failed to discharge the onus cast upon him in the matter. The conclusion, then, is irresistible that, as a director as aforesaid, the appellant holds an office of profit under the State Government and this, also, is sufficient to disqualify him under Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution.

Incidentally, I may note that, at one stage of the arguments on this last quoted aspect, reference was made by the learned Advocate General to ss. 7(e) and 8(e) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, under the impression that the Election Tribunal below, also, held the appellant disqualified for the election in question under s. 7(e) of the above Act, on the ground that he was a director of a Government concern and he criticised this view by emphasising that, this being a parliamentary election, to wit, election to the House of the People, 'appropriate Government' under the above section would be the Central and not the State Government [vide s. 9(1)(a)] and, however, much, the appellant may be a Director of a State Government concern, he would not, merely because he is such a director, be disqualified for election to the House of the People under the said statutory provision. Apparently, this argument had had its inspiration from the reference in the Tribunal's judgment to ss. 7(e) and 8(e) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, but as noticed earlier, that reference was made altogether from a different point of view and for a different purpose. The Tribunal did not hold the appellant disqualified under s. 7(e) of the above Act and the learned Advocate General's submission to the contrary is not correct. Indeed, there can be no question that the appellant is not disqualified in the matter of the impugned election, merely by reason of his being a director of the above concern, under s. 7(e), as the 'appropriate Government' for purposes of this election under the said section would be the Central Government and not the State Government under s. 9(1)(a) of the above Act, as contended for by the learned Advocate General. The respondents did not contest that position and the Tribunal also did not hold the contrary. Indeed, if the appellant's disqualification had been sought to be founded on the above section, that is, merely because of his being a director of the above concern, without more, that is, without his right to be remunerated for the said office, the appellant would have succeeded, at least on this part of the case, as the learned Advocate General's submission on this point of law would have been relevant and unanswerable. The above section disqualifies the director of a Government concern only to the exception, mentioned in s. 8(e), and, this it does, without reference to any provision for fees or remuneration and irrespective of the same. But the Government there must be the 'appropriate Government', that is, the Central Government in the instant case of parliamentary election [vide s. 9(1)(a)]. The above Act, however, would be irrelevant here and would not apply as the Government concern here in question is of the State Government. That, again, as I have already said, is not the respondents' case and the appellant's disqualification, as director as aforesaid, is not pleaded or urged under the above Act but under a different provision, namely, Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution, on account of the fees or remuneration, received or receivable by him as such director which, as I have held above, make it an office of profit and bring him within the mischief of the said Article, which speaks of an office of profit under the Government, be it State or Central.

One other aspect deserves consideration, although it was not specifically referred to before us. It may perhaps be contended that ss. 7(c) and 8(e) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, constitute together an exception to the rule of disqualification, otherwise available and applicable against the persons, mentioned in s. 7(e), under other provisions, e.g., Arts. 58(2), 66(4), 102(1)(a) and 191(1)(a) of the Constitution, so that, however, such a person within the aforesaid category [vide s. 7(c)] may be holding an office of profit under the aforesaid Articles, he will not be disqualified, unless s. 8(e) makes him so. If that view of the law be correct, the appellant would not certainly suffer, because of his directorship of the West Bengal Financial Corporation, even though, as held above by us, it is, in the instant case, an office of profit under the Government—the State Government, to be exact,— so as to be otherwise within the mischief of Art. 102(1)(a) of the Constitution. I do not think, however, that the aforesaid view of the law would be correct. Section 7(e), or, for the matter of that, that section, read with s. 8(e), of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, was not meant to be an exception to or under Art. 102 or a restriction to its disqualifying provisions. It constitutes, on the other hand, an extension of the rule of disqualification, though within the limits prescribed in and subject to ss. 8(e) and 9(1)(a) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, namely, that it makes the holder of the office, mentioned therein, disqualified to the extent, indicated in the said s. 8(e) and s. 9(1)(a), irrespective of the question whether it is an office of profit or not. In other words, a person, not disqualified under Art. 102 of the Constitution or the like, may well be disqualified under s. 7(e), read with s. 8(e) and s. 9(1)(a) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, without affecting the position that a person, disqualified under the said Article, would remain so in spite of the aforesaid sections, so that a person, not disqualified thereunder, that is, under the aforesaid section 6 may yet be disqualified under the above Article. That is, what has actually happened in the instant case.

It may be noted, in the above connection, that Art. 102 of the Constitution itself embodies an exception to the above Sub-Art. 1(a) in Sub-Art. (2) which lays down that "for the purposes of this Article (Art. 102) a person shall not be deemed to hold an office of profit under the Government of India or the Government of any State by reason only that he is a Minister either for the Union or for such State." But, obviously, that exception has no application here.

I would, accordingly, hold that the appellant was disqualified from membership of the House of the People by reason of his being a partner of G. Basu & Co. in their capacity as auditors of the first three concerns, the Life Insurance Corporation of India, Durgapur Projects Ltd., and Hindusthan Steel Ltd., and by reason also of his being a director of the fourth concern, the West Bengal Financial Corporation. The Election Tribunal below was, therefore, right in upsetting his election and allowing the contesting respondent's application for the purpose.

In the result, this appeal would fail and it will be dismissed. As, however, the point was, strictly speaking, one of first impression, the parties will bear their own costs in this Court.

Bijayesh Mukherji, J:

This is an appeal under section 116A of the Representation of the People Act, 43 of 1951, by the first respondent, Shri Gurugobinda Basu, whose election on March 1, 1962, to the House of the People from No. 34 Burdwan Parliamentary Constituency, a one-member Election Tribunal consisting of Shri Santosh Kumar Chakravarti, District Judge, Bankura, as constituted under section 86, ibid, declares void. The date of the Tribunal's order to that end under section 98(b), ibid, is August 11, 1962.

The circumstances leading to the "purely statutory proceeding" now under appeal need not be referred to further than as follows:

Sarvashri Sankari Prosad Ghosal and Narayan Chandra Ghosh, two electors of the Parliamentary constituency just named, present an election petition (the instant one) to the Election Commission calling in question the appellant's election on a certain ground one that is specified in sub-section (1) of section 100, ibid. The ground is that on March 1, 1962—the date of his election—he held several offices of profit under the Central and State Governments and was therefore disqualified for being chosen as member of the House of the People. The averment about his having held and holding offices of profit rests on the allegation that Messrs. G. Basu & Co.—a firm of which the appellant is admittedly a partner (as it transpires from his written statement) were auditors on March 1, 1962, of Life Insurance Corporation of India, Durgapur Projects Limited, and Hindusthan Steel Limited, shortened hereafter into "LIC", "Durgapore" and "Hindusthan", respectively. At the relevant time he was all this and more: a member nominated by the State Government of the board of directors of the West Bengal Financial Corporation, referred to hereafter, for brevity's sake, as "the Corporation". Voiding the appellant's election is therefore one relief prayed for. The other relief praying the seat for the defeated candidate, Shri Subiman Ghosh, the second respondent, is negatived by the Tribunal and no longer insisted upon.

The date of presentation of a petition as that to the Election Commission under section 81, ibid, is April 10, 1962, which is within forty-five days from March 1, 1962—the date of the appellant's election. Presentation over, it is admitted. The date of admission is April 22, 1962. A copy thereof is served on the appellant, the first respondent to the petition, and also on the second respondent whom the appellant defeated by 32,470 votes, as will appear from—

Names of candidates.	Votes polled.
Gurugobinda Basu ...	155,485
Subiman Ghosh ...	123,015
Difference ...	32,470

A copy thereof is published too in the "Gazette of India", the official gazette within the meaning of section 2(3)(c), read with section 86(1), ibid. See the "Gazette of India", dated May 5, 1962, referred to by the Election Commission in its order No. 4, dated May 17, 1962. All this done, the Election Commission by virtue of authority vested in it under section 86(3), ibid, constitutes the Election Tribunal (noticed already) and assigns the petition to it for trial, fixing the venue thereof at Bankura in terms of section 88, ibid.

The election petition reaching the Tribunal, it issues certain directives in pursuance of which the appellant qua the first respondent files a written statement denying that he had held on the relevant date or ever an office of profit under the Government—Central or State. That Messrs. G. Basu & Co. is one of the firms of Chartered Accountants doing the audit of LIC, Durgapore and Hindusthan is admitted. Is admitted too the appellant being a partner of the firm. What is denied is that thereby he holds an office of profit under any Government. The accent is laid on each of three undertakings—LIC, Durgapore and Hindusthan—being a separate legal entity with perpetual succession and a seal of its own and paying the remuneration of the auditors from its fund. The appellant having held an office of profit under the Central Government or any Government is therefore denied. At the same time it is averred that appointment of auditors is made by LIC with the approval of the Central Government and for Durgapore and Hindusthan by the Central Government. The appellant having been nominated by the State Government as a member of the board of directors of the Corporation is admitted. But it is emphasized that the Corporation is a statutory body incorporated under the State Financial Corporations Act, 63 of 1951, and pays out of its funds the appellant's remuneration "for attending the Board and Committee meetings". More, the impugned election concerning the Lok Sabha and the Corporation being an affair of the State, the State Government is not the appropriate Government within the meaning of section 7(c) of the Representation of the People Act, 43 of 1951, so as to have the slur of disqualification put upon him (the appellant).

The five issues struck by the Tribunal need not be reproduced. Suffice it to say that the first three only count and that the pith of those three may be rendered thus: is the appellant disqualified for being chosen a member of the Lok Sabha for having been on March 1, 1962—the date of his election—a partner of the firm G. Basu & Co.—one of the auditors of LIC, Durgapore and Hindusthan—and for himself being a member of the board of directors of the Corporation?

The learned Judge constituting the Tribunal holds that he is. The reasons why he holds so are—one, an auditor auditing the accounts as above holds an office; two, a firm holding an office, each member thereof, holds an officio too; three, the appellant, a partner of the firm of auditors (Messrs. G. Basu & Co.), therefore holds an office; four, the appellant and the firm he is a partner of are under the control of the Central Government in that LIC by virtue of section 25 of the Life Insurance Corporation Act, 31 of 1956, appoints the auditors with the previous approval of the Central Government and the auditors so appointed receive such remuneration as the said Government fixes, thus LIC not standing between the auditors and the Central Government and the auditors owing their appointment and the quantum of remuneration directly to the Central Government; five, more so for Durgapore and Hindusthan where under the articles of association auditors are appointed or reappointed by the Central Government on the advice of the Comptroller and Auditor-General, their remuneration, rights and duties being regulated by sections 224-233 of the Companies Act, 1 of 1956, and there being under the control of the Central Government thus looking so definite; six, Messrs. G. Basu & Co. and necessarily its partner, the appellant, must therefore be deemed to be holding offices of profit under the Central Government; seven, the office of auditors has not been declared by Parliament by law not to disqualify its holder; and eight, the appellant does hold an office of profit as a member of the board of directors of the Corporation under the State Government and as such is disqualified under Article 102(1)(a) of the Constitution, the Parliament (Prevention of Disqualification) Act, 10 of 1959, not coming to his aid, nor section 7(c), read with section 8(e) of the Representation of the People Act, 43 of 1951.

It only remains to be noticed that neither party calls oral evidence at the trial. Told so, the Tribunal expresses and records what it feels about this: "it is necessary to have the evidence of respondent No. 1", that is, the appellant before us. Such an observation emanating from the Tribunal, the learned Pleader appearing for the respondent No. 1 there (the appellant here) pleads for a little time "to think over this matter"—vide order No. 12, dated August 6, 1962, recorded at 11-40 a.m. And the hearing is postponed till 2-30 p.m. the same day, when, however, the decision not to examine either the appellant or any witness on his behalf is adhered to. Observing that "the risk is entirely of the respondent No. 1" the Tribunal sets down the proceeding on the day following "for arguments". Arguments heard, the Tribunal makes an order declaring the appellant's election to the House of the People to be void, as stated above.

The Tribunal has before it the pleadings—in particular, the admissions (briefly noticed) in the appellant's written statement—and certain documents received in evidence on behalf of the appellant on admission by his adversaries. These documents are Durgapore's memorandum of association (exhibit B), Hindusthan's memorandum of association (Ext. B/1), Hindusthan's articles of association (Ext. C), Durgapore's articles of association (Ext. C/1), Hindusthan's seventh annual report, 1960-61 (Ext. D), LIC's statement of accounts "for the year, ended 31st December 1960" (Ext. E), a letter, dated August 28, 1961, from LIC's executive director to Messrs. G. Basu & Co. enclosing a cheque for Rs. 29,000 as fees for auditing the accounts for the year 1960 (Ext. A) and another letter, dated December 29, 1961, from Hindusthan's executive officer enclosing a cheque for Rs. 70,000 as fees for auditing accounts "for the year ended 31st March, 1961" (Ext. A/1).

The learned Advocate General appears for the appellant. He has lightened our labour by conceding that the appellant holds offices of profit under LIC, Durgapore and Hindusthan. But, he contends, to hold offices of profit under them is not to hold offices of profit under the Government of India. That being so, he concludes, the appellant is not disqualified for being chosen as a member of the Lok Sabha, a House of Parliament, under Article 102(1)(a) of the Constitution.

How the auditors are appointed needs looking into. For LIC, the relevant section is section 25 of the Life Insurance Corporation Act, 31 of 1956—a section upon which the Tribunal bases its finding and Mr. Hari Prasanna Mukherji appearing for the respondents rests his contention that the appellant holds an office of profit under the Government of India. Sub-section (1) thereof provides, among other things, that the auditors shall be appointed by LIC with the previous approval of the Central Government and shall receive such remuneration from LIC as the Central Government may fix. Two things therefore emerge. First: though LIC makes the formal appointment of its auditors, it has fetters imposed upon it. No previous approval of the Central Government, no appointment by the appointing authority, namely, LIC. So it is there for all to see that the Central Government is the question whose auditor is the appellant Second: The remuneration the auditors will receive the Central Government fixes—not LIC. It is but another instance of the supreme voice the Central Government has in the matter.

The learned Advocate General contends that neither the previous approval of, nor the fixation of remuneration by, the Central Government answers the question whose auditor is the appellant of the Central Government or of LIC? Obviously, the contention runs, he is an auditor of LIC—a statutory body which makes the appointment, with the previous approval of the Central Government though. Such an approach merits more than one answer. In the first place, the appointment in form is no doubt made by LIC. But the appointment in substance is made by the Central Government. Say, the Central Government withholds its previous approval—a consideration which weighs with the Tribunal and which Mr. Hari Prosanna Mukherji makes a point of. Can LIC then make the appointment? The answer cannot be in doubt. It cannot. So the substance should prevail over the form. And it must be held that the real appointing authority is the Central Government. In the second place, by virtue of Article 102(1)(a) of the Constitution, the appellant will be disqualified for being chosen as a member of the Lok Sabha if he holds any office of profit under the Government of India other than an office declared by Parliament by law not to disqualify its holder. Parliament has not declared by law the office we see here—the office of an auditor—not to disqualify its holder. That is the common submission made on behalf of the appellant and the respondents. The office of profit the appellant holds comes under the compendious expression: any office of profit. Does he hold it under the Government of India which is but another name of the Central Government? That is much the most important question for decision. . The word used is under. Mr. Hariprasanna Mukherji quotes the authoritative dictionary by Murry and Craigie, Oxford, according to which under means subject to, denoting subjection to power or force exercised by some person or persons, beneath the rule or domination of. That an authoritative lexicon can be pressed into service in interpreting a statute appears to be beyond argument. Craies on Statute Law, 5th edition, refers at page 152 to Camden (Marquis) v. I.R.C. [1914] 1 K.B. 641 where Cozens—Hardy, M. R. says at page 647:

> "It is for the Court to interpret the statute as best as it may. In so doing the Court may no doubt assist themselves in the discharge of their duty by any literary help they can find, including of course the consultation of standard authors and reference to well known and authoritative dictionaries".

So reference may be made to another great work: Modern English Usage [1959] by Fowler. At pages 47-48 this authority on the English language says:

> ".....under like its contrary over is concerned with superposition and subjection and suggests some interrelation".

Superposition of the Government of India over the appellant in his appointment as an auditor of LIC is manifest. Equally manifest is his subjection to the Government of India in the appointment he is favoured with the remuneration he is allowed to draw and the submission of a copy of the audit report to the Central Government in terms of section 25(3) of the Life Insurance Corporation Act, 31 of 1956. And interrelation between one who dominates and one who is dominated is there too. So the appellant being an auditor of LIC (as the learned Advocate General submits) and the appellant holding that office of profit under the Government of India (As Mr. Hariprasanna Mukherjee contends) can stand together. The learned Advocate General developing his contention propounds a test. If LIC will not pay the appellants his dues, whom will he sue? Sue he must LIC which is a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal and which may by its name sue and be used [section 3(2) ibid]. Because he has to sue so under the express provisions of law, neither superposition of the Central Government nor subjection to the Central Government as noticed vanishes. And the appellant, an auditor of LIC, holds this office of profit under the Central Government without whose pleasure he could not have been where he is and could not have either drawn the remuneration he is drawing. Another test the learned Advocate General propounds is: where is the office of the appellant qua auditor? It is in LIC. What though that is so? To hold an office of profit under the Government of India one need not have his office in the secretariat buildings at New Delhi or in any building owned or rented by the Central Government. The very nature of the office the appellant holds under the Government of India demands that his office must be housed in LIC whose tomes of books and registers he has to scrutinize. Location of the office contributes little here. In the third place, to accept the learned Advocate General's contention is to ignore the object of the salutary provisions the like of which are in Article 102(1)(a) of the Constitution. Cf Article 191(1)(a) ibid. The object is to prevent a conflict between interest and duty. A member of a House of Parliament (here the House of the People or the Lok Sabha), as the appellant is, owing his appointment as an auditor of LIC and his remuneration too (Rs. 29,000 for 1960—the amount is irrelevant) to the Government of India though from LIC's fund can hardly be expected to do his duty for which the electors have chosen him as a member. Appearance must necessarily be in favour of his trying to ingratiate himself with the executive, with the Government of India. Even the most lion-hearted will not have the heart to criticise the action of the Government in the House when criticism is due. He will therefore cease to be a live member alert to his duty. He will instead be a member who is 'dead' and unequal to his duty as a chosen one of the people. If it is said, though that has not been said, that the appellant is much more than lion-hearted ready to brave all sorts of perils affecting his personal interest, the riposte is that Article 102(1)(a) ibid is such as taboos a member of either House of Parliament being "exposed to temptation or even to the semblance of temptation", to quote the words of Lord Esher, M. R. in Nutton v. Wilson, L. R. [1889] 22 Q.B. 744, disqualifying a member of the local board by reason of being concerned in contracts entered into by the board. The principle is the same—be it a contract [of section 7(d) of the Representation of the People Act, 43 of 1951, read with Article 102(1)(e) of the Constitution] or the holding of an office of profit under the Government. It admits of no compromise, not even a tinkering. The gist of the matter, be it said at the rick of repetition's that the appellant shall be disqualified for being chosen a member of the Lok Sabha if he holds any office of profit under the Government of India. He does hold an office of profit under the Government of India. I have stated why. He shall therefore be disqualified for being chosen a member of the Lok Sabha. That is the mandate of the Constitution [Article 102(1)(a)] with a view to preventing a clash between duty and interest which is bound to arise and thus keeping the purity of Parliament unsullied. That mandate must receive effect—and not the learned Advocate-General's contention, if I may say so with respect.

If the appellant's case is so weak about LIC, how weaken still is it about Durgapore and Hindusthan, two Government companies within the meaning of sections 2(18) and 617 of the Companies Act, 1 of 1956. By their articles of association [Durgapore's article 152(a) and Hindusthan's article 143(a)], no less by section 619(2), ibid, the Central Government on the advice of the Comptroller and Auditor-General appoints or reappoints the appellant or the firm of which the appellant is a partner (it does not matter which) as the auditor of these two Government companies. No question of the previous approval rears its head here. It is a case of an appointment straightway. So the power of the Central Government to appoint the appellant to each of these two offices of profit appears to be clear enough. No less clear appears to be its power to continue him in that office. The word re-appoints shows as much. The power to revoke this appointment is discernible too. In terms of section 16 of the General Clauses Act, 10 of 1897, the Central Government having the power to appoint the appellant as an auditor by virtue of authority conferred on it by section 619(2) of the Companies Act, 1 of 1956, has also the power to dismiss him in exercise of that power, unless of course a different intention appears. The learned Advocate General contends that a different intention does appear in view of section 224(7) ibid which reads, in so far as it is material here:

> ** ** ** **
> (7) .....any auditor appointed under this section may be removed from office before the expiry of his term only by the company in general meeting, after obtaining the previous approval of the Central Government in that behalf".

But the appellant is not appointed an auditor "under this section" namely, section 224. He is appointed so under section 619(2) ibid. To that extent the power of the company to appoint an auditor under section 224(1) ibid is no more. Indeed, this [sub-section (1) of section 224] must yield in favour of section 619(2) ibid by the very terms of sub-section (1) thereof:

> "619(1). In the case of a Government company, the following provisions shall apply, notwithstanding anything contained in sections 224 to 233".

Sub-section (2) of section 619 is a provision that follows sub-section (1) ibid. This is now Mr. Hariprasanna Mukherji answers the learned Advocate General's contention that sub-section (7) of section 224 manifests a contrary intention. It does not, according to him. Because the appointment of the appellant as an auditor is not under section 224.

The learned Advocate General replies that section 619(2) is there in section 224 as its sub-section (i) by incorporation. Tentatively the position seems to be this. Sections 224-233 enact general provisions about audit of companies. Section 619 enacts a special provision about audit of Government companies. So the special enactment over-rules the general enactment (though they are in the same Act) in so far as one is repugnant to the other. Repugnancy is seen in the manner of appointment of an auditor for a Government company and a non-Government company. Thus section 619(2) may be taken as being incorporated into section 224. If that is so, under this section in section 224(7) will presumably not exclude section 619(2).

This need not, however, be pursued further. Because there is still another answer to the learned Advocate General's contention. The words—after obtaining the previous approval of the Central Government in that behalf—as they occur in section 224(7) ibid call attention. Approval not given by the Central Government, the company is powerless. It cannot dismiss the auditor. So the Central Government holds the whip and necessarily the real power of dismissal. And with respect, it does not appear to be correct to say, as the learned Advocate General does, that all that the Central Government has is a power of mere appointment and no more. If Hindusthan or Durgapore will not allow the appellant to let in (an illustration the learned Advocate General takes), will that require the previous approval of the Central Government? He submits, it will not; it will be a breach of contract. It is hardly necessary to enter into it. All that need be said is that if this sort of shutting out the auditon is tantamount to dismissal—and what else can it be?—the previous approval of the Central Government shall be required.

Thus, the two conclusions come to so far are that the power to appoint or reappoint the appellant as an auditor of Durgapore and Hindusthan and the power to dismiss him vest in the Central Government. Another matter remains to be noticed, the source wherefrom the remuneration is drawn. The appellant is not, of course, paid from the consolidated fund of India. He is paid instead from the funds of Durgapore and Hindusthan. But that is a matter of minor importance when it is borne in mind that he earns his remuneration not because of Durgapore and Hindusthan but in spite of them. He earns what he gets as an auditor of these two Government companies, only because the Central Government has been pleased to appoint him as such.

It is now time to refer to authorities, though there are none determining for us the exact point we are now seized of. The starting point in a review of authorities must be the Supreme Court decision in Maulana Abdul Shakoor v. Rikhab Chand and another reported in 13 E.L.R. 149: A.I.R. 1958 S.C. 52. It will be a profitless task to notice decisions (of Election Tribunals) which precede it. Nor is it necessary to review the whole of the case law turning on the question of one being in the service of the Government. The point we have been called upon to decide is not that. It is whether or not the appellant holds an office of profit under the Government. The distinction between holding an office under the Government and being in the service of the Government is fundamental. The Advocate General, for example (an illustration he himself gives), holds an office under the State Government but is not a Government servant. The Government Servant Conduct Rules do not apply to him, as he says. To return to Shakoor's case, denuded of details not material here, the facts are simple enough. Shakoor holds on a salary of Rs. 100 a month the appointment of mohatmin (manager) in a school for teaching Persian, Arabic and Muslim theology—known as Madarsa Durgah Khwaja Sahib Akbari which was formerly under the Government of the Nizam of Hyderabad. The date of his filing the nomination paper that survives scrutiny by the returning officer is March 1, 1956. And the date of coming into force of the Durga Khwaja Sahib Act, 36 of 1955, is exactly that: March 1, 1956. By virtue of section 11 thereof, the committee, a statutory body created by this Act, has the power to appoint, suspend or dismiss servants of the Durga Endowment of whom Shakoor is one. A servant of this committee which Shakoor becomes after the passing of the Act cannot be regarded as the holder of an office of profit under the Government of India, merely because the said Government has the power to appoint or supersede the committee (sections 5 and 8 ibid) and up to interfere in other ways. The central facts emphasized are that the Government of India does not appoint Shakoor, cannot remove him and does not pay him from the revenues of India. It is accordingly held that Shakoor is not a holder of an office of profit under the Government of India and that Article 102(1)(a) of the Constitution cannot stand between him and his success at the election to the Council of States. Kapoor, J. delivering the judgment of the Court goes a little more and lays down the law in the manner following at page 157:

> "The power of the Government to appoint a person to an office of profit or to continue him in that office or revoke his appointment at their discretion and payment from out of Government revenues are important factors in determining whether that person is holding an office of profit under the Government, though payment from a source other than Government revenue is not always a decisive factor."

Again at page 158:

> "..... .....the power of appointment and dismissal by the Government or control exercised by the Government is an important consideration which determines in favour of the person holding an office of profit under the Government, but the fact that he is not paid out of the State revenue is by itself a neutral factor."

Translated to the facts before us, the power of appointment and dismissal of the appellant from the office he holds of an auditor of Durgapore and Hindusthan lies with the Central Government. The fact that he is paid not out of the consolidated fund of India but out of the funds of Durgapore and Hindusthan is not a decisive factor. A neutral factor, its importance appears to be practically nil in the circumstances here which look like an order on Durgapore and Hindusthan from the Government of India reading: Here is the auditor we have appointed under section 619(2) of the Companies Act, 1 of 1956. This is the remuneration we have fixed for him under section 224(8)(a) ibid. Pay him so.

The command on LIC reads almost that: under section 25 of the Life Insurance Corporation Act, 31 of 1956, we accord our approval to the appointment of the auditor you have proposed and this is the remuneration we fix. Pay him accordingly.

The only difference in the appointment of the appellant as an auditor of LIC is that LIC makes the formal appointment. But the appointment in substance is made by the Government of India. That denotes the power to appoint – the first "important factor" the Supreme Court lays down. And certainly it discloses "control exercised by" the Government of India which his Lordship (Kapoor, J) holds to be "an important consideration".

To section 16 of the General Clauses Act, 10 of 1897, again. The power to appoint includes the power to dismiss. But LIC's power to appoint the appellant an auditor is not an absolute one. A condition precedent is attached to it: the previous approval of the Central Government. The power to dismiss must therefore be subject to the same condition which is impliedly there. LIC wanting to dismiss the appellant and the Central Government not agreeing, the appellant cannot be dismissed. So the power of dismissal is, in the ultimate analysis, with the Central Government too. Thus the important factors the Supreme Court formulates with a view to determining whether or not a person holds an office of profit under the Government of India exist here also.

In Shakoor's case, the Supreme Court notices the difference in language between Articles 58(2) and 66(4) of the Constitution on the one hand and Article 102(1)(a) ibid on the other and observes at page 154 of the report:

> "Whereas in the case of the President and Vice-President the holding of an office of profit under an authority subject to the control of the Government is a disqualification, it is not so prescribed in the case of members of the Legislatures".

The learned Advocate General also invites our attention to this difference. But nothing turns on it. The appellant holds an office of profit under the Government of India for reasons set out above. Not that he holds an office of profit under an authority, such as LIC, Durgapore and Hindusthan, subject to the control of the Government of India.

Following Shakoor's case and relying on the tests laid down therein, the Bombay High Court disqualifies, under Article 191(1)(a) of the Constitution, an Employees' State Insurance medical practitioner who was accepted for service by the Surgeon-General, was removable by the State Government and had his remuneration (fixed by the State Government) partly met out of the revenues of the State: Dr. Deorao Lakshman Ananda v. Keshav Lakshman Borkar: 13 E.L.R. 334.

Other cases referred to at the Bar on behalf of the appellant do not help. G. Narayanaswamy Naidu v. C. Krishnamurthi and another, 14 E.L.R. 21, is a Bench decision of the Madras High Court where Rajsgopala Ayyangar, J. delivering the judgment of the court holds after an elaborate discussion and after having noticed Shakoor's case that LIC is neither a department nor an agent of the Government and that service under LIC is not service under the Government of India within Article 191(1)(a) of the Constitution. In the case in hand the appellant cannot flee Article 102(1)(a) ibid that way. Because the finding come to is that he holds offices of profit under the Government of India [Tamlin v. Hannaford 1950] 1 K.B. 18 holding that the Transport Commission is not an agent of the Crown merits a like treatment, no such question arising here on facts found. Equally ineffective is the reference to Subodh Ranjan Ghosh v. Sindri Fertilisers and Chemicals Ltd. and another, A.I.R. 1957 Patna 10 which is still another case to emphasize that servants of a body corporate like Sindri Fertilisers and Chemicals Ltd., a company having a separate legal entity, are not servants of the Union Government, even though the President of India in whom the ownership vests can issue directives upon the company which is bound to comply with them. The appellant before us is not being deprived of the fruits of his hard-fought election and the resulting success by 32,470 votes on anything like that. His election is being declared void on the ground that by the accepted tests referred to above he holds offices of profit under the Government of India and has therefore disqualified himself for being chosen as a member of the Lok Sabha. Sm. Ena Ghosh v. State of West Bengal and others A.I.R. 1962 Calcutta 420, decides that the Vice-Principal of a women's college sponsored by the Government does not hold a civil post under the State within the meaning of Art. 311 of the Constitution, even though her appointment and conditions of service require the approval of the Government. To read more into it will be to misread it. The tests I have gone by to determine if the appellant holds an office of profit under the Government of India-tests which the Supreme Court calls "important factors", "important consideration" — stand. Sinha, J. does not regard them as "conclusive" for the determination of the point before him. His Lordship prefers the test (also inconclusive) of "Governmental functions" which he considers to be the most satisfactory one on facts obtaining there and which he holds to mean the day by day executive administration of the Government. But the point for decision in this election appeal is whether or not the appellant holds an office of profit under the Government of India. The point for decision is not if the appellant is a servant of the said Government. So the outlook in the case before us is not the outlook in the case before Sinha, J.

In view of all that goes before, the conclusion I have reached is that the appellant as the auditor of LIC, Durgapore and Hindusthan holds offices of profit under the Government of India and that Article 102(1)(a) of the Constitution disqualifies him for being chosen as a member of the House of the People.

The appellant has still another hurdle to overcome and not overcome. The clear admission "in paragraph 10B of his written statement is that he is nominated by the Government of West Bengal to be a member of the Board of Directors of the Corporation". (The West Bengal Financial Corporation come into being under section 3 of the State Financial Corporation Act, 63 of 1951, has been shortened into "the Corporation"). The admission concludes: "He (the appellant) is paid remuneration for attending the Board and committee meetings out of the funds of the Corporation". By averring so the appellant relieves his adversaries of the onus that lies on them and almost proves their case. Almost, because in spite of this averment it is open to the appellant to prove that the remuneration he is paid is not by way of profit but as "the out-of-pocket expenses which he has to incur" for attending the meetings of the board and the committee, as in Ravanna Subanna v. G. S. Kaggeerappa, A.I.R. 1954 S.C. 653. But he does not examine himself nor any witness at the trial, though the Tribunal goes out of its way to afford him an added opportunity to do so. A Party, he does not pledge his oath on a matter which is within his special knowledge. That is the strongest possible circumstances going to discredit the truth of his case that the office of a nominated director of the Corporation (which he holds) is not an office of profit. [Murugesam Pillai v. D. Gnana Sambandha Pandara Sannadhi: 44 I.A. 98, Gurbaksh Singh and another: 32 C.W.N. 119 (P.C.) and Mt. Lal Kunwar v. Chiranji Lal: 37 I.A. 1]. To this be added that under section 16 ibid such a one, not the managing director nor a servant of the State Government, shall be paid fees for attending meetings of the board and the executive committee of which he is apparently a member, as the use of the expression "committee meetings" in the written statement goes to suggest.

Section 12(a) ibid the learned junior counsel for the appellant (Mr. Ghose) refers to cannot help matters forward for him. It is nobody's case that the appellant is a salaried official of the Corporation. A managing director he is not. He has therefore rightly been a director, without coming on the edge of section 12(a). But as a director he earns fees, section 16 ibid providing so. The same questions therefore arise: what fees? Only for reimbursement of actual expenses incurred for attending the meetings or something more? It may therefore be presumed that had the appellant stepped into the witness-box (which he deliberately avoided in spite of the Tribunal having been so generous to him), he could not have supported his case of the office of a director of the Corporation not being an office of profit. By parity of reasoning the appellant cannot take refuge under 'compensatory allowance', as defined in section 2(a) of the Parliament (Prevention of Disqualification) Act, 10 of 1959. There is not even a soupcon of evidence on which a finding of his fees being a compensatory allowance can rest. So the contention to that effect must fail. The other ingredients under Article 102(1)(a) of the Constitution are there only to be seen. The State Government nominates the appellant as a director [section 10(a) of the State Financial Corporation Act, 63 of 1951]. In plain language, it means that the State Government appoints him a director—an office which he holds during the pleasure of the said Government [section 11(1) ibid]. The State Government may remove him (section 13 ibid). Resign if he will, he must give notice thereof in writing to the State Government (section 14 ibid). Nothing more requires to be said to find that the appellant holds this office of profit, the office of a director of the Corporation, very much under the State Government. Once that is found, Article 102(1)(a) reappears to disqualify him for being chosen a member of the House of the People, though section 7(e) of the Representation of the People Act, 43 of 1951, will not, as contended by the learned Advocate General, conceded by Mr. Hariprasanna Mukherji and found by the Tribunal. It will not, because for this Parliamentary election the State Government is not the appropriate Government within the meaning of section 7(e) read with section 9(1)(a) ibid. The Central Government is. But it has no share in the Corporation not to speak of 25 per cent. share.

For these reasons I am for dismissing the appeal as my learned brother is—and in the manner proposed by him.

By order,

PRAKASH NARAIN,
Secy. to the Election Commission.

Issue

Whether the retrenchment of Sarvashri Hiru Bodak, Balai Chandra Nandi and Mongal Baidya is justified? To what relief, if any, are they entitled?

This reference was received from the Government for adjudication of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. As usual notices were given to both the parties, who duly entered appearance and filed their respective written statements. The case was then taken up for hearing and several witnesses were examined. At this stage, parties expressed their willingness to settle up the dispute amicably. They were helped in the matter of settling their own disputes with a view to promote employer-employee relationship and to maintain industrial peace and amity.

I am glad to record that the parties have successfully terminated the disputes and agreed to terms which have been embodied in an agreement. They have filed a joint petition on 6th May 1963 reporting the settlement and praying for an award in terms of settlement arrived at between the parties, and embodied in the agreement duly signed by the Partner on the side of the Company and by the President on behalf of the Union on 30th March 1963 and filed along with the joint petition.

The dispute under reference was in respect of retrenchment of three workmen of the Company. I am glad to find that the Company has agreed to take all of them back to service with revised wage rates with effect from 1st May 1963. I accept the terms as fair and reasonable and make an award on compromise in terms of the agreement, dated 30th March 1963. BEFORE THE SECOND INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri P. C. PAL, M.A., LL.B., Judge, Second Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Company: Shri K. K. Moitra, Advocate.

Present for the Union: Shri Anil Das Choudhuri, Advocate.

This is a reference under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4405-I.R./IR/11L-324/62, dated the 27th September 1962, for determination of the issue named below:—

> Whether the termination of services of Shri D. L. Srivastava and Shri N. G. Biswas is justified? To what relief, if any, they are entitled?

The Union's case is briefly this: The Company employs about 600 workmen at three places including its office at Calcutta. The two concerned workmen, Shri D. L. Srivastava and Shri N. G. Biswas, as well as several other workers of the Company introduced the name of Shri Jatin Chakravorty, M.L.C., to their Union as against Shri Nepal Roy, M.L.A., the then President who had lost all confidence of the workers. Shri Chakravorty was, accordingly, elected the President of the Union in place of Shri Nepal Roy, M.L.A. Knowing of the role played in that matter by the two concerned workmen, the Company became upset and tried to discredit the new leadership of the Union and ultimately started the game of victimisation and unfair practices by removing the two concerned workmen on false, frivolous and malicious pretexts. Shri N. G. Biswas was on authorised sick leave from 1st February 1961 to 15th February 1961. As his illness continued, he applied for further extension of leave for 15 days, but the Company arbitrarily terminated his service by a letter, dated 1st March 1961, with retrospective effect from 28th February 1961. Shri Biswas was an active member of the Union, and a clerk of the Company with clean record of service, but he fell a victim of the policy of victimisation of the Company. Shri D. L. Srivastava went on authorised leave from 26th February 1962 to 3rd March 1962 and was to report himself for duty on 5th March 1962. On 2nd March 1962 he sent an application to the Company informing about his illness and praying for extension of leave, and also sent a telegram from his home residence on 7th March 1962 for extension of leave. Instead of granting him further leave the Company, by its letter, dated 8th March 1962, asked for his explanation by a charge-sheet which was received by him on 16th March 1962. He sent explanation on 17th March 1962. Without caring for his explanation, and without holding any enquiry, the Company took shelter under an alleged provision of the Standing Orders [clause 9(3)], and terminated his services arbitrarily, illegally and in a mala fide manner by a letter, dated 16th March 1962. That provision of the Standing Orders is inapplicable in the present case. The Company by its letter, dated 9th March 1962, advised Shri Srivastava to report to his duty immediately on receipt of the said letter, but that letter was posted by the Company as late as on 16th March 1962 and was received by Shri Srivastava on 20th March 1962. On being cured of his illness he reached Calcutta and reported for work on 23rd March 1962 only to be refused employment on the mala fide plea of termination of service under clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders. This employee worked under the Company since 1938 and was promoted to various higher posts because of his honest, loyal and diligent discharge of duties. There was no occasion or pressing necessity on the Company's part to terminate the services of these two concerned workmen. The present action of the Company is entirely illegal and unjustified and tainted with victimisation, etc. The workmen of the Company became very much aggrieved and agitated over the termination of services of these two employees, took up through the Union the matter with the Government for conciliation which having failed this reference has been made. On these allegations the Union prays for reinstatement of the two concerned workmen with back wages, etc.

In the written statement of the Company the following averments are made: The order of reference is ultra vires of the Industrial Disputes Act; Messrs. Dabur (Dr. S. K. Burman) Private Ltd. situated at 142 Rash Behari Avenue, Calcutta-29, has no industrial dispute with the workmen employed at this address as mentioned in the order of reference; the workmen employed at this address are not interested in the matter of termination of services of Shri D. L. Srivastava and Shri N. G. Biswas. The Company situated at the above address is not the employer of either of the two concerned workmen and has nothing to do with them; there is no relationship of employer and employees between the Company and these two persons; the order of reference is bad and illegal. The Union does not represent any employee employed at the above address, or at Raja Subodh Mallick Road, Garia, 24-Parganas. The employees at the latter address are not interested in the present dispute, and the employees at these two addresses have never supported this dispute; the Union has no locus standi to raise this dispute which, in reality, is an individual dispute. Shri Srivastava was notorious for his absenteeism and irregularity in attendance. Many times in the past he was taken to task for this conduct. In spite of the humanitarian behaviour of the Company, he proved himself incorrigible. By an application, dated 19th February 1962, he applied for one week's leave with a prayer for some advance money. He was granted leave from 26th February 1962 to 4th March 1962 and given an advance of Rs. 350 but as usual with him he did not join his duty on the expiry of leave on 5th March 1962. The management waited for two days and on 8th March 1962 wrote him a letter asking for showing cause why action should not be taken for overstay. On 9th March 1962 the Company received his telegram seeking extension of leave on medical ground up to 10th March 1962. On that very date the Company informed him that the extension of leave had not been granted, and that he should join his duty immediately, failing which the Company would take necessary action under clause 9(3) of the certified Standing Orders. He did not join his duty on 11th March 1962 according to his telegram. On the contrary, on 11th March 1962 he applied for further extension of leave up to 14th March 1962 on the alleged ground of some unavoidable circumstances. As he did not join in spite of the Company's letter, dated 8th March 1962 and 9th March 1962, and as he overstayed his sanctioned leave for over 10 days, the Company invoked the provision of clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders and terminated his services by a letter, dated 16th March 1962. Subsequently he did not challenge at any time the ground of termination of his services; he rather wanted some monetary compensation from the Company which prayer was rejected.

Shri N. G. Biswas was a temporary employee working as a clerk in the factory situated at Raja Subodh Mullick Road, Garia. He too was highly irregular in his attendance for which he was cautioned many times. On 24th January 1961 he remained absent without any leave application and permission of the management. For this reason the Company by its letter, dated 1st March 1961, terminated his service under the provision of clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders. The story of this workman being on authorised sick leave from 1st February 1961 to 15th February 1961, and having applied for further extension is totally untrue. The Company also denies the allegation of the story of Trade Union activities of the two concerned workmen. Like Shri Srivastava, Shri Biswas also accepted his termination of service and unsuccessfully applied for monetary benefits. The Company did not violate any principle of natural justice in regard to any of the concerned workmen. It gave full opportunities to Srivastava for joining his duty and to explain his conduct, but he did not avail himself of those opportunities.

Decision

First of all, I take up the matter of preliminary and legal objections raised on behalf of the Company. These objections have been spread over in as many as 13 paragraphs (paragraphs 1 to 13) of the Company's written statement, almost in a stereotyped manner, some statements being repeated more than once. Though many things are stated in that written statement in those connections, only two points have been urged before me by Shri Moitra, the Advocate for the Company.

In the order of reference the words "Messrs. Dabur (Dr. S. K. Burman) Private Ltd., 142 Rash Behari Avenue, Calcutta-29, and their workmen represented by the Dabur Employees' Union" have been mentioned. With reference to this address of the Company, its contention is that the above words in the order of reference mean that the workmen working at that address have the present dispute, whereas the two concerned workmen are employed at the Garia Factory, and not at 142 Rash Behari Avenue and hence the reference is bad for non-existence of relationship of employer and employees between the workmen at the Garia Factory and the employer at the address of Rash Behari Avenue. This contention, in my view, is extremely futile. All the letters of the Company sent to Shri Srivastava came from that particular address at Rash Behari Avenue. This one fact alone is quite sufficient for the establishment of relationship of employer and employees between the Company and the workmen concerned. Further, in the written statement of the Union it is specifically stated that the Company has its factory at 3 places, viz., (i) Dabur House, 142 Rash Behari Avenue, Calcutta, (ii) at Raja Subodh Mullick Road, P.O. Garia, 24-Parganas, and (iii) Daburgram in the district of Santhal Parganas, Bihar, and that the Company employs about 600 workmen in all in its three factories including its office in Calcutta. The Union's Joint Secretary Khedon Dusad (P.W. 1) has deposed that out of the employees of the Company about 200/250 were members of this Union, including workers of the Head Office, Garia Factory and the Calcutta Office. So there can be no question of any defect in the order of reference, as contended on behalf of the Company. Shri Das Choudhuri, arguing for the Union, has stated that the address of 142 Rash Behari Avenue in the order of reference is only descriptive. He has referred me to the case decided by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, reported in 1962 (II) L.L.J. 732 at page 34, the decision in which sufficiently supports the contention of Shri Das Choudhuri. In the circumstances, therefore, this part of the preliminary legal objection is negatived.

The other legal objection is that the present dispute is not an industrial dispute, but an "individual dispute". It is said that there is no evidence that the workmen under the Company are interested in the case of the concerned workmen, and that the Union has no locus standi to raise the dispute. The evidence of the Joint Secretary of the Union is that the employee-members of the Union became very much aggrieved at the dismissal of the two concerned employees, and raised the dispute through the Union before the Conciliation Officer. According to this Joint Secretary, membership registers and proceedings books are now with the Secretary of the Union Shri Sunil De Sarkar who has now sided with the Company much to the prejudice and loss of the mazdoors. In cross-examination he has reiterated that he had no papers to show membership of the factory employees as the same were taken by Sunil Babu. From the record it appears that of late there has been some misunderstanding and quarrel between Shri Jatin Chakravorty (President of the Union) and Shri Sunil De Sarkar (Secretary of the Union), and a title suit was brought by the latter against the former. The evidence of the Joint Secretary that the Union Secretary has now sided with the Company has remained unchallenged. In view of these facts I can easily hold without any doubt that the employee-members really took up the matter in espousing the cause of the two concerned workmen in raising this dispute. Accordingly it is held that the present dispute is an industrial dispute, not an "individual dispute", and the Union has locus standi to raise this industrial dispute.

I now proceed to consider the case on merits in respect of the two concerned workmen individually.

(1) Re.: Shri D. L. Srivastava

As regards merits of the case concerning this particular employee, there is the only evidence of this workman on the side of the Union, whereas there is no witness on merits on the side of the Company. From the evidence of this workman and the papers including correspondences filed by the parties, the facts of the case appear to be as follows: Admittedly, Shri Srivastava was on authorised leave from 26th February 1962 to 3rd March 1962, and was to report for duty on 5th March 1962. On getting this leave, he went home in his native village, Vaturia, P.O. Bara, in the district of Gazipur in U. P. The unchallenged evidence is that this village is about five miles off from the Post Office, and letters are delivered from that Post Office in that village only twice a week. On 2nd March 1962 this employee sent an application for extension of leave on ground of sickness and on 3rd March 1962 he wrote a post card (Ext. 4-b) to the Company's Personnel Officer requesting for extension of leave up to 7th March 1962 on ground of illness, and stating that he would resume work on 8th March 1962. On 7th March 1962 he sent a telegram (Ext. 4-c) to the Company for extension of leave up to 10th March 1962 on ground that he was still unwell. That telegram was received by the Company on the 7th or the 8th March 1962. On 8th March 1962 the Company wrote a letter (Ext. 3-b) to this employee asking him to show cause within three days from the date of receipt of that letter for overstaying leave. In that letter no reference to the said telegram was made. It reached the Post Office Bara on 13th March 1962 and was delivered to the addressee on 16th March 1962 (vide the envelope Ext. 3-c). The reply to that letter by showing cause was sent on 17th March 1962 by registered post with a medical certificate (vide Exts. 3-d and 3-e). With reference to that telegram the Company wrote a letter on 9th March 1962 (Ext. 3-g) to say that the extension prayed for could not be granted at the present moment. By this letter this workman was asked to join his duty immediately, failing which the management would be compelled to take necessary action under clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders. On 16th March 1962, the Company wrote the most fateful letter (Ext. 3) informing him that on account of absenteeism since the expiry of the sanctioned leave for more than 10 days, this workman lost lien on his service and his service had been automatically terminated with effect from that date (16th March 1962) as per the provision of clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders. It is quite noticeable that Ext. 3(g), dated 9th March 1962, in which the workman was asked to join at once, and Ext. 3, dated 16th March 1962, by which his service was terminated, were posted on the same date, 16th March 1962, the former in an envelope under ordinary post, and the latter one in an envelope under registered post (vide envelopes Exts. 3 and 3A, respectively). These two letters reached the Bara Post Office on 19th March 1962 and were delivered to the addressee on 20th March 1962. Shri Srivastava has stated before me that as Ext. 3 was a registered letter, it was to be delivered urgently, and along with that letter Ext. 3(g) was also delivered, though it was an unregistered letter. This explanation is quite reasonable and satisfactory, particularly, when there is definite evidence that the two letters were posted, according to the Postal seals, on 16th March 1962 and delivered on 20th March 1962. Next, Shri Srivastava started for Calcutta reaching here on 22nd March 1962, and went to duty on 23rd March 1962, but was refused work on the ground that his services were terminated. Subsequently, on 10th March 1963 he wrote the letter Ext. 4, to the Company, and sent it by registered post.

In reference to the above facts and circumstances, the case of the Union is that the Company victimised this worker and acted against the principle of natural justice by not giving him proper opportunities to explain and defend himself, or even to join his duty as required of him by the Company itself. It is also contended for the Union that the action of the Company is tainted with mala fides and the provision of clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders is not applicable in the present case.

The case of the Company is that Shri Srivastava has all along been habituated in overstaying from time to time and late attendance often. It is said that previously he was once discharged for this misconduct and was warned several times, but still he remained incorrigible. It is also contended that the allegation of victimisation and mala fide action is totally untrue, and that this workman admitted his fault and apologised for the same in his letters to Sashi Babu (Works Manager) and the Company's Personnel Officer (vide Exts. B-1 and B-2 respectively). So the question of violation of the principle of natural justice for want of enquiry, etc., does not arise. It is also stated for the Company that in spite of the Company's earlier letter asking for showing cause, the Company changed that mode of action on receipt of the telegram by following the provisions of clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders, and hence no enquiry was at all necessary. It is also the case of the Company that this workman accepted the termination of service and only asked for some monetary compensation which was denied to him. It cannot be gainsaid, as can be gathered from evidence, that the past conduct of this workman was not very satisfactory. That is only in regard to attendance and overstaying, whereas his ability and efficiency as an employee is undoubtedly praiseworthy. The evidence shows that he was promoted from time to time and was put in more responsible posts occasionally. Yet his services were once terminated previously under clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders and he was next reinstated. He was also warned more than once for his late attendance. It appears to me that in regard to his past conduct in the matter of irregular attendance, the Company considered the matter of overstaying for the last time with more seriousness, and terminated his services under the said clause of the Standing Orders on 16th March 1962. The Company has annexed a table to its written statement to show this workman's irregular or late attendance on many occasions from May 1960 to February 1962. As against these things, the Union prepared a detailed chart from the Company's Attendance Registers of those three years produced at a late stage to show that late attendances of as many as nine other employees of the Company were of much higher scale in comparison with that of this particular workman, and yet no steps were taken against those persons by the Company. Thus the question of discrimination and victimisation has been raised by the Union in regard to the action taken against this employee by the Company. The plea of discrimination, however, was not taken in the written statement, but was taken at the time of hearing. It is said for the Company that this chart of the Union takes the Company by surprise. As this chart was prepared from the Company's own attendance registers, the fact ought to militate against the surprise on the part of the Company. In the circumstances, therefore, the contention as to discrimination carries force though this plea was not specifically taken in the written statement. However, the question of victimisation has been raised, and deserves careful consideration.

The Union's case is that Shri Jatin Chakravorty, M.L.C., was made the President of the Union in October 1961 in place of Shri Nepal Roy, M.L.A., the former President, through the instrumentality of Shri Srivastava and several others including the other concerned workman, and this enraged the Company which took a drastic action against Srivastava and ultimately terminated his services on 16th March 1962 to feed fat the Company's grudge against the employee. The allegation of the Union as regards victimisation has been strenuously challenged by the Company. It is the case of the Company that in the annual general election of the Union Shri Jatin Chakravorty was elected President for the first time in 1962, and in that election Shri Srivastava was elected Vice-President for the first time, and before that Srivastava had no concern with the Union. The argument advanced for the Company is that Srivastava became member of the Union subsequent to the termination of his services on 16th March 1962. It is also said that there was no election of the Union in October 1961, and in that year Shri A. S. Naskar was President and Shri Nepal Roy was not in the picture at that time. The Company called for files from the Registrar of Trade Unions. Both parties referred me to those files for the purpose of their respective arguments. It appears that on 19th May 1962 there was the annual general election for 1962-63, at which Shri Chakravorty was elected President. But with reference to the called for files, it cannot be said that Shri Chakravorty was elected President on that date for the first time. It also appears that by a resolution, dated 4th June 1961, Shri Naskar was elected President and there was no name of Nepal Roy. By another resolution, as appears from those files, read with the evidence adduced on the side of the Union, Shri Jatin Chakravorty was elected President on 12th October 1961 in an extraordinary general meeting of the Union, as there was non-co-operation from Shri Naskar. This shows that Shri Chakravorty was made President for the first time on 12th October 1961, not on 19th May 1962, as alleged by the Company, and that his election was not in place of Shri Nepal Roy, but in place of Shri Naskar. The fact, however, remains that Shri Chakravorty was elected President for the first time about five months prior to the termination of the services of Shri Srivastava. The Company's witness No. 2 Shri Jagdish Jha says that Shri Srivastava became a member of the Union only about the time of the general election in May 1962, and that this witness himself as well as Sunil Babu, Mukhara and Nandalal Bose approached Shri Jatin Chakravorty about the time of that election. In cross-examination of Nandalal Bose (O.P.W. 1) he says that only the working employees can become members, and not those who were dismissed. If that is so, Shri Srivastava must have become a member of the Union sometime earlier than the time of termination of service, not subsequent thereto. Again, Shri Srivastava has specifically stated that he was instrumental in bringing in Shri Chakravorty as President of the Union. That would be in or about October 1961. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case, this evidence is quite believable and deserves much more credibility than what has been stated in evidence by the two witnesses of the Company. Shri Moitra for the Company has referred me to Shri Srivastava's letter, dated 10th April 1962 (Ext. 4), and argued that in this long letter no allegation of victimisation against him was specified. Though there is no specific mention of victimisation as such in this long letter, still the spirit smells of some such thing. The question of victimisation is not too belated as this has been raised in the Union's written statement itself. In view of what I have discussed above, in relation to the election of Shri Chakravorty as President of the Union in October 1961, and the probable time of Shri Srivastava's membership of the Union, there seems to be some probability as to victimisation. But there is one important factor in favour of the Company to nullify the allegation of victimisation. It is undisputed that at the ime of Shri Srivastava's taking original leave, he also prayed for an advance of Rs. 500 and the Company granted him Rs. 350 as an advance. The Company could have refused the prayer for advance if it were minded to victimise this employee. In the circumstances, therefore, I hold that in spite of some probability as hinted above, the fact of the grant of advance several months after the first election of Shri Chakravorty as President of the Union appears to be quite enough to nullify the plea of victimisation. But the fact still remains that there was discrimination, having regard to the established fact that several other delinquents of greater irregularities in attendance got scotfree.

The Union has raised the plea of mala fides on the part of the Company. This allegation appears to have force in it. At the time of the grant of original leave to Srivastava, the Company added a condition that he should not overstay even for a day, as if, he should be immune from illness and other compelling circumstances beyond his control. Such a condition itself is meaningless and betrays the mind of the Company. He was asked to report for duty on 5th March 1962 positively. He sent an application for extension of leave on ground of illness on 2nd March 1962, and wrote to the Personnel Officer on 3rd March 1962. He also sent a telegram on 7th March 1962. On 8th March 1962 he was asked to explain his overstay within three days of the receipt of this letter. He actually got that letter on 16h March 1962 and sent reply on the following day by registered post. But in the meantime the Company wrote a letter to him on 9th March 1962 asking him to join at once. Though that letter bears the date 9th March 1962, it was posted one week later, i.e., on 16th March 1962 on which date the Company wrote him a letter wherein he was informed that his services were terminated under clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders. But as noted above, both these letters were posted only on 16th March 1962 and were received by the workman on 20th March 1962. He, therefore, did not get an opportunity to comply with the letter, dated 9th March 1962, by which he was asked to join at once. There was no unnecessary delay on his part as he came to Calcutta on 22nd March 1962, and went to resume his duties on 23rd March 1962. There is no explanation as to why the letter, dated 9th March 1962, was posted on the same date 16th March 1962 on which the letter of termination of service was also sent to him. This one fact alone is sufficient to cast serious doubt upon good faith of the Company. The action of termination of service before proper time on which this workmen could join service on receipt of the letter, dated 9th March 1962, is therefore tainted with mala fide intention, and there is no escape from it.

It is said for the Company that Shri Srivastava admitted his fault, apologised and accepted the termination of service and asked for monetary compensation only. Reference is made to two letters written by this workman to Sashi Babu (Works Manager) and to the Personnel Officer (vide Exts. B-2 and B-3). On a perusal of these two letters, I do not find that what he wrote to these two officers amounted to admission of fault and apology. In Ext. B-2 he expressed sorrow for his having to overstay owing to some very unavoidable circumstances. In Ext. B-3 he wrote to say that for some unavoidable circumstances he had been detained at home. There was overstay on his part no doubt. But that was for illness and unavoidable circumstances, as stated by the worker himself. This does not amount to confession and apology in the strict sense in which the Company's argument has been advanced. So I do not find any useful substance in this contention of the Company. Accordingly, the other contention of the Company that there was no necessity of holding any enquiry on ground of admission of guilt, etc., does not arise. The Company also contends that there was no necessity of an enquiry for misconduct in relation to the "show cause" letter, dated 8th March 1962 (Ext. 3b), because the Company proceeded to terminate the services of the workmen not for misconduct as such, but under the provision of clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders. The argument advanced by Shri Das Choudhuri for the Union is that by the letter, Ext. 3-b, the Company proceeded on ground of misconduct and asked for explanation and, therefore, the Company cannot now turn back and change the mode of action by acting under clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders. In Ext. 3-b the Company wrote as follows:

> ".....Such act on your part is contrary to the office rules, as well as to the certified Standing Orders and hence subject to disciplinary action. You are, therefore asked to show cause within three days from the date of receipt hereof as to why necessary action will not be taken against you for your abovenoted act".

From this there can be no doubt that the Company proceeded for disciplinary action on ground of misconduct on the part of the workman concerned. Accordingly, on receipt of explanation the Company should have proceeded according to the principle of natural justice by holding enquiry, etc. That was not done. The Company's contention is that it could change the mode of action under clause 9(3) though it first proceeded otherwise for disciplinary action. Ordinarily, the change in the mode of action would not be unlawful if such an action is taken bona fide [vide the decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal of Bombay, reported in 1956(I) L.L.J. 393]. But I have already found about mala fides on the part of the Company, and hence this contention is of no use to the Company. Consequently, there was violation of the principle of natural justice.

It is argued by Shri Das Choudhuri for the Union that the termination of service under clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders is itself illegal. His point is that clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders means only loss of lien which is not loss of service in reality. This clause 9(3) is as follows:

> "If the workman remains absent beyond the period of leave originally granted or subsequently extended by the Manager or the Personnel Officer, he shall lose his lien on his appointment unless (a) he returns within 10 days of the expiry of the sanctioned leave and (b) explains to the satisfaction of the Manager or Personnel Officer the reason of his inability to resume his duty just after the expiry of his leave. In case the workman loses the lien on his appointment his name shall be kept on the waiting list of the applicants for jobs".

Under this clause the workman shall lose his lien on appointment under certain conditions enumerated in this clause. Shri Das Choudhuri has referred me to the cases reported in 1952 L. A. C. 579 and 1952-(II) L.L.J.789 in support of his contention. In the first case it is held that losing lien is not the same thing as losing appointment. In the second case, the Labour Appellate Tribunal at Allahabad held that by more overstay of leave the workman only loses his lien on the job, and that is not the same thing as losing appointment. It was also held that, in such an event, not to frame a charge-sheet and follow the normal procedure was failure of natural justice, and the workman was eligible to be reinstated or compensated as might be suited to the case. In view of these decisions, therefore, the contention of Shri Das Choudhuri ought to succeed. It is, therefore, held that the action of the Company was mala fide, illegal and unjustified, so that Shri Srivastava is liable to be reinstated.

In paragraph 15(n) of the Company's written statement it is stated that the concerned workman did not challenge the termination of service and wanted only some monetary compensation which was refused. Shri Moitra for the Company has also based his argument on this point. But there is no cognet evidence at all to show that Shri Srivastava ever accepted the fact of termination of service and expressed his desire to be satisfied with only monetary compensation. The Company has put in some stray account figures (vide Ext. E) without any date of preparation or calculation and without any signature therein. Shri Srivastava admitted in his cross-examination that he wrote this account and gave it to the Company at the instance of Shri Raha, the Personnel Officer of the Company. He has denied the suggestion that he submitted this account demanding payment of the same by expressing that he would not raise any dispute over the termination of his service, if he were paid this amount. Shri Raha has not been examined. It does not appear to what particular matter these accounts related or referred. In the circumstances, and in the absence of proper and acceptable evidence, I am unable to hold that Shri Srivasatva was willing to be satisfied only with compensation by giving up any dispute over the termination of his service. His denial in cross-examination, as stated above, holds quite good in the special circumstances of the case. Accordingly, this contention of the Company falls through.

In view of the findings above, the Company is directed to reinstate Shri D. L. Srivastava to his former job with continuity of service, and to pay him all back wages for the period of involuntary unemployment, within a month from the date of publication of this Award in the "Calcutta Gazette."

(2) Re: Shri N. G. Biswas

This workman did not come to depose in this case and to claim or pray for reinstatement. His case, however, has been argued by Shri Das Choudhuri only on point of law. Two points have been raised by him, viz., (a) there has been misapplication of clause 9(3) of the Standing Orders in terminating the service of this workman and (b) the termination of service was ordered on 1st March 1961 with retrospective effect from 28th February 1961 quite illegally.

It has already been seen above in connection with the case of Shri Srivastava that loss of lien on ground of overstay is not the same thing as loss of appointment itself, and so there should have been proper charge-sheet and enquiry so that there might not have been any violation of the principle of natural justice. As respects the other point of giving retrospective effect, Shri Das Choudhuri has referred me to the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court's case reported in 1962(I) L.L.J. 471 where it was held that the dismissal with retrospective effect was illegal. Even in that case also there was no order for reinstatement; instead, the employer was given a chance to impose suitable penalty on the findings reached at the domestic enquiry. On the other hand, Shri Moitra, for the Company, cited the case decided by another Hon'ble Judge of the Calcutta High Court, as reported in 60 C.W.N. 1023. The decision in that case was that there could not be any order of dismissal with retrospective effect and that the order of removal could speak only as from the date of the order, and the order of removal was to be treated as a notice of dismissal as from that date. His Lordship in that case only awarded salary for the period from the date of suspension till the time of the order of dismissal of the workman concerned in that case. In the present case the illegality of the giving of retrospective effect is only in respect of one single day and, in view of the case relied upon by Shri Moitra, Shri Biswas may be given only one day's salary. But no fruitful purpose would be served by making an order like this in the instant case, the period being too negligible.

Even if it be taken that there is some force in the argument of Shri Das Choudhuri on the side of the Union, I am quite reluctant to give any effect to his contentions. As a matter of fact, Shri Biswas lost his service on account of his unauthorised overstay for over a month. In his letter, dated 27th April 1962 (Ext. F-3), he asked for settlement of his accounts in respect of gratuity, etc., and the prayer was rejected. This letter clearly shows that he any way accepted the termination of his service and would have been satisfied only with monetary compensation. The Company has also made out a case like this. The employee has not come to deny this allegation and to claim for reinstatement. In these particular circumstances, I hold that Shri Biswas's case for reinstatement fails and the same is hereby rejected.

Award is passed accordingly.

Spinning Accessories (P.) Ltd., 6 Dilargunj Road, Calcutta-2, and their workmen represented by Spinning Accessories Workers' Union, 29|10 Cossipore Road (Upper Floor), Calcutta-2, regarding the issues mentioned in the said order being matters specified in the third schedule to the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), was referred for adjudication to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Seventh Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an Industrial Dispute between Messrs. Spinning Accessories (P.) Ltd., 6 Dilargunj Road,

Calcutta-2, and their workmen represented by Spinning Accessories Workers Union, 29|10 Cossipore Road (Upper Floor), Calcutta-2. (Case No. VIII-96|62.)

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present :

Shri S. K. RAY, Judge,
Seventh Industrial Tribunal

For the Union : Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, and Shri B. K. Bhattacharjee, President.

For the Company : Shri N. D. Manna, Counsel, and Shri A. K. Dutta, Works Manager.

AWARD

The above dispute over the issues given in the order of reference and reproduced below was referred for adjudication to this Tribunal by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 2412-I.R.|IR|10L-67(A)|62, dated the 12th June 1962.

Issues

1. Wages.
2. Dearness Allowance.

As these issues are covered by the issues referred for adjudication of a general dispute between a section of the engineering companies, including the present Company, and their workmen, by Government Order No. 3537-I.R.|IR|10L-97|62, dated the 6th August 1962, to this Tribunal, the Company made a prayer before this Tribunal for decision of the issues of this reference in the reference by the said Government Order No. 3537-I.R.|IR|10L-97|62, dated the 6th August 1962, on the ground that the reference by the said order was an omnibus reference covering more than one thousand engineering companies and their workmen and as these general issues would be decided on a region-cum-industrywise basis in the said omnibus reference, it would be fair and proper to decide these issues in the wider scope of the said omnibus reference. The Union objected to this prayer. There was a contested hearing on this point and by Order No. 8, dated 12th December 1962, this Tribunal allowed the Company's prayer and directed that this reference would be heard along with the omnibus reference to which the present parties were also parties. Thereafter, the Union filed a petition on 28th January 1963 praying that this Tribunal may grant some interim reliefs to the workmen under the issues covered by the present reference pending final decision of the issues in the omnibus reference. Before the final hearing of this petition for interim reliefs by the Union, the Company filed a comprehensive agreement between it and the concerned Union covering all the current disputes between them, including the dispute over the issues under reference in the present case with a petition praying for a "no dispute" award in the case on the basis of this agreement. No dispute was raised by the Union about the agreement filed by the Company. It was agreed on both sides that the present reference might be disposed of on the basis of the agreement filed before this Tribunal. According to paragraph 10 of the agreement, consolidated wages including dearness allowance of the workmen of this Company would be as shown in details in Appendix B attached to the agreement. The agreement was also signed by some workers.

I have considered the terms of the agreement in so far as they relate to the issues under reference in the present case. The terms appear to be fair and reasonable. I am satisfied from the bipartite agreement filed before this Tribunal that there has been a bona fide settlement of the dispute over the issues under reference in the present case in terms of paragraph 10 of the agreement read with Appendix B thereto. This settlement must be given effect to by means of an award on the basis of the relevant terms. So, there cannot be a "no dispute" award, as prayed for by the Company. There should be an award on compromise in the relevant terms of the settlement.

In the result, I make a compromise award in the case in the relevant terms of the bipartite agreement contained in paragraph 10 and Appendix B. A copy of the agreement be made a part of the award as Annexure.

AWARD

By order No. 3063-I.R./IR/11L-57/58, dated the 10th July 1959, the Government of West Bengal, in the Labour Department, referred under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan Refractories & Ceramics (Private) Ltd., Durgapur, district Burdwan, and their workmen represented by the Hindusthan Refractories Shramik Union, Hattola Road, P.O. Durgapur Road, district Burdwan, regarding the matters specified in the schedule to the Third Industrial Tribunal, constituted under section 7A of the Industrial Disputes Act, by notification No. 808-I.R./IR/3A-2/57, dated the 11th March 1957, for adjudication.

Issues

1. Is the discharge of Shri Shib Shankar Shyam justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?

2. Is the retrenchment of Sarvashri Noor Amin, Sk. Motilal and Md. Soleman justified? What relief, if any, are they entitled to?

This reference relates to some industrial disputes existing between Messrs. Hindusthan Refractories & Ceramics (Private) Ltd., Durgapur, district Burdwan (hereinafter be referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by Hindusthan Refractories Sramik Union (hereinafter be referred to as the Union).

After receipt of notices from this Tribunal, both the aforesaid parties entered appearances and filed their respective written statements.

The Union's case in the written statement is that Shri Shib Shankar Shyam was a permanent workman of the Company and was employed as a Moulder. On 10th July 1958 he was charge-sheeted by the Company for some misconduct. The workman submitted written explanations on 11th July 1958. Suddenly there was a domestic enquiry held on 22nd July 1958 in presence of Shri S. N. Chatterjee who represents the Union sponsored by the Management. In that enquiry the workman was not given fair opportunities to defend his case, but ultimately the Company terminated the service of the workman by letter, dated 28th of July 1958. This action against the workman was taken by the Company because of his activities as a member of Shramik Union. In respect of three other workmen Sarbashri Noor Amin, Sheikh Moti Lal and Md. Soleman, Union's case is that they were originally engaged as Firemen in the Kiln Department, but the Company against the will of the workmen transferred them to Boiler Section where they were laid off on the plea of defective boiler and ultimately they were retrenched on the ground that the repair of the boiler would take indefinite time, that in the matter of retrenchment the Company did not follow the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act and that they were arbitrarily retrenched without justification. Therefore the Union's prayer is for reinstatement of these workmen with back wages.

The Company in their written statement raised a preliminary objection questioning the maintainability of the present reference on the ground that it is not an industrial dispute properly sponsored by a truly representative Union of the workmen of the Company but individual disputes and as such this Tribunal will have no jurisdiction to adjudicate upon. The Company has further denied the Union's allegations that there was no fair and proper enquiry and that the action against the workmen was vindictive and by way of victimisation on account of their Trade Union activities. The Company's contention is that the workman Shib Shankar Shyam was found guilty of misconduct as a result of a domestic enquiry. He was similarly found guilty on two other occasions previously but he was then let off with warnings. In consideration of his previous conduct and also the nature of the offence, of which he was lastly found guilty, he was rightly removed from service without any motive. As regards other three workmen, they were originally employed as Firemen in the Kiln Department, but on their prayer they were transferred to Boiler Department where for valid reasons they had to be laid off for about 10 days from 13th October 1958. But ultimately they had to be retrenched from 23rd October 1958 for cogent reasons after due compliance with the provisions for retrenchment. They could not be taken back because they had no certificate requisite for boiler attendance. Therefore, in their places new recruitments have been made to work as Fireman. They are not possessed of requisite qualifications. Therefore, reinstatement of the workmen will not be justified.

It may be noted that shortly after the first hearing date was fixed in this case on 26th February 1960, the other Union, namely, Durgapur Mazdoor Congress, applied to this Tribunal for being impleaded as a party, to which serious objection was taken by the Hindusthan Refractories Shramik Union which really espoused the cause of the concerned workmen and which Union has been named in the order of reference. However, the preliminary matter was heard at length and the prayer of the Mazdoor Congress was rejected by order No. 14, dated 17th May 1960. The matter did not end here, but it was dragged to the Hon'ble High Court and the hearing of the reference was postponed till the disposal of the Civil Rule No. 2140, dated 3rd June 1960 (issued by the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court). The record was received back on 21st September 1962. So the hearing of the case had to be stayed for more than two years. The case was taken up for hearing after the record had been received back from the Hon'ble High Court, Calcutta. Both parties examined witnesses, three on each side and used in evidence several documents.

Decision

Before I consider the two issues formulated in the order of reference I take up the preliminary objection raised by Shri K. K. Maitra, the learned representative of the Company, regarding this Tribunal's jurisdiction to try this case as an industrial dispute. His contention is that this is not an industrial dispute as contemplated under the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, but it is an individual dispute of the concerned workmen. The Shramik Union representing the workmen involved in the disputes under reference seriously challenged the above contention of the Company. Shri Maitra has contended that majority of the workmen of the Company are members of the Majdoor Congress and the workmen involved in the present dispute are not being represented by the said Majdoor Congress Union. Therefore, their cause has not been espoused by the majority of the workmen represented by the Majdoor Congress and as such the disputes are not industrial disputes but individual ones of the concerned workmen. The workmen involved in the disputes are four in number and admittedly they are members of the Sramik. Union and that Union took up the cause , of the four workmen concerned in the disputes under reference. It may be noted that at the early stage of the case the said Mazdoor Congress applied for being added as a party to this reference but was objected to by the Shramik Union which represents the workmen concerned. The matter was heard on contest by the then Judge Shri S. R. Ghosh, who rejected the prayer of the Mazdoor Congress by Order No. 14, dated 17th May 1960. The order was appealed against in the Hon'ble High Court by the Mazdoor Congress but without any relief. The order of Shri Ghosh was confirmed. It appears from that order of Shri Ghosh that the petition filed by the Mazdoor Congress was supported by the Company. According to the concerned workmen, Mazdoor Congress Union is not a truly Workers' Union but is one under the influence and control of the management of the Company. On behalf of the Majdoor Congress the application was filed by its Vice-President Shri Satyendra Nath Chatterji for being impleaded as a party to represent the workmen involved in the disputes. This Satyendra Nath Chatterji is not an independent person but he is no other than the paid Secretary of the Company. Previously he was serving as Transport Contractor of the Company (vide D.W. 1). So, he has been holding a responsible job in the Company. Be that as it may, it was found by the then learned Judge Shri Ghosh that the Shramik Congress was competent to take up the cause of the workmen involved in the present disputes although it does not represent majority of the workers of the Company. In support of his views he relied on the decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court reported in 1960 L.L.J. Vol. I, 491. I also do rely upon the said decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. Further I may refer to another decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court reported in 1961 (I) L.L.J. 334 in which it was held as follows:

> "A dispute becomes an industrial dispute even when it is sponsored by a Union which is not a registered or where the dispute raised is by some only of the workmen because in either case the matter falls within the sections 18(iii)(a) and 18(iii)(d) of the Act."

Therefore, in any view of the matter I hold that there is no substance in the contention that this Tribunal is ousted of jurisdiction because it is not an industrial dispute but individual disputes of the four concerned workmen. Accordingly the preliminary objection is overruled. Before parting with this preliminary point raised by the Company I would like to point out that at the eleventh hour the Company called for certain documents from the custody of the Union. The Union did produce some of the available documents called for by the Company. They have been kept with the record. One of them is the annual return in Form H for the year ending 31st March 1962. It appears from this document that there are as many as 78 members. Therefore the Shramik Union represents substantial number of workmen who may or may not constitute the majority. Therefore, the Shramik Union was competent to raise an industrial dispute which can properly be referred for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. Accordingly the Company's preliminary objection is negatived.

Issue No. 1

The Company terminated the service of the workman Shib Shankar Shyam by letter, dated 28th July 1958, with effect from 22nd July 1958 [vide Exts. A/18 and 1(d)]. Admittedly there was a charge-sheet issued against him on 10th July 1958 [Exts. 1(b) and B(2)]. The workman submitted written explanations on 11th July 1958 [Ext. 1(c)]. The Company not being satisfied with the explanation offered by the workman arranged to hold a domestic enquiry on 22nd July 1958 at 3 p.m. This was announced by a notice, dated 16th July 1958 [Ext. A(15)]. The Company produced the proceedings of the enquiry held on 22nd July 1958. This is Ext. C. The enquiring officer found the workmen guilty of the charges but he forwarded the connected papers to the Managing Director for final decision. The Managing Director after going through the enquiry proceedings confirmed the finding of the enquiring officer and recommended for discharge of the workman by his letter, dated 26th July 1958 (Ext. A/17). Thereupon the Assistant Works Manager by his letter, dated 28th July 1958

(Ext. A/18), informed the workman that his service had been terminated with effect from 22nd July 1958 and he was advised to collect his dues from the office.

It is well settled that in such a case where there has been termination of service of the workman as a result of a domestic enquiry in which he was found guilty, the Tribunal have only limited jurisdiction and they can interfere only—

(1) when there is want of good faith,
(2) when there is victimisation or unfair labour practice,
(3) when the management has been guilty of basic error, or
(4) where on the materials the finding is completely baseless or perverse.

[1961 (I) L.L.J. 511.]

In the instant case admittedly there was a domestic enquiry into the charges levelled against the workman as per charge-sheet Ext. B(2). The workman had opportunity to explain the circumstances and he actually did so (vile Ext. B/2). But the Company not being satisfied with that directed him to face an enquiry that was held on 22nd July 1958. According to the Company there was a notice of the enquiry given to the workman and Ext. A/15 is the said notice. But the workman denies service of any notice upon him. He says that he was called by a Durwan to the office of the concern on 22nd July 1958 at about 4 p.m. The notice Ext. A/15 shows the hour fixed for holding the enquiry was at 3 p.m. The workman has, of course, given the time by guess. Besides the notice there is also evidence of D.W. 1 Bankim Chandra Chatterji, the Works-in-charge of the factory. He says that besides the publication of the notice in the notice board he personally informed the workman of the date of the enquiry. He has not been cross-examined on this point. Therefore, it is difficult to disbelieve him on this point. The workman admits to have attended the enquiry. He also admits his dated signature Ext. A/4 at the bottom of the enquiry proceedings. The enquiring officer was Shri R. N. Thakur who was the Assistant Works Manager of the concern. He is no longer in service of the Company. The statements of the witnesses at the domestic enquiry were recorded by Shri Anil Kumar Chatterji whose nickname was Dani Babu. He is no longer in the land of the living. Another gentleman who signed the enquiry proceeding is Shri S. N. Chatterji who is the Vice-President of the Durgapur Majdoor Congress. The workmen objected to his presence at the enquiry. But there is no evidence whether similar objection was taken at the domestic enquiry. This gentleman is now the paid Secretary of the concern and previously he was serving as Transport Contractor of the concern, as admitted by D.W. 1 Bankim Chandra Chatterji. To support the charges against the workman two witnesses were examined, one is Shri Biswanath Bhattacharji, the Works Supervisor of the Company and the other is Shri M. Roy, who is the Managing Director of the Company. Both of them have also deposed before this Tribunal. The charge-sheeted workman himself made some statements before the enquiring officer in which he did not deny that he was sleeping during the duty hours. But he has pleaded that as he was suffering from some eye troubles and as there was no stock of clay for work, so he was resting. The charge against him was that he was found sleeping prostrate in the moulding shed during the working hours at 3-15 p.m. on 9th July 1958. The detection was made by the Managing Director himself while he was going round the factory along with a guest Shri S. Bhattacharji of Belpahar Refractories Ltd. The Senior Supervisor Shri B. Bhattacharji accompanied them. Both of them gave evidence before the enquiring officer as also before this Tribunal. The workman had opportunity to cross-examine them but he refused to do so. He, of course, lodged a protest in writing on that very day. This is Ext. 1(o). It shows that he objected to the presence of Shri Satyen Chatterji at the enquiry and his taking active part in holding the enquiry. But there is nothing in this letter to show that he had no opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses or the enquiring officer's refusal to examine any witness of his named before the enquiring officer. The Union also wrote a letter to the Company on 23rd July 1958 [Ext. 1(k)], and made similar protest. But in these letters there was no precise complaint of irregularities or unfairness in conducting the domestic enquiry. Moreover, the workman in his statements practically admitted that he was resting and idling away without permission during the duty hours. He says that he was suffering from eye troubles but there was nothing placed before the enquiring officer to substantiate it. If he was really suffering from eye troubles then why did he attend to his duties. He could have availed of medical leave. He having attended his duty should not have indulged in act of indiscipline during the duty hours. He could have easily obtained permission to leave the work instead he presented himself at the place of work for duty but was doing no duty at all. So, the Managing Director rightly took exception to his act and conduct while he himself went round the factory along with a guest and accompanied by the Senior Supervisor of the factory. Therefore, from the materials on the record I am inclined to hold that the workman was rightly charge-sheeted and that there was a fair enquiry in which there was no serious irregularities to vitiate it, and the finding was in no way perverse or completely baseless. There was termination of service of this workmen by letter, dated 28th July 1958 [Exts. 1(d) and A/18], but with effect from 22nd July 1958, which cannot be [vide 1962 (4) F.L.R. 19]. There can be no dismissal with retrospective effect. The dismissal should be taken as from 28th of July 1958 (vide 60 C.W.N. 1023), i.e., the date of the order.

The enquiring officer found him guilty of the charge levelled against him. The charge against him was, as I have already pointed out, that he was found sleeping during the duty hours without obtaining permission of the authority. What is lacking in the charge-sheet [Exts. 1(b) and B/2] is that there is no mention that under what provision of the Company's Certified Standing Order it was a misconduct. The Company has not cared to produce before this Tribunal the Certified Standing Orders. There is evidence to show that the Company has got certified Standing Orders. But there was no cogent and satisfactory reason for withholding the same. Therefore, there is no knowing whether the offence the workman was charged with was either a minor misdemeanour or a major misdemeanour according to the Standing Orders of the Company, and what was the punishment prescribed for it. The Company made no genuine attempt to produce the Certified Standing Orders before this Tribunal. I believe it was purposely. Therefore, in absence of the Certified Standing Orders it is difficult to say what was the appropriate punishment for sleeping during the duty hours.

Next question is that the workman is admittedly a piece-rater, i.e., his earning depends upon the output of his work. He is to work harder in his own interest. The more he will work the more he will earn. His case is that there was no sufficient supply of clay for his work of brick-making. Whatever supply of clay received from the Company was exhausted before he went to sleep. Company's witness No. 3 Biswanath Bhattacharji who is the Works Supervisor says that on that date this workman was given supply of 12 baskets of clay out of which about two baskets of clay remained in hand of the workman. He admits that in the same shed there were as many as 18 moulders working at the time. But curiously enough none of them was examined by the Company to prove that there was some quantity of un-utilised clay in the hand of the concerned workman. He further admits that the Company maintains records of supply of clay to the moulders and they have got such records in their custody to show what quantity of clay was actually supplied to this workman on that particular date but the Company has withheld those material documents from the domestic enquiry. It is quite true that production of that document would not have altogether disproved the offence but it would have at least reduced the gravity of the offence of sleeping during duty hours when there was enough work in hand to do. The offence would not be so serious for sleeping or idling away when there was no work to do for want of supply of materials by the Company. The charge-sheet (Ext. B/2) of course does not show that the workman was found sleeping while there was sufficient work in his hand. Therefore, from all these circumstances I am of opinion that the extreme punishment of termination of service meted out to this workman was out of proportion to the gravity of the offence, and as such it amounts to victimisation (vide 1960 I L.L.J. 175), specially when there is evidence to show that the workman was not in the good book of the Company because he was an active member of the Shramik Union which is not favoured by the Company. Regard being had to the entire facts and circumstances of the case I direct the Company to pay Rs. 500 to the workman concerned as compensation for loss of employment. There was justification for the finding but the punishment that was meted out to the workman was, in my opinion, too harsh and severe. Hence, I make the above direction for payment of compensation to the concerned workman. The said payment of compensation must be made by the Company directly to the workman concerned within a month from the date of publication of this award in the "Calcutta Gazette."

In the original reference this issue was in respect of retrenchment of three workmen out of which one workman Md. Soleman did not turn up to press his claim. The Union also did not press his case. Therefore, the claim in respect of the workman Md. Soleman has been left out of consideration as not pressed.

Union proceeded with the case of other two workmen Noor Amin and Sk. Motilal. Admittedly these three workmen were retrenched by the Company by retrenchment notice, dated 23rd October 1958. Exhibit G/1. They were working as Boiler Firemen at the time of their retrenchment. Prior to their retrenchment they were laid off by the Company from 13th October 1958 by a notice, dated 13th October 1958 [Ext. 1(f)—Ext. A/7]. It appears from this notice Ext. 1(f) that these workmen were laid off by the management on the ground that the boiler in which they were working went out of order and it was in the process of repair and the repair would take sufficiently long time before it is brought into operation. The lay off notice is dated 13th October 1958. That the boiler was defective was practically admitted by the workmen and the Union and this fact was reported to the Boiler Inspector by the Secretary of the Union by letter, dated 2nd September 1958 [Ext. 1(1)]. The Company also received notice Ext. A/22 which is dated 20th August 1958 from the Inspector of Boilers and the date of inspection was fixed on 26th September 1958. In reply to this notice of the Inspector of Boilers, the management wrote to the Inspector of Boilers on 1st September 1958 (vide Ext. A/23) asking for sanction to maintain steam in the boiler up to 20th September 1958. But the Inspector's reply came in the negative. On the contrary, he advised the management to put the boiler out of commission immediately and to lay it off for thorough annual survey. This was communicated by his letter, dated 10th September 1958 (Ext. A/24). The boiler was actually inspected by the Inspector of Boilers on the appointed date (26th September 1958) and the inspection report (Ext. E) shows that the boiler was found defective. So, the management was directed to have it repaired and the defects removed. The inspection report Ext. E is dated 7th October 1958. Therefore, in the circumstances, the Company had to lay off the three workmen who were serving as boiler firemen, and as such there was justification for it. In the meantime the workmen were asked to produce the requisite boiler attendance certificate by two letters Exts. A/25 and A/26 which are dated 30th September 1958 and 1st October 1958. In reply the two workmen Noor Amin and Sk. Motilal informed the management that they had no boiler attendance certificate. They further stated in their letters, dated 4th October 1958 [Exts. 1(s) and 1(t)] that this fact was known to the management because they were originally appointed as Kiln Firemen and not as Boiler Firemen. They were actually working as Kiln Firemen but the Company forced them to work as Boiler Firemen against their will. The Union also similarly reported to the Works Manager by its letter, dated 3rd October 1958 [Ext. 1(m)]. Admittedly these workmen were recruited by the management as Kiln Firemen and in that capacity they worked for a year or so. Then they were transferred to Boiler Department to work as Boiler Firemen. This is admitted by the Managing Director (D.W. 2) in his evidence before this Tribunal. He has further stated that these two workmen served as Boiler Firemen for about 5/6 months before they were laid off. So, there is hardly any room for suspicion that these workmen were purposely transferred to Boiler Section with a view to get rid of them at the time of annual inspection of the boiler. There is evidence to show that these two workmen with a view to get higher wages volunteered to serve as Boiler Firemen. They were getting lower wages and they were working as Kiln Firemen than what they received as Boiler Firemen. The Company engaged these workmen knowing well that they had no requisite certificate for working in the boiler. These workmen were serving as Kiln Firemen in which capacity they were not expected to possess any such certificate. After they gained some experience as Kiln Firemen Company found it profitable to employ them as Boiler Firemen. In that case the Company would make gain by paying them lower wages than that of a Boiler Fireman possessed of the requisite certificate. But when these workmen started grumbling regarding their wages and other amenities the Company took advantage of the position that they were not in possession of the requisite certificate. The workmen while they remained employed as Boiler Firemen started agitation for higher wages and overtime, wages, etc. This will appear from their petitions Exts. A/13 and A/20. These two workmen were paid at the rate of Rs. 1/14 per day as deposed by Company's witness No. 1 Bankim Chandra Chatterji. This is undoubtedly not a fair wage for a Boiler Fireman. This fact will be abundantly clear from the wages actually the Company had to pay to a Boiler Fireman possessed of the requisite certificate. The Company appointed Md. Israil as Boiler Fireman by letter, dated 22nd November 1958 [Ext. 1(v)], on a monthly pay of Rs. 90. This man, of course, was possessed of the requisite certificate as is apparent from the letter Ext. A/27. His certificate No. 7827. However, the wages actually paid by the management to the concerned workmen were much less than what they actually offered to Md. Israil in the same job. So, the Company found it profitable to employ the concerned workmen as boiler firemen although not possessed of the requisite certificate. But when they started agitation over their wages and overtime rates, etc., the Company found opportunity for their removal taking advantage of the fact that they had no such requisite certificate. The requisite certificate for working in a boiler is issued from the office of the Chief Inspector of Boilers. This is apparent from letter Ext. A/27. In the case of the concerned workmen they had no certificate. This fact is admitted by them also. Therefore, some justification was there for their retrenchment and appointing proper men possessed of the requisite certificate in their places to work in the boiler. Now, the question is how the retrenchment in question was effected by the management. The workmen were first laid off from 13th October 1958 [vide Ext. 1(f)]. Thereafter they were retrenched from services by a subsequent notice, dated 23rd October 1958 [Ext. 1(g)], with effect from that date. Section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act provides that "no workman employed in an industry who has been in continuous service for not less than one year under an employer, shall be retrenched by that employer until—

(a) the workmen has been given one month's notice in writing indicating the reasons for retrenchment and the period of notice has expired, or the workman has been paid in lieu of such notice, wages for the period of the notice:

Provided that no such notice shall be necessary if the retrenchment is under an agreement which specifies a date for the termination of service;

(b) the workman has been paid, at the time of retrenchment, compensation which shall be equivalent to fifteen days' average pay for every completed year of service or any part thereof in excess of six months; and

(c) notice in the prescribed manner is served on the appropriate Government."

There is evidence to show that these workmen served for more than one year under the same concern. It transpires in the cross-examination of P.W. 3 Noor Amin that he worked for about six months in the boiler and for one and half years in the kiln under the same concern. There is also no evidence on the side of the Company to show that these workmen served under the concern for less than one year. Therefore, the Company must comply with the aforesaid legal provisions "which are conditions precedent to retrenchment of the workmen" as the heading of the section goes. In the instant case the Company, as is apparent from the retrenchment notice [Ext. 1(g)—A/10], informed the workmen that they will be paid one month's wages in lieu of notice and also retrenchment compensation as provided in the Industrial Disputes Act, and they were directed to collect the dues from the Company on any working day during working hours. There is no evidence to show that one month's wages and the retrenchment compensation have been paid to the workmen up till now. Mere intimation that they will be paid by the Company is not sufficient compliance with the mandatory provisions of section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act. Such payments as provided in section 25F must be made before the proposed retrenchment is effected. But in the present case no such payments have been made or effectively tendered to the workmen. There is no evidence on the side of the Company on this point. The very heading of the section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act leaves no manner of doubt that these payments are conditions precedent to any retrenchment. The Hon'ble Supreme Court also similarly held in the case of State of Bombay vs. Hospital Mazdoor Sabha and others reported in 1961 L.L.J. (I) 251. According to the Hon'ble Supreme Court, non-compliance with the conditions would render the impugned retrenchment invalid and inoperative. In another decision of the Bombay High Court reported in 1961 I.L.L.J. 167 the same view was taken and it was held that the heading of section 25F leaves no doubt that the observance of the provision thereof is a condition precedent to retrenchment of a workman to whom the section applies. Therefore, in view of the above authoritative decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court and of the Bombay High Court, I must hold the retrenchments of the workmen Noor Amin and Sk. Motilal as invalid and inoperative although there was some justification for it as I have already observed. The impugned retrenchments being invalid and inoperative, the two concerned workmen shall be deemed to have continued in service.

This is my award.

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, filed by Shri P. C. Kar against his employer Messrs. Philips India Ltd., 7 Justice Chandra Madhab Road, Calcutta. (Case No. 201/60, under section 33A.)

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri N. B. CHAUDHURI, Judge, Fifth Industrial Tribunal

AWARD

This is an application purported to be under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. The case of the applicant-complainant Shri P. C. Kar, 63A Middle Road, Calcutta-14, is that he has been wrongly dismissed by his employer, the opposite party Company, Messrs. Philips India Ltd., 7 Justice Chandra Madhab Road, Calcutta, during the pendency of a proceeding before this Tribunal in respect of an industrial dispute between the opposite party Company and their workmen (vide Government order No. 1333-I.R., dated the 28th March 1963), without previous approval of this Tribunal, and thus in contravention of section 33 of the Act.

The Company challenges the maintainability of this complaint, and alleges that the applicant was rightly dismissed for sufficient grounds in accordance with law.

The fact is that the Company also has actually filed a petition under section 33 of the Act for approval of the said punishment, and it has not yet been disposed of. That application has since been transferred to the file of the Second Labour Court for favour of disposal. Admittedly, there was no question of previous permission under section 33(1) of the Act. There cannot be a question of obtaining previous approval under section 33(2)(b) of the Act in the present case. So, it is a moot point whether this complaint is at all maintainable under section 33A of the Act. At this stage, the workman files a petition praying for leave to withdraw the complaint itself. I think, in view of the circumstances already discussed, there are sufficient grounds for allowing such withdrawal.

Hence, ordered that the application for withdrawal of the complaint be allowed, and the case is disposed of accordingly.

This is my award.

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Banaras Mistanna Bhandar, G. T. Road, Asansol, and their workmen represented by Asansol Subdivisional Shramajivi Union, Basting Bazar, Asansol. (Government Order No. 7167-I.R., dated 26th December 1962.) (Case No. VIII-217/62.)

BEFORE THE FOURTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL

Present:

Shri R. BHATTACHARYA, Judge,
Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Shri Sadhan Prosad Dutta.

For the Company: Shri Balai Chatterjee, Labour Adviser of the Company.

This industrial dispute has been referred to this Tribunal for adjudication by the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 7167-I.R./IR/11L-415/62, dated the 26th December 1962. The dispute lies between Messrs. Banaras Mistanna Bhander (hereinafter called the Mistanna Bhandar), G. T. Road, Asansol, and their workmen represented by Asansol Subdivisional Shramajivi Union (hereinafter described as the Union), Basting Bazar, Asansol. The issue for decision is "whether the discharge of Shri Ramjivan Ram is justified? What relief, if any, is he entitled to?"

In short, the case of the workmen is that Ramjivan Ram, a sweetmeat maker, was an employee of the Mistanna Bhandar. He was a faithful and loyal worker. He was served with a notice, dated 17th November 1961, dismissing him from service with effect from 18th December 1961. The notice contained some frivolous and false accusations. No charge-sheet was given to Shri Ram, and no enquiry was held. Shri Ram was not given any opportunity to reply to the accusations. The proprietor of Mistanna Bhandar was not well disposed towards Shri Ram as the latter took part in Trade Union activities. The order of dismissal was vindictive and unjustified, and an instance of an unfair labour practice. In the written statement of the workmen it was prayed that Shri Ram might be reinstated and that full wages might be paid along with compensation.

The Mistanna Bhandar in the written statement states that the allegations made in the written statement of the Union are not admitted, that the workmen in question had full opportunity of explaining the serious charges against him regarding misconduct, neglect of duties, etc., detrimental to the interest of the shop, and that the workman having deliberately and wilfully failed to discharge his duties and responsibilities honestly and sincerely, his services were lawfully terminated. In fact, Shri Ram was dismissed for misconduct.

In this case, three witnesses have been examined on the side of the Union. The Mistanna Bhandar has not adduced any evidence on its side. Several documents have been exhibited on the side of the Union. Exhibit 2 shows that 10 workmen of the Mistanna Bhandar requested the Union to take up the cause of Shri Ram against the Mistanna Bhandar. This is in the form of a petition. P.W. 3, a workman of Mistanna Bhandar, has supported that such petition was placed before the Union. P.W. 2, Shri Ram, has stated that 10 or 12 workmen worked in the Mistanna Bhandar. It has been proved that almost all the workmen of the Mistanna Bhandar requested the Union to take up the case of Shri Ram and as such the Union has come on the scene. This is no doubt a case of industrial dispute and, in fact, there is no objection from the side of the employer on this point. P.W. 1, Shri Sen, the Vice-President of the Union, has stated that Shri Ram was a member of the Union at the relevant time, and this has been supported by a Register of Members showing that Shri Ram was a member of the Union in 1960-61. The dismissal took place in December 1961. The Register of Members, Ext. 5, shows that it contains the names of the members up to March 1961. P.W. 1 has stated that the Register for the subsequent period has been sent for audit, and it is not available as the audit work has not yet been completed. However, I am satisfied that Shri Ram was a member of the Union, and was a bona fide member. The Union is entitled to raise this dispute on behalf of the workmen of the Mistanna Bhandar.

The main question that arises for consideration is whether or not Shri Ram has been improperly dismised from service. The clear point, as submitted before me during the argument on behalf of the Mistanna Bhandar is that Shri Ram was dismissed from service for his misconduct, and the order of dismissal was by way of penalty. The contention raised from the side of the Mistanna Bhandar is that Shri Ram's conduct was highly detrimental to the interest of the shop and, in fact, it amounted to misconduct. Admittedly, there was no charge-sheet framed against Shri Ram. No enquiry was held to ascertain the guilt of Shri Ram. Exhibit 1 is the notice of dismissal. It simply says that the services of Shri Ram would be terminated with effect from 18th December 1961. On account of the conduct of Shri Ram the customers and the co-workers of the shop felt inconvenience and get embarassed resulting in the loss of the business. There is no indication in the notice as to the exact nature of the behaviour of Shri Ram for which there was any trouble, as alleged. P.W. 2, Shri Ram, has stated that his duty was to prepare sweets and that he did not supply any article to the customers. He has denied the allegations that he improperly behaved with any customer or any co-worker. P.W. 3 was a co-worker. He was not cross-examined by the Mistanna Bhandar as to whether or not any workman of the shop got annoyed with the behaviour of Shri Ram. Rather, the workmen of the shop requested the Union by a petition, Ext. 2, to take up the cause of Shri Ram against the authority of the shop. No evidence has been adduced from the side of the Mistanna Bhandar to indicate even that Shri Ram's conduct was improper with any customer or workman. The proprietor or anybody on the side of the Mistanna Bhandar has not dared appear in the witness-box to support the case of the Mistanna Bhandar. The evidence further shows that P.W. 2 Shri Ram was a permanent worker in the shop. I am satisfied from the evidence and the circumstances that Shri Ram never misbehaved with any customer or workmen working with him. I find no iota of evidence regarding his misconduct. On the other hand, P.W. 2, Shri Ram, has stated that he used to do work for the Union outside the shop. It is no wonder that for the activity of Shri Ram in support of the Union, the proprietor of the Mistanna Bhandar got annoyed with him, and in order to get rid of him, the notice, Ext. 1, was given making frivolous and baseless allegations. I am convinced that the conduct of Mistanna Bhandar in dismissing Shri Ram was mala fide, and without any justification whatsoever. The termination of Shri Ram's service amounted to dismissal, and the way in which Shri Ram has been dismissed shows that it was a case of vindictive dismissal and unfair labour practice. It is strange that Shri Ram was not given any chance to defend himself against the allegations made. However, as I have found, this is a case of mala fide, improper and unjustified dismissal, and Shri Ram must get some reliefs.

The last question that requires consideration relates to the question of nature of relief to be granted to Shri Ram. He has stated in clear words that he does not like reinstatement to which he is entitled. I am not surprised at the statement made during the evidence. It is quite natural for him to apprehend that after this case he will be treated by the authority with vindictive attitude. This apprehension is not unreasonable in the circumstances of the case. The workman wants some compensation for wrongful dismissal. I hold that he should get some. From his evidence it appears that he has been working in the Eastern Railways from Baisakh last year, that is to say, he got employment there in March or April, 1962. Admittedly, he worked up to 17th December 1961. There is no claim for arrears in wages for the period before the date of dismissal. Shri Ram was getting Rs. 60 per month from the Mistanna Bhandar. He remained unemployed after the dismisal for about three months. However, in the circumstances of this case, I allow a lump sum of Rs. 100 as compensation to Shri Ram for the wrongful dismissal. In view of the mala fide order of dismissal and the way in which Shri Ram has been treated by the management, I further direct that the Mistanna Bhandar shall pay a sum of Rs. 30 to the workman concerned as cost of this proceeding. Both the amounts must be paid by the Mistanna Bhandar within a month from the date of publication of this award in the "Calcutta Gazette".

ANNEXURE

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act of 1947 by Shrimati Geeta Roy and three others, employees of Messrs. I. R. P. (Radio) (Private) Ltd., 17-V Garcha 2nd Lane, Calcutta-19, [Address: c/o. I. R. P. (Radio) (Private), Ltd. Employees' Union, 2/B Ramani Chatterjee Road,

Present:

Shri R. BHATTACHARYA, Judge,
Fourth Industrial Tribunal.

For the Union: Shri P. P. Pathak.

For the Company: Shri N. Chakraborty, Advocate, and Shri C. Ganguly, Advocate.

This proceeding arises out of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, filed by Shrimati Geeta Roy, Shrimati Basanti Guha, Shrimati Sovarani Debi and Shrimati Maya Das in connection with the original industrial dispute referred to this Tribunal under Government Order No. 7639-I.R./IR/11L-324(A)/4, dated 21st November 1961. The opposite party is Messrs. I. R. P. (Radio) (Private) Ltd.

After due service of notices to the parties, a written statement has been filed on behalf of the Company, the employer. In short, the case of the petitioners is that their services were illegally terminated violating section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The termination of service was illegal, mala fide and against the principles of natural justice. The Company has stated that there had been no contravention of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, that the petitioners were retrenched, and that the Company's actions were quite bona fide and legal.

The case was taken up for hearing on 11th May 1963. At the very outset I asked the parties whether there was any chance of compromise or amicable settlement of the case. Shri Chakraborty, the learned advocate appearing on behalf of the Company, gave out that the opposite party had sympathy for the petitioners and that the Company was willing to give new appointments to the petitoiners at its new factory at Rajpur. Shri Pathak, on behalf of the petitioners, at first stated that the offer of the Company was not acceptable. Thereafter some evidence was gone into but ultimately the parties filed a compromise petition praying that a "no dispute" award might be passed in view of the amicable settlement between the parties. I have considered the petition of compromise, and I find that it is reasonable, fair and legal. In a dispute between the employer and the employees, it is desirable, I believe, that the matter may be settled up between the parties amicably in order to maintain harmony and good feelings. I am happy in this case that the dispute before me has been amicably settled. The compromise petition is made annexure to this award, and in the circumstances of the case, as prayed for by both the parties, I pass a 'no dispute' award.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri N. K. Guha, Secretary, Bejaynagar Tea Co. Ltd.

For the Union: Shri Anil Das Chowdhuri, Vice-President of the Union.

The Government of West Bengal by its Labour Depratment order No. 4164-I.R. / IR / 9L-51/59, dated 13th September 1962, referred to this Tribunal an industrial dispute between Messrs. Subhasini Tea Estate of Bejaynagar Tea Co. Ltd., P.O. Hasimara, Jalpaiguri (hereinafter referred to as the Company), and their workmen represented by Dooars Cha Bagan Workers' Union, Kalchini, Jalpaiguri (hereinafter referred to as the Union), for adjudication under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

The only issue referred to this Tribunal for adjudication in this case runs as follows:

Is the dismissal of the following employees justified? What relief, if any, are they entitled to?

1. Shri Budhu Gasai.
2. Shri Chandravan Singh.
   Both of Sri Bhairam Sardar.
3. Shrimati Mano of Nirmal Sardar.
4. Shrimati Bhukli of Banarash Sardar.

AWARD

This industrial dispute was originally referred to the local Third Industrial Tribunal in 1960 and both the parties entered appearance before that Tribunal, filed their respective written statements and eventually the case was ready for hearing also. At that stage, the Union prayed that the case should be heard at Alipurduar for it would be difficult and too expensive for the Union to bring witnesses to Calcutta for hearing. The Third Tribunal was presumably not in a position then to go to Alipurduar, and the Government transferred the dispute to this Tribunal for disposal in the last part of 1962 (vide G.O. No. 4164-I.R./IR/9L-51/59, dated 13th September 1962). I also could not go to Alipurduar promptly on account of war situation in the northern frontier. The case was at last fixed for hearing at Alipurduar on 13th May 1963. Subsequently, the Company pleaded its difficulty in conducting the case at Alipurduar and prayed for hearing at Calcutta. The Union, however, could not agree to the Company's prayer and I had to reject the prayer of the Company for obvious reasons. On 3rd May 1963 the Union again filed a petition stating that the case should be heard at Calcutta on the date already fixed and not at Alipurduar. This prayer was eventually allowed. On 13th May 1963, however, the parties filed a joint petition of compromise settling their dispute out of Court. I have carefully gone through the petition of compromise, and think that the terms are fair and reasonable. So, it is directed that the petition of compromise be recorded and an award be passed in terms thereof. The compromise petition will form part of the award as Annexure "A".

This is my award.

3. If any measure which the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Provided that where the conditions, which led the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the person in possession of the property, the municipality may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The municipality may recover all expenses incurred by the Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector in carrying out the measure under regulation 3 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

5. The municipality shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Rural Credit Survey Committee of the Reserve Bank of India recommended, inter alia, the promotion of planned development of co-operative processing and marketing of agricultural commodities and of facilities for storage and warehousing, as an essential part of the programme for development of rural credit on a co-operative basis. Pursuant to this recommendation the Government of India enacted the Agricultural Produce (Development and Warehousing) Corporation Act, 1956 under which the National Co-operative Development and Warehousing Board, the Central Warehousing Corporation and State Warehousing Corporations have been set up for promoting the development and warehousing of agricultural produce on co-operative principles.

2. The West Bengal State Warehousing Corporation was established in 1958, the main functions of which, as provided in the Act, are:—

(1) to acquire, build and run warehouses for the storage of agricultural produce, seeds, manures, fertilizers and agricultural implements and to arrange facilities for the transport of agricultural produce to and from warehouses; and

(2) to act as an agent of the Central Warehousing Corporation or Government for purchase, sale, storage and distribution of agricultural produce and other articles mentioned above.

There is acute shortage of adequate good storage facility for agricultural produce in the country. Although the State Warehousing Corporation have set up, as laid down in the Act, a few warehouses in rural areas and propose to establish some more during the Third Plan, the number of warehouses so far set up is small and would hardly meet the storage requirements of the whole State. The need for establishment of a net-work of suitable warehouses on scientific and modern lines is urgent.

Further the receipts for agricultural produce deposited in these warehouses are not recognised as legally negotiable and transferable instruments unless they are so made by an appropriate law. Without this legal measure, expansion of the credit facilities cannot take place.

3. As a complementary measure to the steps already taken for the development and warehousing of agricultural produce, as set out above, it is necessary to pass a legislation to provide mainly for the following three matters:—

(1) as the development of rural credit is the ultimate goal, it is necessary for the expansion of rural credit facilities that the receipts for the agricultural produce deposited in the warehouses already set up by the State Warehousing Corporation should be made legally transferable and negotiable. This will enable the depositors to obtain bank advances against such receipts;

(2) the State Warehousing Corporation cannot by their own efforts cover the entire State with warehouses within a reasonable period. It is, therefore, necessary to encourage the establishment of independent warehouses, through issue of licence on voluntary basis, where farmers can deposit their agricultural produce and obtain legally negotiable and transferable receipts; and

(3) the warehouses to be set up for storing agricultural produce should be built according to approved design and on scientific principles and so should be amenable to supervision and control.

The proposed legislation is being undertaken with the above objectives.

(5) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, a Registering Officer may, in his discretion, dispense with the taking of impressions in the case of persons of position regarding whose identity there can be no doubt or room for suspicion, even if the executant is not personally known to him, and in such cases a note to that effect shall be endorsed on the document.

(6) The provisions of this rule shall apply mutatis mutandis in the case of illiterate identifiers of executants.

Provided that the Sub-Registrar shall not record such an order if the person presenting the document or claiming under it has, before the expiration of the said period, initiated proceedings under section 36 to procure the appearance of the executant, or under section 38 for his examination; but in that case the Sub-Registrar shall report the matter to the Registrar for orders at the end of the said period.

(2) In the case of an appeal under section 72, mentioned in sub-rule (1), the Registrar shall not pass an order directing the Sub-Registrar to register the document, unless, it is shown, on the appearance of the executant before the Registrar, that his non-appearance before the Sub-Registrar, within the period prescribed by section 23, was due to urgent necessity or unavoidable accident. If the Registrar passes such an order, a fine shall be imposed as provided in the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 34.

(3) In the case referred to in the proviso to sub-rule (1)—

(a) the Registrar shall, on receipt of the Sub-Registrar's report, direct the document to be kept pending till the disposal of the proceedings initiated under section 36 or section 38 but not for a period exceeding eight months from the date of execution. (b) if the executant appears on the service of the summons under section 36 or is examined under section 38 and admits execution, his admission shall be recorded and he shall be called upon to submit an application to the Registrar for a direction under the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 34, explaining the cause of the delay in his appearance. When such an application is received, the Sub-Registrar shall forward it to the Registrar with any remarks he may wish to make and await orders;

(c) the Registrar shall consider the cause shown for the delay in appearance of the executant and may pass an order directing the Sub-Registrar to register the document on payment of a fine as prescribed by the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 34;

(d) if the Registrar is unable to accept the cause shown for the delay, he shall direct the Sub-Registrar to refuse to register the document;

Roy, permanent Chemist, West Bengal Public Health Laboratories, last employed as the Public Analyst (Food and Water) of the said Laboratories, for a further period of six months, with effect from 16th April 1963, as the Public Analyst (Food and Water) of the same institution.

By order of the Governor,
S. P KAR, Dy. Secy.

No. PH/2724/2R-25/62.—13th June 1963. — The following draft of rules, which in exercise of the power conferred by section 311 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), the Governor proposes to make and subject to which the commissioners of the Bally municipality (hereinafter referred to as the "commissioners") may allow communication pipes to be laid down from the service pipes of the commissioner, for the purposes of leading water to premises for domestic purposes only, is hereby published, as required by sub-section (1) of section 505 of the said Act, for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after 15th July 1963 and any objection or suggestion with respect thereto which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

Draft Rules

So long as the commissioners deem it practicable and consistent with the maintenance of an efficient supply of water, they may allow to any owner or occupier of a holding paying a water rate imposed under the provision of Chapter V of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (on the annual value of holdings of or over Rs. 150) a connection from the main or distribution pipe of the commissioners for the purpose of leading water to such holding for domestic purpose only, subject to the following rules and conditions:—

1. The owner or occupier of any holding requiring water to be laid on to such holding for domestic purpose, or requiring any addition or alternation to the existing water supply, shall apply for the same on printed form to be obtained on payment of 10 nP. each at the Municipal Office.

2. (a) A fee shall be paid at the rates mentioned hereunder to the commissioners by such owner or occupier for each connection from municipal main or distribution pipe, laid in accordance with rule 3 below, before any work is commenced; such fee to be in addition to all the other costs and charges imposed under rules.

Annual valuation of the holding	Amount of fees to be paid
	Rs.
From Rs. 150 to Rs. 500	100
From Rs. 501 to Rs. 1,000	150
From Rs. 1,001 to Rs. 3,000	250
From above 3,000/-	500

In the case of an application for a connection to a holding adjoining a private road, the applicant will have to bear the entire cost of providing and laying a service pipe from the nearest municipal main to the boundary of his holding. All such service pipes as are laid at the expenses of the applicant shall be vested in the commissioners from the date on which the connection to the holding is completed.

If the applicant is not willing to incur such expenditure it shall be lawful for the commissioners to refuse his application until such times as the number of applications for house connections to holdings in that road is sufficient to justify the laying of a branch main therein at the expenses of the commissioners, on which point the decision of the commissioners at a meeting shall be final.

(b) The commissioners will at their expenses lay down the distribution pipes on municipal road where main has not yet been laid down.

(c) No connection will ordinarily be permitted if the holding is in arrear in respect of Municipal Rates for more than one quarter.

3. (a) Each holding shall have its own service pipe from the main. A service pipe shall not be allowed to supply water to more than one holding unless the commissioners at a meeting permit the same. All service pipes should be laid in a street or any common passage and a stop-cock and a meter as provided for in Rule 7 shall be fixed on the connection to each holding.

(b) A holding may be allowed to have more than one connection if the commissioners at a meeting are satisfied that an adequate supply of water to such holding cannot be given through a single connection. But the sum total of the daily supply shall not exceed the quantity of water admissible to the holding under Rule 10. All such connections shall for the purpose of Rule 2 be treated as separate connection.

4. The owner or occupier of a holding in respect of which connection is required shall pay the entire cost of the connection, including supply and fixing of the fittings referred to in Rule 7 and shall also pay the cost of such alterations, in, or repairs to roads, drains, sewers, gas or water mains or pipes, along with the cost of such other works as may be necessitated by, or result from, the works of making such connection.

5. The owner or occupier of the holding to which a connection has been given shall, at any time, on receipt of the notice to do so from the commissioners pay the entire cost of any repairs or alterations to the connection or any part thereof that the commissioners may consider necessary to put it into a satisfactory condition or which may be necessitated by any change in the municipal water works or system of distribution or by the defective condition of the connection or any part thereof or by any other cause whatever.

6. (a) The works required under rules 4 and 5 may, at the option of the commissioners, either be carried out by the commissioners themselves at the expense of the owner or occupier of a holding in respect of which the works are required or may be carried out by a qualified person or firm employed by such owner or occupier and approved by the commissioners.

(b) No work shall be carried out under sub-rule (a) except under supervision of a municipal officer.

(c) The work shall be done under the supervision of a competent officer appointed by the commissioners in their behalf and no connection shall be made from the municipal main or distribution pipe except at such time as may be appointed, and in such position as may be selected by an authorised municipal officer.

7. A holding connection shall comprise the following parts or fittings:—

(a) A brass or gun-metal ferrule inserted in the main supply pipe.
(b) Galvanised iron connection pipe from the ferrule to the meter.
(c) The stop-cock and its surface box.
(d) A meter.
(e) Service pipes from the stop-cock to the taps.
(f) Taps.

8. (a) All the fittings referred to in rule 7 shall be exact duplicates of the standard samples kept in the office of the commissioners and approved by them in meetings.

(b) All fittings shall be inspected and tested and stamped by an officer of the municipality before being fixed.

(c) If any owner or occupier desires to adopt any fittings of a pattern different from the standard patterns he must present such fittings for the approval of the Chairman, and fittings so presented may, if considered satisfactory by the Chairman, be stamped and samples thereof may be purchased and placed among the standard fittings.

9. (a) Before a connection for the supply of water from the municipal main to any holding is sanctioned by the commissioners, they shall cause all the works, pipes, taps and fittings within such holdings to be inspected by a fully qualified officer.

(b) Until the commissioners have certified that the said work, taps and fittings have been executed in a satisfactory manner and capable of standing a pressure of 100 feet, no connection with the municipal main shall be made.

10. The sizes of the ferrules and the diameter of the service pipe referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 7 and the number of taps shall be fixed in accordance with the annual valuation of the holding as follows:—

Annual valuation of holdings.		Size of ferrule (inch).	Dia. of communication pipe (inch).	Number of taps.
From Rs.	To Rs.
150	200	1/4	1/2	2
201	300	3/8	1/2	3
301	400	3/8	1/2	4
401	500	1/2	3/4	5
501	1,000	1/2	3/4	6
1,001	3,000	5/8	7/8	7
3,001/ and above Special sanction of the commissioners.

Every tap shall be of the same size as the pipe to which it is attached and shall be of brass and of the pattern known as "Screw down".

Every tap shall be at least three feet above the surface of the ground beneath.

11. (a) On every communication pipe a brass or gun-metal stop-cock having the same water way as such pipe shall be placed in some position outside the holding which is accessible at all hours from the nearest street.

(b) The stop-cock shall be built in a brick chamber provided with a cast-iron surface cover box so designed that it can be locked and the key of this box shall remain under the control of the Chairman.

(c) The stop-cock shall be capable of adjustment so that the supply to the holding may be regulated thereby.

12. (a) The meter shall be placed as near to the stop-cock as possible and in a position where it can be conveniently examined.

(b) The meter must be fixed in a brick chamber covered over with a cast-iron surface box of approved pattern.

13. The commissioners shall depute an authorised person to read every meter not less than once a quarter.

14. In the event of a meter ceasing to register the quantity of water consumed during the period the meter had stopped to register shall be calculated on the basis of the average consumption of water of the holding for the last four quarters.

15. (i) Every owner or occupier of any holding in respect of which a connection has been made under these rules, shall be entitled to a supply of:-

(a) Two thousand gallons of water per quarter for each rupee, and

(b) a further proportionate number of gallons per quarter for every additional fraction of a rupee paid by him quarterly as water tax in respect of such holding.

(ii) For all water in excess of the quantity allowed under sub-rule (i), such owner or occupier shall be charged quarterly on the following rules:

(a) For any excess quantity of water not exceeding one-half of the quantity allowed under sub-rule (i), at the rate of 62 nP. per 100 gallons.

(b) For any excess quantity of water exceeding one-half of the quantity allowed under sub-rule (1), but not exceeding that quantity at the rate of 87 nP. per 100 gallons.

(iii) For any further excess quantity of water exceeding the quantity allowed under sub-rule (1) but not exceeding twice the quantity at the rate of Rs. 1.25 per thousand gallons.

(iv) For any further excess quantity of water exceeding twice the quantity allowed under sub-rule (1), at the rate of Rs. 1.50 per 1,000 gallons.

16. The commissioners may on being satisfied, cut off the connection between any water works of the municipality and any holding to which water is supplied from such works, or may turn off such supply, in any of the following cases, namely:—

(a) if the holding is unoccupied;

(b) if the owner or occupier wilfully obstruct any officer duly empowered in that behalf to enter into the holding for the purpose of making any examination or inspection authorised under this rule or prevents such officer from making such examination or inspection during working hours and fails to give satisfactory explanation;

(c) if the owner or occupier of the holding touches or interferes with his meter in any way except with the permission of the Chairman, or wilfully or negligently injures or damages it;

(d) if the owner or occupier of the holding wilfully or negligently permits waste of water in such volume as will, in the opinion of the Chairman, materially affect the water supply in the neighbourhood;

(e) if the owner or occupier of the holding refuses or neglects to pay the rates, fees or charges in respect of the said holding imposed in accordance with the Municipal Act within a period of thirty days after he has been served with a notice of demand for the same;

(f) if the owner or occupier of the holding constructs or fixes any cisterns, tanks, reservoirs, taps or any other works in connection with water supply not authorised by these rules;

(g) if the pipes, taps, ball-cocks, cisterns or any other parts of any existing private service pipe connected with the municipal water-supply are in the opinion of the commissioners in a leaking condition or in a state of disrepair:

Provided that such disconnection or turning off water supply shall not relieve any person of any liabilities which he may have incurred under these rules.

In the circumstances contemplated in clause (c) an officer authorised by the commissioner in this behalf by a general order shall have the power to turn off the supply for a period not exceeding eight hours of his previously recording his reason in writing.

17. No owner or occupier of a holding shall be permitted to use any cistern, tanks or reservoirs of any description to be filled up with water supply from the municipal main except with the sanction of the commissioners in a meeting and such sanction shall distinctly specify the dimension and capacity of the cistern, tank or reservoir allowed. The inlet to every such cistern, tank or reservoir shall be controlled by an efficient ball-cock so that the discharge thereinto is completely stopped when the cistern, tank or reservoir is full. The ball-cock will count as one tap for the purpose of rule 10.

18. No connection shall be permitted to any holding unless and until the owner or occupier makes effective provision to the satisfaction of the commissioners for draining all waste water away.

19. The commissioners will not be responsible for any interruption or diminution of water supply due to occurrence beyond their control.
